ROSS WIDOW FACES KIDNAPER

TVA SCANDALS WILL BE AIRED BY CONGRESS

Roosevelt Foiled in Plan to Hush Row.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—A congressional investigation of the scandals enveloping the Tennessee Valley Authority appeared to be inevitable today. Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.], legislative father of the TVA, abandoned his proposal for a federal trade commission inquiry.

Norris had been accused of seeking a whitewash of the TVA when he introduced his resolution for a federal trade commission inquiry. Today he introduced his own resolution for a senate investigation, apparently for the purpose of heading off the resolution already introduced by Senators H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] and William H. King [D., Utah].

Jocky for Chairmanship.

The author of a resolution customarily becomes chairman of the investigating committee, and Norris' strategy was to prevent either Senator Bridges or Senator King from obtaining this advantage. He denied that he wanted to be chairman, but he frankly admitted that he did not want Senator Bridges or Senator King on the committee.

Senators King and Bridges conferred tonight with Representative Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, and Representative Bertrand H Snell of New York, Republican leader of the house, and it is understood that they agreed upon a resolution calling for a joint congressional investigation. Both Snell and May, whose committee handled TVA legislation in the house, had introduced resolutions calling for house investigation.

Directed Against Dr. Morgan.

In view of the overwhelming demands for a TVA investigation in both the senate and the house it is believed that the proposed joint resolution will have a better chance of passage than the Norris proposal.

Norris' resolution on its face was directed against Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the TVA, and the private utilities, whom he accused of obstructing the administration of the act by bringing injunction suits and in various other ways.

Senators King and Bridges expressed gratification over Norris' acceptance of the principle of a senate investigation, as opposed to a federal trade commission inquiry, but they refused to accept his resolution without incorporating the 23 charges made against the TVA when they introduced their own. Norris refused to accept these charges, and there the matter rested.

Garner in Key Position.

When and if Norris seeks action on his resolution, Senators Bridges and King will offer their 23 charges in the nature of an amendment. Both preambles probably will be eliminated in keeping with the usual senate practice, and the nature of an investigation that may be authorized will depend upon the personnel of the committee appointed by Vice President John N. Garner.

Indications are that no action will be taken until after next Friday, when President Roosevelt's personal TVA hearing is scheduled to be resumed. At last Friday's White House hearing Dr. Morgan assumed the rôle of an observer, not a participant, declaring that Mr. Roosevelt's so called fact finding inquiry could serve no useful purpose.

The other directors, David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt A. Morgan, put various data into what President Roosevelt called the record and all three of the directors are to be given an opportunity to make further statements, orally or written, next Friday.

Immediate Action Blocked.

Norris tried to get unanimous consent for immediate consideration of his resolution today, but was blocked by Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader. Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, also opposed immediate consideration, indicating later that he thought the matter should be deferred until the President concludes his White House inquiry. Barkley also indicated that he would favor a joint congressional investigation rather than a senate inquiry. He pointed out that various resolutions are pending in the house and said it would be most regrettable if

SEADLUND CALM AS U.S. DEMANDS DEATH PENALTY

Shackled to Guards Before Jury.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Two women, with quiet, emotion strained voices, testified yesterday about Charles S. Ross' last day of freedom as the trial of his kidnaper opened in the courtroom of Federal Judge John P. Barnes. They are Mrs. Mae C. Ross, widowed by the heartless crime of her husband's kidnaper, and Miss Florence Freihage, the good friend who was with Ross when he was seized.

Their testimony, and the introduction of the verbatim text of five notes that demanded ransom for Ross, served as the groundwork for the case that the government is building in its demand that the kidnaper, John Henry Seadlund, go to the electric chair. He has already pleaded guilty, but the death penalty can be inflicted only at the direction of the jury that was chosen to hear the evidence in the case.

Shackled to two deputy marshals, Seadlund, a Minnesota woodsman, maintained a stolid demeanor through the day. His expression did not change, even when Miss Freihage stepped from the stand and dramatically pointed him out as the man who had kidnaped Ross.

Igoe Conducts Prosecution.

Mrs. Ross was questioned by District Attorney Michael L. Igoe, who is conducting the prosecution with the aid of Assistant District Attorney Martin Ward. After asking the usual questions about her name, address [2912 Commonwealth avenue], and relationship with Ross, he said:

"When did you last see your husband alive?"

"On Sept. 25, 1937," Mrs. Ross replied.

"Was he in good health then?"

"He was."

"How were his spirits?"

"He was in good spirits," Mrs. Ross said. "He bade me a cheerful farewell in the morning."

"Did you ever see him alive after that?"

"No," said the witness.

Identifies Ransom Notes.

At this point Mrs. Ross' voice, which had been under control, broke for a moment. Then she recovered. Igoe then introduced into evidence an envelope and two letters, which she identified as ransom notes received on Sept. 30 and Oct. 2. These, she said, were in the handwriting of Ross.

"How were they received?" the prosecutor asked.

"They came through Harvey S. Brackett, a good friend of ours for many years," Mrs. Ross replied.

She then testified that these notes, which contained the original demands of Seadlund for ransom [he later collected $50,000] were turned over to Earl J. Connelley of the federal bureau of investigation, who conducted the search that resulted in the kidnaper's capture. [Ross was held captive by Searlund and his confederate, James Atwood Troy, in a dugout in the woods near Emily, Minn.].

Mrs. Ross' ordeal ended after she had identified four pictures of her husband. The defense attorneys, Floyd E. Thompson and Frederic Burnham Jr., who were appointed by the court to aid Seadlund, waived cross-examination. Mrs. Ross left the room immediately. She had been in court only a few minutes.

Sums up Government Case.

Just before her appearance Prosecutor Igoe had summed up the case which the government, with a total of 103 witnesses to draw from, expects to prove against Seadlund.

Miss Freihage, like Mrs. Ross, was clad in black, but her attire was modish. She told of riding to Sycamore with Ross on the afternoon of last Sept. 25. They had dinner there and were returning to Chicago when, in Wolf road near North avenue, they were forced to a halt by an automobile in which two men rode. One of the men, she said, got out, approached Ross, and said "I'll shoot you." He then forced Ross to go over to his car.

"Is that man in court now?" asked the prosecutor.

Miss Freihage stepped toward Seadlund.

"That is the man there," she declared.

"Do you know his name?"

"John Henry Seadlund," said Miss Freihage without wavering.

Parole Board Defies Law in Secret Hearing

Members of the Illinois parole board met in secret session yesterday at Springfield to decide on liberty or further imprisonment for 442 convicts. A newspaper reporter, who sought to see and hear what considerations moved the seven politically appointed members of the board in their decisions was not permitted to enter the meeting room.

The representative of the public was barred by the board, despite an amendment to the state law which was his ticket of admission. This amendment, passed at the last session of the legislature, reads as follows:

"All sessions of the parole board shall be open to the public and said board shall keep a public record of all persons appearing for or against any application for parole."

It was understood that the amendment was passed by the state senators and representatives to cover just such hearings as that of yesterday.

Chairman Defends Practice.

However, the parole board's chairman, W. C. Jones, a lawyer of Streator, said the board did not so interpret the law. He said the board had a right to hold executive [secret] sessions, notwithstanding the law, because the members consider themselves to be like jurors, who are permitted to deliberate on their verdicts in secrecy.

Jones defended his views in his office in the Armory building at Springfield. The other members of the board, John Landesco of Urbana, Delmar D. Darrah of Bloomington, Guy E. McGaughey of Lawrenceville, Walter I. Manny of Mount Sterling, and Michael J. Howlett and Max Drezmal of Chicago, were, presumably, in session elsewhere in the building.

Jones had a stenographer taking down the conversation between himself and the reporter. When asked later for a transcript of the conversation, Mr. Jones said it would not be available till today.

Admits Knowing the Law.

"Do you know the wording of the law passed last June?" Jones was asked.

"Yes, I am familiar with it," he answered. "Under the term 'public,' a gangster associate of a convict could be present when we were passing on the convict's application for a parole. If we let you in we'd have to let the gangster associate in, too. If you were in my place, what would you do?"

"I'd follow the law," the reporter told him.

POLITICAL FORECAST: KENT CHANDLER TO BE LAKE FOREST MAYOR

If he can get out the vote—one is all it will take—Mayor Kent Chandler has an excellent chance of being swept into office in Lake Forest again April 12. And if no one remembers to vote, he'll still be mayor, for the deadline was passed yesterday with no ticket in the field against Mayor Chandler's Lake Forest party slate.

Not since 1924 has there been a contest in a Lake Forest mayoral election. But don't think the political pot doesn't boil and bubble. Why, this year Ald. Richard H. Mabbatt said he was too busy to serve a fourth term and Wesley M. Dixon, president of the Container Corporation of America, was persuaded to run. The party, having no opposition, has no platform—and the offices have no pay.

BUSINESS MAN, 11, LEARNS LIFE HAS COMPENSATIONS

This will explain to Joseph Bonino's customers why he isn't making his business calls today: Hoodlums staggered from a saloon near Madison street and Campbell avenue last night, took his shoe shining kit, and drove off. Until he gets another he won't be around.

Nothing can take the place of the kit, of course. But it's a satisfaction to a boy of 11 to be able to assure his customers the police escorted him home to 2652 Van Buren street in a squad car after he made his report at the Warren avenue station.

Security Board Asks Seven Million More for Pay Roll

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The social security board asked the budget director today to approve a $7,000,000 deficiency appropriation for administration of unemployment insurance during April, May and June. The board said that when it estimated administrative costs in August, 1936, it had no indication that the amount needed would be increased by a business recession.

Blue Island residents pinched themselves yesterday. Stony creek, just west of their town, seemed to be burning up. It wasn't, of course. Crude oil, believed to have come from a refinery, was floating on the surface and had caught fire.

Foot of Snow in Utah; Heaviest in 22 Years

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 14.—(AP)—The heaviest snowstorm in 22 years blanketed northern Utah with a foot of snow today, disrupting transportation and communication.

Jews of Vienna Flee as Nazis Plunder Shops

VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—Jews in Vienna felt the sharp sting of Nazi wrath today and heard the worst was yet to come.

Thousands fled the city on advice of leaders who felt the day's series of plunderings, beatings, arrests and dispossessions were only a forerunner of more drastic persecution.

Jews tried to hide themselves in their homes, but frequently heard the relentless tramp of Nazi Storm Troopers' boots on the stairs and the knocks of rifle butts on their doors.

Youths Seize Stocks in Shops.

That meant one of two things: Arrest or a summons to open their stores to Nazis in need of shoes, clothing and food.

Jewish shopkeepers in "Judengasse," [Jews' alley], in downtown Vienna, were roused from their beds and taken to their stores where armed youths wearing swastikas seized their stocks.

Dr. Heinrich Neumann, noted throat specialist who twice treated the duke of Windsor when the duke was King Edward VIII. of England, was arrested.

He was seized because he was one of 20 or 30 wealthy Jews who gave large sums—under compulsion from Guido Zernatto, secretary of the now abolished Fatherland Front party—to an advertising fund for Kurt Schuschnigg's plebiscite which did not come to pass.

Take Congregation's Money.

Two youths with weapons entered the office of a Jewish congregation, searched the rooms and forced the director to turn over all the congregation's available money. They took 30,000 schillings [about $6,000].

The number of stores plundered became almost a routine list of the names of Jewish owned stores in town. Vienna's leading sports store, Jewish owned, was stripped of its stock.

Many Jewish coffee houses were closed or turned over to Aryan managers. Owners who failed to hear in time that they were forbidden to display Nazi flags arrived and found Storm Troopers had closed their establishments.

4 Brothers Arrested.

The four Schiffmann brothers, owners of a large department store, were arrested on charges of "attempts to smuggle money out of the country."

Desider Friedmann, leader of the Jewish cultural community, asked Chancellor Arthur Seyss-Inquart for an audience to present a plea for protection of Jews.

HITLER GETS CONQUEROR'S WELCOME; ENTERS VIENNA

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 14.—While Pan-Germany today celebrated the "union of 75,000,000 Germans," clouds began gathering over Czechoslovakia.

Konrad Henlein.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Konrad Henlein, Austrian-born leader of Nazis in the German section of Czechoslovakia—"Sudeten Deutsche"—informed Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop last night that the Czechs had offered him a post in the cabinet.

Von Ribbentrop instructed Henlein to refuse the offer because "Henlein's situation is similar to that of Hitler in 1932 when President von Hindenberg offered him a post in the cabinet. Hitler rejected it, since he felt he was entitled to a greater share of power."

Use Same Tactics in Austria.

Von Ribbentrop's orders to the Nazi leader show that though the Nazis in conversations with the Czechs, British, and French gave assurances that they only wanted to "safeguard the interests of a German minority," they are using tactics similar to those adopted in Austria to win the upperhand in Czechoslovakia.

The German people, who are becoming amateur tacticians, are studying new maps of Pan-Germany. They point out that Czechoslovakia is in a dangerous position.

"Motorized units starting simultaneously from Vienna and Breslau could meet in the heart of Czechoslovakia in a few hours and cut off the major portion of the country, including the territory inhabited by the German minority," they emphasize.

Propaganda officials assert such conversations in public should not be taken seriously because Germany does not plan to attack Czechoslovakia.

PRAGUE, March 14.—Ferdinand Marek, Austrian minister to Prague since 1918, today left on an indefinite leave from which it is understood he will not return. The legation building is now flying the swastika emblem.

Guards on the Czechoslovakian border were greatly strengthened today and not even residents of Czechoslovakia who are Austrian citizens were allowed to return.

HITLER IN VIENNA!
A dramatic photo of Reichsfuehrer Hitler receiving the cheers of crowds in Vienna yesterday appears on the back page of The Tribune this morning. It was sent to London by wire, to New York by radio, and then to Chicago by Associated Press wirephoto.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, March 14.—Fulfilling what he called a lifelong dream, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler returned today as German conqueror to the city which he left twenty-five years ago as a starving house painter.

Church bells pealed throughout the city to celebrate the dictator's triumphal entry on orders of Cardinal Theodor Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna.

It was announced shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon that the Fuehrer, who was pursuing his triumphal journey from Linz, had entered the city limits and was passing the palace of Schoenbrunn where Marie Antoinette played as a child and Napoleon could not resist stopping for a night to sleep in the bed of genuine royalty.

Stands in Open Auto.

Hitler did not stop, however, scorning the dim glories of the Hapsburgs, which are not wholly German glories. Standing in the front seat of his open automobile, wearing a brown garrison cap and overcoat, Hitler passed half an hour later in front of the opera house, doubtless remembering the old days when he had to go without food for half a week to sit in the gallery to hear Wagner's music.

Eleven camouflaged armored cars, symbols of the armed might which has waged a campaign as great as Napoleon's without ever fighting a formal battle, preceded the Fuehrer's car. A fleet of some fifty open cars containing high officials of the Nazi party, the army, and the police cruised in their wake, while a group of new bombing planes, the kind used in Spain, roared overhead.

Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Nazi minister of the interior who assumed command of the Austrian government when Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg stepped down, sat in the back seat of Hitler's car. He was dressed in civilian clothes.

Troops Hold Back Crowds.

Held back by a thin line of helmeted German soldiers and uniformed police brought in from Germany, the crowd that might have numbered 200,000 roared enthusiastically at sight of their conqueror in whose hands rests their future.

A few minutes later Hitler appeared on the balcony, his face the ceremonial mask of a grave but smiling conqueror, and returned the frantic salutes of the crowd packed below.

He went inside and the Viennese kept on shouting. He came out again and they shouted some more.

Women Faint in Crush.

They broke the police lines and in a few minutes the whole boulevard was filled with a compact mass of cheering men and women. The crowd extended from the hotel almost to the opera house 300 yards away.

The Fuehrer appeared several more times on the swastika draped balcony while searchlights played on him in the dusk.

It was not enough. The crowd wanted a speech.

For the seventh time Hitler appeared and gave them their speech, short and impromptu. It was one of the few such speeches of his political career.

Hitler Defies World.

"What you are feeling, I have felt profoundly," he said. "A great historical change is being vouchsafed to our people. What we are experiencing the other great German people have also experienced, not only 2,000,000 of this city but 75,000,000 of our people in one reich.

"I am moved and overwhelmed by this great historical change as are all of you who live in this same faith. Whatever may come no one on earth is ever going to shatter the German reich as it is. No menace, no necessity, and no force can break this oath. It is sworn today by Germans from Königsberg to Cologne and from Hamburg to Vienna."

The ring in Hitler's voice was like the steel of the greatest war machine in Europe and the swing of his sentences like the feet of marching millions. Government officials listening in on Austrian broadcasts from a chain of foreign capitals around what is now German's Balkan frontier must have felt cold shivers running down their spines—especially listeners in Czechoslovakia, which is an hour's run from Vienna for the formidable motorized forces now concentrated here.

No one in this new frontier garrison in the heart of Europe who heard Hitler's words could have any doubt that the hand of destiny, which brought him back to Vienna as master of an empire of 75,000,000 soldier citizens, will leave him stranded here. The same momentum, or less, carried Napoleon to Moscow—and Waterloo.

Makes Victory Speech Today.

The Fuehrer will make his real victory speech tomorrow at 11 a. m. [4 a. m. central standard time]—tonight's was only a sample. History has retired for the night. Victory celebrations were closed at 7:30 o'clock with the singing of Deutschland Uber Alles, and the Horst Wessel [Nazi anthem] flowing from thousands of lusty German throats. One minute later the radio announced that Hitler wished to rest and the crowd was told to cease making noise and go home.

Vienna, lowered to its new status as a German provincial city, presented a colorful picture, full of contrast today. There were demonstrations of wild enthusiasm by thousands. There were thousands of others whose apathy in the face of the historic drama seemed almost incredible, and there were others to whom the day was just an added reason to cower in their homes.

Uniformed police imported from Bavaria and Prussia virtually took over organization of the ceremonies and the Austrian police were shoved into the background.

Crowd Gets Out of Hand.

The German police together with German troops had a hard job of keeping trafic running properly and getting the crowds lined up in the right places and keeping them away from the wrong places. They were gentle and good natured, but very firm and deadly efficient. Only at the end, when the enthusiasm was too great, did the crowd get out of hand.

All day long the radio issued orders, instructions, and decrees. Most of the shops were ordered to close at noon. Food shops were instructed to remain open until 4 o'clock, tobacco shops all day.

Naturally good Germans had been instructed to hoist the swastika over their homes. Authorities took care of decorating public buildings and lining the route along which Hitler was to drive with long trailing swastika banners. Many Austrian flags are still in evidence, however, either because houses where they float are Jewish or because Vienna has run short of swastikas for the moment.

Told Not to Toss Flowers.

During the afternoon the radio repeatedly warned crowds not to throw flowers at the Fuehrer—a great local custom.

On the whole, police precautions for Hitler were less extensive than might be expected. Householders along the line of the march were not obliged to close their windows and Hitler, standing up in the front seat of his car, was much more exposed than heads of governments visiting foreign capitals usually are.

BRITAIN ASKS FOR 1,000,000 MEN AS AIR RAID DEFENSE

LONDON, March 14.—(AP)—Sir Samuel Hoare, the home secretary, tonight called for a million volunteer air raid precaution workers as part of Britain's answer to the threat of military pan-Germanism in central Europe.

The call was the first step in a new national effort to prevent any knockout blow to Britain from the air.

Sir Samuel, broadcasting to the nation, addressed the appeal largely to "men over 30."

Under the elaborate air raid precautions, the volunteer workers would be trained in instructing the public on protection for attacks, and would take part in street patrols, man ambulances, do rescue and repair work, and fight fire in time of an emergency.

Austria Includes Dollfuss Postage Stamps in Purge

VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—Austria tonight included even postage stamps in the purge of pre-Nazi memories. Notices were placed in all postoffices that stamps bearing portraits of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss were invalid, effective immediately. Until March 31 the Dollfuss stamps can be exchanged for others of equal value, however. Dollfuss was slain in an abortive Nazi putsch July 25, 1934.

SALZBURG, March 14.—(AP)—Historic Salzburg on the Austrian side of what once was the Austro-German frontier celebrated union with Germany tonight by burning the old boundary posts in a public bonfire. Members of Hitler Youth organizations lit torches at the bonfire and celebrated with a torchlight parade through the city.

Czechoslovakia Fears Hitler Pinch

Germany's triumph in Austria has given Chancellor Hitler a pincer-like threat on Czechoslovakia which is enhanced by the German population on the western rim of the latter nation. Czechoslovakia's population is divided as follows: Slavs, 9,688,770; Germans, 3,231,688; Hungarians, 691,923; Russians, 549,169; Poles, 81,737; Jews, 186,642.

Some of the richest territory in Europe, both in natural resources and industrial development, is contained in Czechoslovakia's 54,244 square miles. This attractive morsel among the smaller independent nations is more than half surrounded by Germany and Germany's new territory, Austria. A pincer movement by German armies would either gobble the entire tidbit or bite off Czechoslovakia's two most progressive provinces—Bohemia and Moravia.

Czechoslovakia is not quite twenty years old. It was created on Oct. 18, 1918, when the Narodni Vybor [national council] took over the government of the provinces of Bohemia, Moravia, Silesia, and Slovakia which had belonged to the former Austro-Hungarian empire. Through the intervention of President Woodrow Wilson, the allied powers formally recognized the existence of the new state, a republic, in the Versailles peace treaty of Sept. 10, 1919.

Formed of Many Groups.

When finally formed, the new republic included also part of sub-Carpathian Russia, now known as Ruthenia. The population is not a homogeneous group. Two branches of Slavs predominate—the Czechs of Bohemia, Moravia, and Silesia, and the Slovaks of Slovakia. These Slavs number 9,500,000; there are 3,250,000 Germans, 700,000 Hungarians, 549,000 Russians, 186,500 Jews, and 81,000 Poles.

While there have always been troubles due to this confusing admixture of bloods, tongues, and temperaments, the Czechoslovaks were industrious and prosperous people until the depression of the last five years. Forty per cent of their numbers are engaged in agriculture and forestry. The remainder have been miners of coal, silver, nitrates, iron, or engaged in manufacturing, brewing, or distilling.

Great Industries in Nation.

The great Bata Shoe works, which has spread its retail stores throughout the world, including the United States, is in Prague. And the Skoda works at Pilsen has been noted for heavy metal work—railroads, industrial steel, and, above all, for heavy cannon of great accuracy and reliability. At Brunn is a great factory which makes fine machine guns sold throughout Europe and Asia.

Glass, the famous Pilsner beer, alcoholic spirits of all sorts, textiles and woolen goods, lether goods, and similar products are exports from Czechoslovakia. All this wealth has been eyed longingly by the Nazi leaders for years, and Nazi propagandists have stirred up the German portion of Czechoslovakia to what now is a white heat.

STEAL 500 POUND SAFE.

La Porte, Ind., March 14.—[Special.]—Husky burglars early today lugged a five hundred pound safe from the box office of the Roxy theater. It contained $300.

Manufacturing is important in Czechoslovakia, as this diagram showing the number of factories in the various industries proves.

QUOTA ON JEWISH ENTRY INTO HOLY LAND RAISED 25%

LONDON, March 14.—(AP)—The British government today announced an increase of about 25 per cent in the Jewish immigration quota for Palestine, now restricted to 8,000 persons annually.

The action was said to have been taken in view of the plight of Jews in central Europe. The Austrian situation was only a contributing factor in increasing the number of Jews admissable to the British mandate.

Effective April 1, the following categories above the 8,000 quota will be admitted: A maximum of 2,000 persons of independent means—possessing $5,000 capital; a maximum of 1,000 laborers, 200 dependents and an unstated number of students. All will be subject to approval of the high commissioner of Palestine.

$250,000 CHECK PAYS QUARTER OF INCOME TAX

Chicago's first million dollar tax on 1937 income was reported yesterday. The taxpayer, whose identity was kept secret, sent a check for $250,000 as a quarterly payment. Income tax collections this year totaled $28,316,083 up to yesterday morning, according to Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue at Chicago. During the same 1937 period the total was $28,748,318. There have been 149,528 returns filed in 1938, against 101,380 last year. Mr. Harrison's office will remain open until 8 p. m. today, the last day for filing. Returns sent by mail must be postmarked before midnight.

FRANCE TO BACK CZECHS WITH ALL OF ARMED MIGHT

Says Treaty with Prague Will Be Observed.

PARIS, March 14.—(AP)—Socialist Premier Leon Blum's day-old government tonight stood ready to use force, if necessary, to maintain European order.

Blum and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour reassured the Czechoslovakian minister, Stefan Osusky, that France would take military action as promised under the Franco-Czech treaty if the Nazis attempted to extend their sway to Czechoslovakia.

The franc sagged to a new low [3.07 cents], compared with the dollar. Financial quarters assailed Blum's "half-hearted" assurances there would be no exchange control.

Senate Opposes Cabinet.

Political observers said most members of France's conservative senate were bitterly opposed to the cabinet. They regarded a national union government—of all parties—as essential.

Diplomatically, opposition rose against the choice of Joseph Paul-Boncour as foreign minister. Critics feared his known anti-Italian views might undermine French support of Italian-British friendship talks.

The nonexistence of Austria except as a state within the German nation was accepted as accomplished and irrevocable. But France was determined not to stand idly by and see Czechoslovakia, her main central European ally, yield to Nazification.

After the meeting with Osusky, the premier announced the government had summoned the French ministers in Brussels, Prague, and Vienna to Paris to confer.

Fighting Machine Ready.

French officials said they viewed the course of debate in the British house of commons as an indication Britain had moved toward France's stand for action in case Czechoslovakia were attacked although Prime Minister Chamberlain would not "shout too loudly" until armaments were increased.

Army sources declared France's fighting machine would be ready for any emergency, with or without a government. The permanent staf of the foreign office reiterated that France was prepared to act against any further change in Europe's map.

REPORT BARON IN VIENNA DYING OF BULLET WOUNDS

VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—Baron Karl von Werkman, Emperor Charles' last secretary and a prominent leader of the now liquidated monarchist movement, was reported to be dying or bullet wounds tonight.

He had been confined under heavy guard since Friday in the monarchist headquarters. He was said to have resisted when Black Shirt Nazi troopers came to take him to their headquarters for questioning. One version said he threatened them with a pistol, another that he shot himself.

The commandant of the state police said former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg was under close arrest in his nearby Belvedere palace apartment. President Wilhelm Miklas, Austria's other fallen official, was confined to his home. Although Miklas, who resigned yesterday, was not under arrest, he must hold himself at the disposition of the police.

28 LEGATIONS IN VIENNA ARE PUT OUT OF BUSINESS

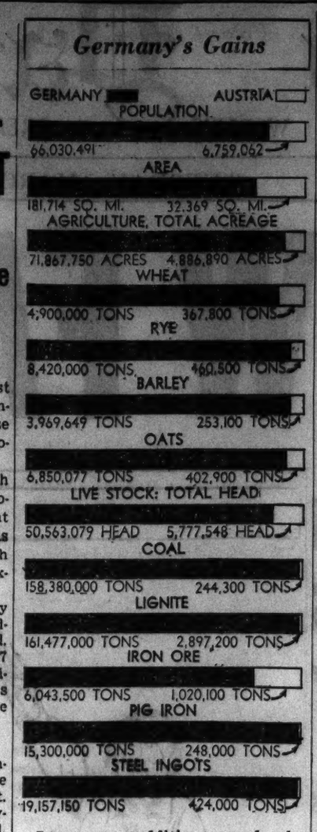
VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—Twenty-eight foreign legations were confronted with a diplomatic unemployment problem today.

The end of Austria, which has become a state of Germany, makes unnecessary the maintenance of legations and embassies here.

All the ministers accredited to the defunct Austrian republic will leave shortly, their duties to be taken over by ministries in Berlin. Some expected that their governments would maintain consulates here.

Alpine Mountain Climbers Fall in Line with Nazi Coup

MUNICH, Germany, March 14.—(AP)—Mountain climbers today were quick to fall in line with Germany's annexation of Austria. The chairman of the 70 year old German and Austrian Alpine society announced the organization had taken the name of German Alpine society.



Important additions made by Germany with the annexation of Austria.

ITALY FRIEND OF GERMANY, DUCE INFORMS HITLER

In a telegram to Hitler at Vienna, Il Duce declared "My attitude is determined by the friendship between our two countries consecrated in the [Rome-Berlin] axis." Mussolini's communication was in reply to Hitler's earlier message that he would "never forget" Il Duce's attitude toward his annexation of Austria.

Italians, swerved by a controled press from a stand for independent Austria to endorsement of Austro-German union, seemed bewildered by the sudden turn of events. Ever since the world war they had learned to think of an independent Austria as essential to the safety of Italy's frontiers. Overnight they have seen the idea disavowed. The long dreaded union of Austria and Germany now is set forth as the necessity which Italy approves.

MOSCOW BRANDS COUP BY HITLER THREAT TO PEACE

MOSCOW, March 14.—(AP)—The newspaper Izvestia, speaking for the soviet union, today "sharply condemned" the threat to "the peace of Europe" in Germany's absorption of Austria.

Concern for the fate of Czechoslovakia was expressed by E. Alexandrov, who might be considered a semi-official spokesman for the government since he is its newspaper's commentator on foreign affairs.

However, the soviet union, he said, "can quite calmly watch the course of events" because of the belief "its borders are inaccessible" to Germany.

Austrians in Paris Form Club to Fight for Liberty

PARIS, March 14.—(AP)—A group of Austrian residents of Paris, including resigned Consul General Hirsch Montmartin, tonight announced formation of an Austrian "national committee" to carry on the fight for a "free and independent Austria." Montmartin, who quit in defiance to his new Nazi superiors, said the committee would organize branches throughout the world.

AUSTRIA TO HELP GERMANY FILL UP EMPTY TREASURY

Berlin Gets Gold, Foreign Money and Ores.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 14.—The 75,000,000 citizens of Pan-Germany are on their way with victory beckoning in all directions. This is the conviction of Nazi leaders as they look over developments of the last few days.

Germany's financial situation was difficult, but gold, foreign currency, metal ores, and timber of Austria—her new state—have replenished her coffers.

Germany doubted ever so slightly the loyalty of her ally, Premier Mussolini of Italy. But he announced he would continue to support the Rome-Berlin axis. The Germans maintain he helped cement the new "central European combine."

See Victory in Spain.

Germany's friend, Generalissimo Francisco Franco, leader of the Spanish rebels, seemed in a shaky position, but he has won a sweeping victory which German officers feel will prove a decisive victory for the Nazi-Fascist cause in Spain. More Italian troops are being rushed into Spain and they will help hasten the victory, the Germans declare. They are silent, however, when asked whether Nazi "volunteers" are on their way.

With Spain in their sphere of influence, Hitler and Mussolini are reported to feel confident that France will be checkmated or induced to join the dictatorial family. Inclination in this direction is noted with satisfaction in the chancellery, which says that Hitler is receiving 3,000 letters a month from sympathizers in France.

Incorporation of Austria into the reich greatly strengthens the German army. Plans for providing a standing army of fifty-two divisions and reserves of 104 divisions have been perfected.

Expect 100,000 More Recruits.

Iron ore obtained in Austria will help the army speed up production of the heavy artillery it has been lacking heretofore. By applying German conscription laws to Austria, the Germans expect to recruit another 100,000 soldiers.

Officials of the Reichsbank have gone to Vienna to take over Austrian gold and foreign currency reserves which banking experts estimate at $80,000,000. The gold treasures of Austria will help bolster the German gold reserves which had dwindled to the equivalent of about $30,000,000.

Foreign experts estimate the conquest of Austria with her gold and her minerals, ores, timber and export trade of novelties will enable Germany to conquer the economic crisis for two more years even if export trade fails to improve.

VATICAN VISIONS PERSECUTIONS BY NAZIS IN AUSTRIA

VATICAN CITY, March 14.—(AP)—Osservatore Romano, Vatican organ, today expressed doubt that Austrian Catholics would be spared the "persecutions" suffered by their fellows in Germany under Nazi rule.

Cardinal Innitzer. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

After voicing hope that the "persecutions" which "agitate and torment millions of German Catholics" might "halt at the old frontiers," the newspaper continued: "But is it possible, in the face of various significant symptoms, to hope this?

"The provisions taken at once in the Salzburg diocese, the search and closing of central headquarters and other centers of the Catholic Action in Austria, which are guaranteed by the concordat [between Austria and the Vatican], throw a grievous shadow on the very hope of the new order of things."

The statement denied as "without foundation" a report that Cardinal Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, soon will arrive at the Vatican.

WALTER, JEWISH OPERA DIRECTOR, QUITS IN VIENNA

VIENNA, March 14.—(AP)—Bruno Walter, who has conducted the world's greatest orchestras in New York and the capitals of Europe, today resigned as a director of the Vienna opera.

Walter, a Jew who was born in Berlin, was compeled to abandon a high place in the German musical world five years ago when the Nazis came to power. Today the Nazi anti-Jewish campaign reached Vienna's cultural circles.

Dr. Hermann Roebbeling was removed as head of the famous Burg theater, the old imperial playhouse, considered one of Europe's best. Nazis hailed this as a "joyful effect" of their cultural program. Roebbeling's fault was that he allowed "too much boulevard trash," including American plays, to be introduced.

SPEEDIER ARMING BRITISH ANSWER TO HITLER'S COUP

Chamberlain Hints Army May Be Conscripted.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 14.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today told the youth of the British nation to prepare for conscription and prophesied an immediate setback to world economic recovery as a consequence of the tactics employed by Reichsfuehrer Hitler in annexing Austria to Germany.

The lanky premier was making a statement of British policy before the crowded house of commons. He refrained, however, from stating explicitly what the British position would be in case the French got embroiled with the Germans over going to the aid of Czechoslovakia.

Chamberlain's indication that conscription was on the way left the country perturbed, but it is seen as a logical correlative of Britain's $7,500,000,000 armament program. For some time it has been foreshadowed that the piling up of guns and war materials would require a mobilization of man power to learn to use them.

Speed at Emergency Pitch.

At the conclusion of debate, which lasted eight hours, Richard Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, asserted that what Chamberlain had in mind was the mobilization of industrial resources and man power to speed up arms output to an emergency pitch. His assurances that Chamberlain did not mean immediate compulsory military service was accompanied by a warning that putting the arms industry on a war basis would involve further sacrifices by both workers and employers.

Whitehall experts are working out a scheme which would give the government full power to commandeer supplies of metals and other materials as needed and divert industry from its normal work to arms production even at the risk of loss of trade. Increased taxes on business profits and a higher income tax were forecast.

Anti-Nazis Demonstrate.

Towards the close of debate, a crowd of several hundred anti-Nazis swarmed outside the house of commons and paraded in parliament square yelling, "Chamberlain must go. Clear the Nazis out of London. Down with the pro-Fascist government." Mounted and foot police dispersed them.

Chamberlain was applauded in the house when he refuted Germany's reply to the British protest last Friday on Austria. The reply had said that Britain had no business to meddle in central Europe. The note came from Baron Konstantin von Neurath, head of Germany's new secret council on foreign affairs. On the contrary, Chamberlain said British interest in central Europe was undeniable.

With considerable effect he read the long letter from Von Neurath to show that only by declaring war on Germany last Friday could Hitler have been stopped from bringing about his desired dream of anschluss [union with Austria.]

Had Warned Berlin.

Chamberlain brushed aside as a mere quibble the German claim that no ultimatum had been sent to Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg. He stated that both he and Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax had "addressed [to Berlin]] grave warnings on the Austrian situation."

Chamberlain laid further stress on the Von Neurath letter as inadmissible. The letter said Schuschnigg had broken his Berchtesgaden agreement with Hitler and that the reich sent in troops to meet the appeal addressed to it by the Austrian Nazi chancellor, Seyss-Inquart, and to avoid a bloody civil war. The letter added, "a dangerous situation could have come about only if a third party had tried to exercise influence with the rights of the German people to self determination."

More intriguing to diplomacy tonight was the passage in which Von Neurath, not without arrogance, told the British that "in the course of diplomatic conversations regarding the Austrian question, the German government has never left the British government in doubt that the form of relations between Austria and the reich can only be regarded as the internal affair of the German people and no concern of third parties."

Case of Laughing It Off.

After this direct smack in the face, it was a matter of going to war or laughing it off as best possible, according to Chamberlain's explanation.

The prime minister assured the house that the Germans had guaranteed the Czechs they would not approach within 15 kilometers [9¼ miles] of the Czech border. He declared that Britain had carried out its treaty pledges to consult with both the French and the Italians in event of Austrian independence being menaced. The French consultation resulted in Friday's joint protest.

"From the Italian government," Chamberlain said, "we have received no full exposition of its views. . . ."

"The methods adopted [by Germany] throughout these events call for the severest condemnation and have administered a profound shock to all those interested in European peace," Chamberlain said.

"Events which are in our minds today," he said, "are bound to have effects which cannot be measured. The immediate effect must be to intensify the sense of uncertainty and insecurity in Europe. Unfortunately, while a policy of appeasement would lead to relaxation of the economic pressure from which many countries are suffering, what has just happened must inevitably retard economic recovery.

"This is not the moment for a hasty decision or careless words. I am confident we will be supported in asking that no one, whatever his preconceived notions may be, shall regard himself as being excluded from any extension of national effort which may be called for."

Surprised by Army's Speed.

This reference was regarded as Chamberlain's announcement of conscription. He concluded:

"Accordingly we have decided to make a fresh review [of defense programs] and in due course we shall announce what further steps we may think it necessary to take."

The prime minister's speech indicated that while the British were ready to see Austria joined up with the reich, they were taken aback at the way Hitler went about it. And what specially upsets the British, it was disclosed, is the study of how the German army was mobilized with 2,000 soldiers being landed in Vienna by plane within twelve hours and 60,000 men occupying the whole of the country within about the same length of time.

Engagement Denied

KATHLEEN KENNEDY.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—J. P. Grace Jr., 24 years old, son of the chairman of the board of the Grace Line, today denied reports that he is engaged to marry Kathleen Kennedy, daughter of the American ambassador to Great Britain. Miss Kennedy is now aboard a liner en route to London to join her father.

"Engaged? No. Why, Miss Kennedy is only 18. There has been no announcement, has there? Well, if there is any announcement Mrs. Kennedy will make it," said Grace, who was graduated from Yale.

JAP AIR RAIDS IN SHANTUNG HIT 2 MISSION GROUPS

SHANGHAI, March 14.—(AP)—The Chinese Kuo Min news agency reported tonight that Japanese aerial bombs had struck American and German missions at Tenghsien, in southern Shantung province. Lini, the site of another American mission, was bombed in another Shantung raid. Both places are on the northern side of the central front.

Japanese shock troops which crossed the Yellow river twenty miles west of Chengchow last week and disrupted service over the Lunghai railway apparently have been wiped out or driven back. Trafic has been resumed over the line.

1,931,284 NAMES REGISTERED FOR APRIL PRIMARY

A record registration of voters for the April 12 primary was recorded with the closing of the registrations at midnight. According to Alexander J. McKay, chairman of the election board, a total of 1,931,284 names was registered.

There were 8,712 new registrations yesterday. The election board controls 3,850 precincts. Of these 3,648 are in the city and 202 in the country towns. The total of Cook county and city registrations will be swelled with the final tabulation tonight of registrations in 527 other precincts in the county under the jurisdiction of County Clerk Michael Flynn.

Protect Jews in Austria, World Jews Ask League

GENEVA, March 14.—(AP)—The executive council of the World Jewish congress appealed today to the league of nations council to act as the guarantor of the rights of Austrian Jews under the treaty of St. Germain. The appeal was addressed also to "the governments of civilized nations and world opinion" over the signature of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

MARCH ARMY INTO LITHUANIA, POLISH SENATORS SHOUT

Insist 'State of War' Over Vilna Must End.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, March 14.—Jumping to their feet and shouting "Send the army to Kaunas," Polish senators tonight put on a demonstration after Senator Kasmir Fudakowski had asked what action the government intended to take to put an end to the abnormal relations between Poland and Lithuania.

The senator had declared that the unofficial state of warfare which has existed along the Polish-Lithuanian frontier for eighteen years could no longer be tolerated and must be ended even if the Polish army had to march on Kaunas.

Premier General Felicjan Slawoj-Skladowski announced that the government would make a declaration tomorrow and Poland would take steps to prevent the occurence of further Lithuanian provocation. Col. Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister, returned to Warsaw tonight from Italy where his vacation was interrupted by orders calling him back to handle the situation.

Over Killing of Border Guard.

A midnight session of the cabinet was called to discuss what measures Poland should take to avenge the shooting of Stanislaw Seraphim, a Polish frontier guard who was shot by Lithuanians early Friday morning while he was chasing a Lithuanian spy back across the frontier.

A regiment of the Warsaw garrison entrained tonight for Suvalki on the Lithuanian frontier and already the powerful Vilna garrison has been reinforced.

Polish officials asserted Poland did not desire to annex Lithuania or acquire any part of her territory, but is determined to force Lithuania to open normal relations.

Poles Draw Up Stiff Terms.

Lithuania, they said, must acknowledge the loss of the Vilna territory [by a putsch in 1920] and immediately arrange to open normal postal, telegraph, railroad, and other communications across the frontier and establish consular and diplomatic relations.

Newspapers published unusually fierce attacks against Lithuania. Many newspapers declared the present state of uncertainty in Europe, the chaotic conditions prevailing in soviet Russia, and the success of the annexation of Austria by Germany has afforded this country an unusual opportunity which must not be missed. Austria's fate must be a lesson to Lithuania, the government newspaper Kurier Vilenski said.

The Vilna Slowo said Poland missed her chance in 1919 to annex Lithuania. She should do so now and thus acquire compensation for the eventual loss of the Danzig corridor.

Expects Russian Aid.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, March 14.—Kaunas citizens were badly frightened tonight by broadcasts from Polish radio stations, which revealed that Poland is contemplating stern action against her small neighbor.

Foreign Minister Stasys Lozoraitis was told to return immediately from his vacation in Switzerland. The cabinet is in continuous session.

That Lithuania has not compromised her attitude toward Poland has been due largely to her secret agreement with soviet Russia, which has assured her of assistance in case she should be attacked by either Poland or Germany. Lithuania also has a quarrel with Germany over the putsching of the Memel territory in 1924.

U.S. and Japan Fail to Reach Fishing Rights Agreement

TOKIO, March 15 [Tuesday].—(AP)—An eleventh hour disagreement over an undisclosed point today delayed settlement of the Alaskan fishery problem between the United States and Japan. A reliable source said the negotiations would be reopened "on a totally new basis."

Poland Moves Troops

(Story in adjoining column.)

Action to end Lithuania's 18 year "state of war" with Poland was demanded yesterday in the Polish senate. Lithuania has been at odds with Poland over the 1920 Vilna putsch (1, area shaded diagonally), and with Germany over the 1924 putsch in Memel (2). Poland has sent new troops to Suvalki and re-enforced the garrison at Vilna.

STATE EMPLOYE FIRED; BLAMES PRIMARY STAND

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—(AP)—Fred Neighbors of Virden, a state highway employé, asserted today he was discharged by F. Lynden Smith, public works and buildings director, because he announced he would support Michael L. Igoe for United States senator.

Neighbors asserted that at a meeting of Macoupin county state employés last Friday night, George Luker of Staunton, county chairman, said they all must support Gov. Henry Horner's candidate for the post, but that he told Luker he was for Igoe.

"I have been a Horner supporter since the governor was a primary candidate in 1932," Neighbors declared. "I worked for him then and again in 1936 and I still am for Gov. Horner, but I think I have a right to support Mike Igoe for senator."

Smith denied Neighbors was discharged for political reasons, saying: "The man just wouldn't do his work and I had to let him go." Smith is campaign manager for the Lucas-Lewis ticket and Luker is superintendent of parks, in Smith's department.

JAPS MAKE FIRST CAPTURE OF RED FLYING FOR CHINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 15 [Tuesday].—For the first time since the Chinese war began the Japanese yesterday captured a Russian flying for the Chinese after an air engagement over Pukow. [Pukow is across the Yangtze from Nanking.]

A squadron of soviet made bombers were sighted flying in the direction of Nanking. Ten Japanese planes took off, engaged the enemy over Pukow and shot down one bomber. Before the bomber crashed one of its occupants jumped by parachute. He was captured and found to be a Russian. The plane crashed in a creek outside of Pukow and the body of one of the occupants was declared to be that of a Russian.

Inasmuch as this was the first time the Japanese had captured a soviet airman, a thorough investigation is being carried out and it is expected this will disclose the extent of soviet assistance to China.

LYONS SEES NO HOPE FOR YOUTH UNDER U.S. POLICY

Urbana, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—"Under present national administration policies the future holds no hope for the young men and women on college and university campuses of America today," State Representative Richard J. Lyons, Libertyville, candidate for Republican nomination for the United States senate, declared here tonight. "If they are not sent to the front to become cannon fodder on some foreign battlefield, then they can look forward to joining the long line of unemployed."

The second week in the Republican primary campaign brought the candidates to central Illinois where they will spend the entire week, speaking before party organization meetings in Bloomington, Pekin, Springfield, Decatur, and Quincy on successive days.

FRANCO'S DRIVE CARRIES WITHIN 45 MILES OF SEA

Alcaniz, Important Road Junction, Falls.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish frontier], March 14.—(AP)—The massed power of the Spanish rebels' eastern offensive tore through government defenses today, bringing Gen. Francisco Franco's troops within forty-five miles of the Mediterranean.

The important city of Alcaniz fell before the rebel march toward Catalonia and the sea, aimed at splitting government Spain in two.

Confirms City's Capture.

The government war ministry at Barcelona confirmed the rebel capture of Alcaniz which gave the rebels control of a vast network of highways linking the seacoast and the province of Tarragona with rebel held Teruel and Saragossa.

"On to the sea" Franco's troops cried as they swept on beyond Alcaniz, driving to isolate Catalonia to the north and Valencia and Madrid as a southern unit.

The rebels captured the entire line between Ancaniz and Caspe which early government dispatches described as the last government bulwark before Catalonia.

Italian Column in Action.

The rebels said their success was due to perfect coördination between air and land forces, the latter including an Italian "Black Arrow" column to the south and combined columns of Spanish and Moorish troops in the center and northern sectors of the battle line.

Rebel planes bombarded government forces out of their hilltop positions all day ahead of the machine-gunning troops.

Planes Sink Freighter.

BARCELONA, Spain, March 14.—(AP)—Rebel planes today bombed and sank the Spanish government merchant ship Isla de Menorca off Tarragona, some fifty miles southwest of here. There was no word of the fate of the crew carried by the 1,003-ton freighter. Six towns on the Barcelona-Tarragona road were bombed over the week-end with extensive property damage and some casualties.

ENGLAND JAILS 3 TRAPPED IN SPY PLOT BY "MISS X."

LONDON, March 14.—(AP)—Three former employés of the big Woolwich arsenal trapped by the blonde "Miss X" of the British counterespionage service today pleaded guilty of smuggling out armaments secrets.

P. E. Glading, leader of the spy plot, was sentenced to six years' imprisonment, Albert Williams to four years, and George Whomack to three years. C. W. Munday, accused with them of violating the official secrets act, was discharged for lack of evidence.

"Miss X," slender and trimly clad, had testified to a plot for copying some of Britain's most valued armament secrets for transmission to foreign agents.

Roosevelt and Hull Assailed on U. S.-British War Accord

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—A startled house today heard President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull accused of disloyalty for entering into secret arrangements with Great Britain in the event of war.

The statement was given additional significance because of foreign developments which may soon find the British empire involved in a conflict. The charge came from Representative George Holden Tinkham [R., Mass.], veteran authority on foreign affairs.

Tinkham's speech climaxed the first day of fiery debate on the administration's bill to enlarge the navy at a cost of one billion, 121 million dollars. Congress already has appropriated more than half a billion dollars for the navy this year, and the total navy appropriations in the last four years will rise above the five billion mark with passage of the pending bill.

Charge Brings Uproar.

Tinkham took the floor late in the day after the bill had variously been defended as essential to our national security and attacked as an unnecessary extravagance.

"I say to the house," he declared, "that certain arrangements have already been made committing ourselves to join in the next war on the side of Great Britain; and I say further that whoever has made such arrangements, whether it be the President or the secretary of state, is disloyal to the United States and is traitorous!"

There was an instant uproar, with Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the naval affairs committee shouting that Tinkham had no evidence to support his charges. Vinson quoted the testimony of Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, that no agreements had been entered into by the navy with any foreign power.

Questions Evidence.

"You are challenging the honesty and integrity of these navy officials," Vinson asserted. "And you haven't a scintilla of evidence to go upon."

"No one assumes that Admiral Leahy would be let in on such an agreement," interrupted Representative Gerald J. Boileau [Prog., Wis.].

Tinkham read a London dispatch which quoted Winston Churchill as informing the house of commons that an excellent arrangement had been entered into between Great Britain and the United States. He then read the long list of distinguished offices which Churchill has held in England.

"With that record," Tinkham continued, "how can it be possibly said that the statement made by this man is not true? And, if true, how can it be said that there is not an excellent arrangement between this country and England. He further states that these arrangements mean in effect the pooling of the British navy and the American navy."

Points to Hull Denial.

Representative Ralph E. Church [R., Ill.], who previously had made a long speech against the bill, pointed out that the President had never denied that such an arrangement exists, although Secretary Hull has made such a denial.

Vinson opened the discussion of the bill with the assertion that a potential enemy could send submarines and swift aircraft carriers to American shores in a short time.

"We must meet the enemy at sea and defeat him before he gets near our coasts and lays waste our industrial centers and our principal coastline cities," he declared. "Let me impress this one fact upon you: we are not and do not propose by this increase to build a navy for the purpose of attacking foreign shores. This is strictly a defense program. Let everyone thoroughly understand we are not building a navy for aggression. We do not covet one foot of soil of any other nation."

U. S. IS NOTIFIED AUSTRIA CEASES TO BE A NATION

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—The diplomatic relationship between the United States and Austria came formally and undramatically to an end at 6 o'clock tonight.

At that hour Dr. Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, German ambassador, notified Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the nation of Austria no longer existed; that it was now part of the reich. He did it by handing the secretary a note from his government containing copies of decrees issued in Linz and Vienna.

A crowd paraded before the German embassy and the Austrian legation during the day shouting "Down with Hitler!" Forty were arrested.

Vladmir Hurban, minister from Czechoslovakia, told Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles his country would fight if Germany tried to take it over.

Secretary Hull said at his press conference that developments did not yet warant formulation of American policy.

WIDOW OF ROSS FIRST WITNESS AGAINST KILLER

mund S. Cummings Jr., attorney who handled the ransom payments for Mrs. Ross. He disclosed that he had obtained the $50,000 from the Continental Illinois National bank and had given it to a motorcycle messenger, George Kukovac, who dropped it on a lonely road in accordance with Seadlund's orders.

The money, Cummings said, was counted by him in the presence of Inspector Connelley and other G-men. He added that a federal operative named Jankowski was with him when he handed the bills to Kukovac.

To support the testimony of Mrs. Ross and Cummings the prosecution introduced into the record the text of five ransom notes sent by Seadlund and his accomplice, James Atwood Gray, to Mrs. Ross and her friends. In substance the contents of these notes has been public for some weeks. The phraseology had been kept a secret ,however.

Pleads Ransom Be Raised.

The first of these notes, received by Brackett, was in Ross' handwriting. It read:

"I am held for ransom. I have stated I am worth $100,000, including the G. S. Carrington Co. stock held in escrow by First National bank. Try and raise $50,000. Yours,

"CHARLES S. ROSS."

The second note, also sent through Brackett, was principally a statement of the manner in which the ransom should be divided into $5, $10, and $20 bills. But the third, a typewritten note, which went to Elton C. Armitage, an attorney and secretary of a lodge of Scottish Rite Masons of which Ross was a member, said:

"Please keep this confidential—YOU are Charles S. Ross' last hope, his own choice as middleman. Somehow contact Mrs. Ross, using a third person or some other devious means. At any cost don't let the feds. suspect your part."

Emphasizes "Genuine" Signature.

Continuing, after outlining more of the arrangements for delivery of the $50,000, the write asserted:

"Conclusive proof of Ross' well-being will be tendered before payment. Locate secrete photodeveloper." This was followed by the warning: "None genuine without this signature—ALBIE, not brady."

Sterner threats were given in the fourth note, which read in part:

"Boss very much incenced over delays caused by 'Pied Pipers' and their 'rat' hunts. Threatens repercusions. Elaborate plan of collection prac. complete, bound to fail if suspiscion aroused only one contact will be tried. Send pic. of river if cop in vic."

Hints at Lower Settlement.

The fifth and final note, received on Oct. 8, gave directions as to the route the money carrying messenger should follow, and ended:

"Inability to raise quite total amount might be overlooked if accompanied by adequate explanations. The renaroud or a suspiscious car or truck won't. Albie [Not Brady]."

"B. S.—Ross opines as how there's too much vitamin G in his mess. We agree.

"Dick: Be home Sun. morn. hide the silverware until associations wear off."

That was the last word from the kidnaper and that same evening he collected. Cummings, cross-examined by the defense and said the state's attorney's office of Cook county had never been told of the ransom negotiations.

Jurors Selected Quickly.

The selection of the jury, with Judge Barnes questioning the veniremen, occupied less than three hours. The defense attorneys objected to this celerity, but were overruled when they requested permission to question directly. They peremptorily excused a dozen candidates.

The alternates will sit with the jury and hear all the testimony. They will have no part in determining the verdict unless one of the regular jurors becomes ill or is otherwise disqualified during the trial.

Igoe Outlines Case.

Igoe's opening statement was concise and made without oratorical effects. After outlining the facts of the kidnaping and the ransom payment, he told of the capture of Seadlund at the Santa Anita race track in California last January.

"In a few days," he said, "Seadlund made a complete statement of his crime to Inspector Connelley, and then led his captors to the hideaway in Minnesota where Ross was first kept. Later he led the agents to a second hideaway near Spooner, Wis. In the woods the federal agents dug into the snow at Seadlund's direction and found the bodies of Ross and Gray. A plea of guilty has been entered to the indictment charging kidnaping and also to the killing of Ross and Gray."

This last statement brought protests from Attorney Burnham and Judge Barnes instructed the jury that Seadlund has denied the double killing.

Defense Protests Overruled.

At the start of the morning session Attorney Thompson severely criticized the government's handling of the case. He objected to the calling of the jury, arguing that the court alone must fix the punishment. Then he objected to the manner in which the venire had been summoned [by registered mail]. Both motions were overruled.

Thompson and Burnham then argued, even more vigorously, that it was unjust to Seadlund to make him appear in court handcuffed.

"He has been a quiet, orderly prisoner," said Thompson. "I never talked to a man more docile or one less likely to cause trouble."

"You should have seen him when he had Ross in that hole in the woods," retorted Igoe.

After questioning Marshal William H. McDonnell, who said that in his opinion Seadlund was likely to make a break for freedom, the judge held that the handcuffs would create less prejudice in the minds of the jurors than if a squad of deputies surrounded the prisoner.

Igoe said that only about thirty-five of the 103 witnesses are likely to take the stand, and that he expected to close his case tomorrow. The defense testimony, is was indicated, will be brief.

10 YOUTHS HELD TO GRAND JURY FOR CRIME QUIZ

Jeweler Is Charged with Receiving Loot.

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Carnes, robbery, sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; Chester Moore, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Ten youths who committed robberies and burglaries were held to the grand jury yesterday in total bonds of $103,500 by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the Boys' court. In addition, a middle-aged jeweler, charged by several of the boys with receiving stolen property, was held in $9,000 bonds.

The largest group of young offenders was headed by Edward Menet, 17 years old, 2904 West 25th place, against whom five burglary counts had been placed by Lawndale police. His bonds totaled $17,500. Witnesses identified jewelry stolen from their homes by Menet and his companions which was recovered later in the jewelry store of Vincent Gorecki, 54 years old, 2349 South Kedzie avenue. Police said Gorecki admitted paying $3.50 to Menet's gang for a diamond ring worth $150.

Other Members of Gang.

Other members of the burglary gang and the amount of bonds under which they were held included George Hoffman, 18, of 2003 West 25th place, $10,500 on three charges; Walter Stradza, 19, 2525 South Whipple street; Stanley Leonard, 20, 2451 South Kedzie avenue, and Casimir Stanula, 20, 2635 West 25th place, $3,500 bond on one charge each.

Accused of having robbed five gasoline stations, Walter O'Brien, alias Donald Murphy, 22, of 227 North Kilbourn avenue, was held on three charges in bonds of $30,000. Two other charges were nol prossed. His companion, Larry Hoffman, 18, of 5608 Patterson avenue, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, obtained a continuance to March 22. They were arrested by park police after an automobile chase.

Bonds of $28,000 for Two.

Two boys who specialized in thefts from gasoline stations were held in bonds totaling $28,000. They are Carl Munno, 17, of 4337 Congress street, and Carl Coduto, 18, of 1232 Harrison street. According to the police, they admitted stealing hundreds of automobile accessories from forty stations.

Harry Riehl, 20, and Ralph Savage, 25, were held to the grand jury on bonds totaling $7,000 on a charge of looting the apartment of Fred Eggleston, 8110 Cottage Grove avenue. According to Detectives John McCardle and Thomas Lynch of the Grand Crossing station, they admitted taking a stamp album worth $500 and a dog which they pacified by feeding him meat. Savage, who comes from Ottawa, Ont., gave his address as 4754 Ash avenue, Hammond. Riehl lives at the South Chicago Y. M. C. A., 3039 East Ninety-first street.

Ohio Ex-Justice Slays His Wife and Kills Self

Cincinnati, O., March 14.—[Special.]—Coleman Avery, former member of the Ohio Supreme court, died at a hospital today of a bullet wound in his head several hours after his wife, Mrs. Sara Avery, was found slain in their suburban home. Mrs. Avery had been shot through the neck.

Coroner Frank M. Coppock Jr. said he would return verdicts that Mrs. Avery was shot by her husband and that the latter then took his own life.

VOTE INDICTMENTS AGAINST 2 ACCUSED IN SCANDAL HOLDUP

True bills charging Kenneth Peters and an unidentified man, known only as Tip, with assault to rob John J. Burke, 636 Wilson avenue, were reported voted yesterday by the grand jury investigating the conduct of two suspended Town Hall detectives.

The jury, it was said, has virtually completed its investigation. A final report is expected by tomorrow. The detectives, Frank McKune and Earl Flannery, were suspended on charges they released Peters and Tip, who had been arrested by two uniformed policemen as alleged robbers.

McKune and Flannery, the policemen said, happened by after Peters and Tip were seized, and offered to take the prisoners to the lock-up. They never arrived there. Peters is in custody, but Tip is a fugitive.

SLUG EVANSTON PAINTER FOR LACK OF UNION CARD

Albert C. Peterson, an independent painter and decorator for 25 years, was slugged on a painting job in Evanston yesterday by two men when he was unable to show them a union card, he reported to police.

Only a few days ago, he said, a man representing himself as a union business agent, warned him to "join the union or else." The slugging was the second of its kind in Evanston in two weeks.

The attack took place in a house at 900 South boulevard, where Peterson was at work. The two sluggers approached, demanded his card, and then one of them struck him on the head with a blackjack. Peterson is 48 years old. He will resume his work today under protection of a police squad.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS CAPONE JAIL SENTENCE

The United States Supreme court yesterday refused to interfere with a judgment of Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals which held that Al Capone, former Chicago gang leader, must serve one year in the County jail, after expiration of his federal sentence of ten years for income tax evasion. Capone is now on Alcatraz island.

With time off for good behavior his sentence will expire Jan. 19, 1939. Capone's lawyer, Abraham Teitelbaum, contended the jail sentence placed the convict in double jeopardy. Capone was sentenced to jail and prison in 1931.

QUIZ EX-CONVICT ON BAT MURDER IN HOTEL STRIKE

Louis Clementi, an ex-convict, was arrested last night for questioning in the ball bat murder of Lloyd Rourke. Witnesses to the murder and the other violence of the strike at the Del Prado hotel, 5307 Hyde Park boulevard, will be given an opportunity to identify him in a special showup at the Hyde Park police station today.

Rourke, a laundry truck driver for the hotel, was fatally beaten with a ball bat Feb. 10 near the Fairfax hotel at 1369 Hyde Park boulevard for driving through the Del Prado picket lines.

Clementi lives at 909 South Carpenter street. He was recently released from Joliet penitentiary after serving four years for terrorism in the cleaning industry. He was a Capone gangster in gangland days.

SANFORD BATES URGES 50 MORE CLUBS FOR BOYS

Sanford Bates, former director of federal prisons, yesterday urged Chicago to provide fifty new boys' clubs, declaring they would build citizenship and serve as a deterrent to crime. Mr. Bates, executive director of the Boys' Clubs of America, spoke at the fourth annual conference of the Boys' Clubs association of Chicago, held in the Hotel La Salle. Recent crimes committed by boys supposedly from good homes might have been avoided, he said, had they been members of boys' clubs. If the clubs make better citizens of their members, he declared, the juvenile crime problem will take care of itself.

YOUNG HUSBAND OF SLAIN BRIDE IS DENIED BAIL

Grand Jury Is Recalled to Consider Case.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Pekin, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—James Warner Crabb, young Delavan banker went wearily back to the Tazewell county jail today after his attorney's offer of $50,000 cash bond for his release was rejected by a Pekin justice of the peace.

Crabb has been in the old red brick jail here since Saturday on a warant charging him with the murder March 1 of Betty Collison Crabb, his bride of five weeks.

In a long and verbose session today before Justice of the Peace August Lauterbach, Crabb's attorneys sought an immediate preliminary hearing on the warant, but the state was granted a continuance until March 21.

Demand for Bail Refused.

"Well, then," roared J. M. Powers, one of Crabb's attorneys, "we want bail, $50,000 or whatever you want. This gentleman is entitled to it."

This, too, Justice Lauterbach denied, remanding Crabb to the custody of Sherif Ralph C. Goar who Saturday, nine hours after Crabb's arrest, announced Crabb's confession of the fatal shooting, which Crabb claimed occurred accidentally during a drunken argument.

State officials, who are pressing for further facts concerning the death of Betty Crabb, who was a vivacious brunette, 19 years old, hinted today at the imminence of a new arrest.

"But nothing," State's Attorney Rayborn L. Russell explained quickly, "is definite. So far as I know, no new warants have been issued yet."

Grand Jury Recalled.

John E. Cassidy, appointed by Attorney General Otto Kerner as assistant attorney general to assist Russell, took charge of today's events, which began with a petition to Circuit Judge Henry J. Ingram for the recall of the February grand jury. This was granted and the jury ordered to convene Wednesday morning. The prosecution will seek Crabb's indictment for murder.

The hearing before Justice Lauterbach took two hours, with the gray haired justice a puzzled listener. Several hundred persons crowded around the entrance to his tiny office. Through it all young Crabb, whose father, Willis Crabb, is the leading banker, farmer and power in nearby Delavan, sat unsmiling, twitching nervously.

James, a bookkeeper in his father's bank since last April when he left the University of Illinois where he met his wife, is 6 feet tall and weighs 180 pounds. He is 21 years old. His face is pleasant, a slight recession to his chin his only irregularity. His eyes are hazel, his complexion a little mottled. He looks like an average college boy.

When asked how he felt, he waved a depreciatory hand in the familiar "forget it" gesture.

ELEVATED SEEKS TO END SUBURBAN TRANSFER PLAN

The Illinois commerce commission will begin a hearing Thursday on the petition of the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] for discontinuance of the interline transfer arrangement between its lines and those of the Chicago and West Towns Railways, which serves more than twenty western suburbs.

The elevated company contends the use of the interline transfer arrangement since it was inaugurated last Jan. 16 has been so small that it does not justify the expense involved. Commission studies recently indicated that the number of passengers using the transfers is far below the predictions made by advocates of the arrangement. The arrangement permits a rider to use both systems on payment of a 15 cent fare instead of two 10 cent fares.

NANCY BRILL.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nancy Pierson Brooks Macy Brill, former New York society girl whose hide-and-seek marriage to William Hunsaker Brill III, recently was annulled, today filed a $100,000 alienation of affections suit against her former mother-in-law, the wealthy Mrs. Mary Hunsaker Brill.

Nancy and young Brill, Beverly Hills sportsman, eloped to Yuma, Ariz., March 29, 1937, and separated twenty-four hours later. The young bridegroom disappeared after returning to Los Angeles. Nancy found him later in his mother's apartment.

Today she charged the elder Mrs. Brill induced Brill to abandon her.

GETS ONE TO TEN YEAR TERM FOR THEFT OF $73,000

Terrence J. Rasmussen, 37 years old, former cashier and bookkeeper of the North American Car company, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of embezzling $73,598 and was sentenced by Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court to one to ten years in prison.

T. J. Rasmussen.

Rasmussen fled last July when auditors discovered he had taken $413,000 from the company during a twelve year period. He was arrested Feb. 25 in Los Angeles, Cal., returned here Thursday, and indicted Friday.

The statute of limitations prevented him from being tried for the full amount of his peculations.

FRACTURED HIP JUST DIVERSION TO EX.-GOV. FIFER

Thus philosophized former Gov. Joseph W. Fifer, 97 years old, as he lay abed today with a hip fracture received in a fall at his home last night. He slipped to the floor while walking to the kitchen.

"Private Joe" suffered injuries to both knees when he was struck by an automobile in 1932 while on his way to vote.

Policeman Shot to Death; Gun Cleaning Tools Near By

Police Sergeant John Spack, 47 years old, attached to the Chicago park district, was found shot to death last night in the bedroom of his home at 1356 West 83d street. Beside the body were five shells that had been taken from Spack's service revolver, an oil can, oily rags, and a brush for cleaning pistol barrels. He had been with the police department more than seventeen years.

LA VOIE'S $4,000 JUST A DIVIDEND, HE SAYS AT TRIAL

No Tax Graft Involved, Defendant Testifies.

When he accepted $4,000 from the owner of an automobile sales agency, it wasn't graft, Edmond F. La Voie testified yesterday. It was merely the return of his original $2,000 investment in the company plus dividends.

La Voie, a former investigator for the Illinois department of finance, offered this defense to a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Rudolph F. Desort after the state closed its case.

Two Others on Trial.

La Voie and two officials of the defunct McFadden Motor Sales company, 3210 Jackson boulevard, are on trial charged with conspiracy to defraud the state of $34,000 in sales tax payments. The others are William McFadden, former head of the company, and David K. Springwater, his manager.

The state concluded with the testimony of John Swanson, 12049 Parnell avenue, custodian for the receiver of the company. Swanson said he heard McFadden tell the receiver that La Voie would take care of him if he got into trouble because he had enabled McFadden to pay only one-third of the tax due.

Questioned by his attorney, Samuel A. Hoffman, La Voie said he had known McFadden since 1928. On McFadden's promise to double his money, La Voie said he invested $2,000 in November, 1935.

Decides to Get Out of Business.

"Later I became convinced that I did not want to be in the automobile business," said La Voie. "I told McFadden that I wanted my money back. The checks he gave me represented my $2,000 plus the $2,000 for doubling my investment."

La Voie also denied that Sam Nudelman, state director of finance, had discharged him. Instead, La Voie said, he quit when Nudelman refused him the favor of delaying an audit of the McFadden company books until McFadden could straighten out some business difficulties.

The favor was asked, La Voie said, in his position as a Democratic precinct captain. Just to show that he still was politically in favor, after that, La Voie declared, his sponsor got him a job in the state highway department.

JURY RETURNS OPEN VERDICT.

A coroner's jury returned an open verdict yesterday in the death of Dominic Colando, 53 years old, who was injured Saturday in a struggle with Patrick Moriarty, 76, over the occupancy of a favorite chair in the Oak Forest infirmary, where both were inmates.

Whitney Pleads Guilty; Faces Penalty of 30 Years in Prison

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—Richard Whitney, five times president of the New York Stock exchange, today entered a plea of guilty to the theft of $105,000 from a trust fund set up by his father-in-law, the late George R. Sheldon. The once prominent financier now faces a possible sentence of thirty years in prison.

When asked whether he pleaded guilty to the charge of grand larceny in the first degree, Whitney hesitated for an instant and then, in a loud, clear voice that could be heard throughout the courtroom, said: "I do." He grasped the rail in front of him so tightly that his knuckles turned white.

The plea was made before Judge Owen W. Bohan in General Sessions court. The judge allowed Whitney to take the witness stand and read a lengthy statement admitting his guilt and outlining the various speculations that spelled his downfall and dragged into bankruptcy the brokerage firm that bears his name.

Promises to Help Prosecutor.

In this statement the former pillar of Wall street declared it his intention to do all in his power to correct the wrongs which have been done. He said he realized the gravity of his acts and the fact that a penalty must be paid. To this end he promised to give every assistance to District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, the young rackets prosecutor who obtained the indictment upon which Whitney pleaded guilty, and to Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr., who is conducting an investigation of his own.

While on the stand Whitney revealed that his stepson, Samuel Sands, is a creditor of the bankrupt firm for a total of $279,000. Whitney said he pledged securities owned by Sands as collateral for a loan, and that they were sold to satisfy the debt.

Late today Bennett announced that his assistants would present evidence to the grand jury tomorrow in connection with the complaint of William A. Stewart, commodore of the New York Yacht club, who charged Whitney unlawfully appropriated $103,00 of the club's securities.

Second Action in Abeyance.

"If an indictment is returned, trial will be postponed until after sentence is imposed on Mr. Whitney's plea of guilty which was entered this morning," said Bennett.

Bennett said he would not question Whitney until Dewey had finished with him. The attorney general is a candidate for governor of New York and reputedly is miffed over the fact that Dewey stole the Whitney show by obtaining the first indictment.

A woman entered the Whitney case today when George F. Noonan, chief of the criminal division of the United States attorney's office here, admitted that Mrs. Marjorie Pyle Montgomery, wealthy Wilmington widow and relative of the du Pont family by marriage, had been questioned.

Frequent Visitor at Mansion.

Whitney is said to have been a close friend of the socially prominent matron and to have been a frequent visitor at her $75,000 mansion in Delaware.

Mrs. Montgomery, described as a slender, charming brunette, is the widow of John A. Montgomery Jr., head of a large Delaware insurance firm, who was killed in an airplane crash in November, 1932. One of her sisters is Mrs. Eugene du Pont, whose daughter, Ethel, married President Roosevelt's son, Franklin Jr., last June.

Noonan said he had not decided whether to call Mrs. Montgomery before the federal grand jury. He revealed that Postal Inspector W. B. Francisco had talked to her at Wilmington last week. Many of Whitney's friends are being questioned by federal officials in an effort to reveal the broker's assets.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRUCK.

Whitesburg, Ky., March 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Julia Sexton, 50 years old, widow of David Sexton, died today a few hours after she was struck by a heavy truck belonging to the Sterling Hardware company of Hazard.

TRIBUNE STAF ASKED TO TAKE SYPHILIS TESTS

Move Supports Campaign Against Disease.

THE TRIBUNE yesterday requested its 2,700 employés to take syphilis tests following approval of the action at an interdepartmental meeting of employé representatives. The move is being made in support of the city's anti-syphilis campaign.

Beginning today, all new employés will be required to take a Kahn blood test as part of their regular physical examination. Present employés will take tests by May 1, either by a physician at company expense or by a family doctor at the employé's expense.

Tests to Affect no Jobs.

The result of these tests will not determine employment or rejection of the individual, since THE TRIBUNE recognizes that although such a test may show an infection, proper treatment will insure protection of other persons from infection. The infected employé will not, however, be admitted to The Tribune's sick benefit plan until treatment indicates his cure.

Where unionized departments are involved the voluntary coöperation of the unions will be sought. Laboratory reports on the tests will be recorded by number and not by name to protect the employé. The reports will be serialized by Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the Northwestern university medical college and Tribune health editor.

The management believes that the benefit and protection to be derived in detection and treatment of unknown syphilitics warants full coöperation of its employés, but will refrain from coercion.

Bundesen Praises Tribune Plan.

"Within my knowledge THE TRIBUNE is the first business organization in Chicago to take this step since the syphilis control program began," Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said yesterday.

"THE TRIBUNE'S action is the forerunner of a movement toward syphilis control which I hope to see materialize in Chicago business and industry. It is a great forward step because of the realization that it is good business to control syphilis. The effort to protect rather than to penalize the infected employé is vital in stopping spread of the disease."

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or overweight—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

Plant LAWN SEED Now!

Above All, NO TIMOTHY
Timothy, a coarse hay, is the common adulterant of cheap lawn mixtures and the greatest enemy of lawns. While it comes up quickly its coarse stems do not stand mowing and it robs fine grasses of food and inevitably ruins a lawn.

Early Sowing Means Success
Seed sown early, on late snows, or soft, moist soil, will "mud" in and start growth under most favorable conditions. Use 1 lb. of Chicago Parks lawn seed and 10 lbs. of Vaughan's Lawn and Garden plant food for each 300 square feet.

State Law Protects You
It requires all lawn seed to bear labels showing just what it contains. Read the label, accept no Timothy. INSIST on Vaughan's Chicago Parks.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE GREATNESS OF WONDER

By CALEB

A CHILD, facing a man who looked into a light, watched the quickly expanding and contracting pupil of an eye. He watched the miraculous black well of sight grow large as the man turned toward a dark corner of the room. He saw it diminish to shut out light when the man glanced toward the chandelier.

His own eyes wide with wonder, he asked questions. And after a discussion of eyes, there came speech, and hearing. At last, the boy became thoughtful. Finally he said slowly, "You know, I believe the greatest thing of all is that I can grow. Where does my biggerness come from? What makes me grow until I am big and then stop?"

A hungering wonder at things is one of the blessings of man. It is a preserver of youth. Just as physical hunger impels creatures to activity in search for food, mental hunger—a lively wonder about things—impels men to activity in search of knowledge.

Wonder is at the seat of mental growth. Wonder is a leaven of life. People who have great wonderment are almost invariably interesting. They are interesting because life is interesting to them.

There was a day when Columbus heard it said the world was flat. To himself he said, "I wonder." He wondered at the disappearing of sails over the horizon. He wondered at the daily appearance and disappearance of the sun. Because there was something wonderful and fascinating to him about the vast, apparently curving sea, he wondered himself into a crusade for support to explore.

Great inventors are great wonderers. Great pioneers are great wonderers. Wondering induces and feeds on thought. The greatest industrialists and statesmen are great wonderers. They all—these men—wonder at the untrodden, undeveloped paths of progress before mankind. They wonder at the greatness of unharnessed resources, unexploited ideas, undeveloped opportunities.

Children, nearly all, are able to wonder. Those who wonder most probably learn most. Adults who have kept a capacity for wondering—like children—know little boredom.

There are many things about you worth wondering about. If you wonder "actively," you will begin to find things out. Finding things out—eternally—keeps life refreshing and invigorating.

PAROLE BOARD DEFIES LAW IN SECRET HEARING

Bars Doors as 442 Seek Prison Release.

board meetings was one of a series of parole reform measures sponsored by State Senator Harold G. Ward and State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg. It was recommended for passage by a group of law enforcement leaders headed by Frank J. Loesch, then president of the Chicago Crime commission. It was signed by Gov. Horner last July 9, although the key bill in the series—which would have stripped the parole board of some of its power—was vetoed.

Designed to End Scandals.

"The amendment that was intended to prevent the parole board from holding future sessions behind locked doors was introduced because of the many scandals attaching to the paroles of dangerous and desperate gunmen," said Senator Ward, "and also because the parole board was turning convicts out of prison faster than police could put them in.

"We had in mind throwing the searchlight of publicity on every action of the parole board to prevent miscarriages of justice—or worse. Parole board members certainly should respect a law duly passed by the legislature and signed by the same governor who appointed them and is keeping them in office. I'm in favor of taking some action to compel them to obey the law."

Reads from Statutes.

Senator Ward, a Democrat, represents the 31st district on Chicago's north side. Representative Schnackenberg, who represents the 13th district, on the south side, and is Republican leader in the house, read from the statute books as he concurred with Ward's stand.

"This law," he said, "doesn't permit of any exception. It says all sessions of the parole board shall be open to the public, not some of them. The intent of the law was to do away with star chamber sessions of the board. It is most important that the sessions on parole applications be open to the public."

Ellis Cox, who as manager of the parole board office is one of the 200 state employés who draw salaries totaling nearly $400,000 a year because of the parole system, explained that under board rules only the hearings at the prisons are open to the public. The board divides into three committees to hear applications at Joliet, Pontiac, and Menard. At these hearings, friends or relatives may appear in behalf of convicts. The convicts also may speak for themselves. No final decisions are made at the public hearings.

Then, once a month, the board meets at Springfield in what is termed an executive session. That is when the curtain descends, in spite of the law, on the board's proceedings. The actual parole of a convict is not revealed until his release has been effected.

Award $15,000 Damages to Girl Struck by Auto

Vivian Smetana, 17 years old, a senior at Maine Township High school in Park Ridge, was awarded damages of $15,000 yesterday by a jury in a personal injury suit tried before Judge William Damron of Harrisburg, sitting in the Superior court. The verdict was directed against David Brannin Jr., 21 years old, 1024 Lincoln avenue, Park Ridge, a law student at Northwestern university. His automobile struck Vivian as she was bicycling near her home at Talcott road and Devon avenue in Park Ridge on Feb. 19, 1937. The girl's attorney, V. Russell Donaghy, said her injuries will cause a permanent limp.

TWO ARE KILLED WHEN AUTO AND TRUCK COLLIDE

Garfield Barnhardt, 55 years old, and Frank Pruski, 25, both of Sandwich, Ill., were killed yesterday when their automobile and a cattle truck collided on route 34 at Plano, fifty miles west of Chicago. William Lutz, 27, of Monmouth, driver of the truck, was uninjured.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 186 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 149 were killed within the city limits, where 3,308 were injured in the same period.

A motorcyclist and a pedestrian suffered skull fractures last night when the cycle ridden by Clyde Noyce, 21 years old, 1869 Ogden avenue, struck the pedestrian, Jack Lindahl, 55 years old, of 230 South Hoyne avenue, at Jackson boulevard and Hoyne avenue. Police took both to the County hospital. Their conditions are critical.

THE MENACE

Too many mysterious burglaries and murders can be traced to the uncanny powers of the Lock Pick.

The Lock Pick—a tiny device by which the criminal can open existing locks—is the most sinister of instruments. It respects neither property nor life itself, and frequently is destructive of both. It is one of man's most potent enemies. In skilled hands it is as unerring as a rifle aimed by an expert.

Because the Lock Pick works quickly and silently and is easily concealed, it baffles the most efficient agencies of the law. It leaves no marks, no traces or other means of detection. No one can estimate the huge amount of property stolen annually or the number of lives taken by criminals.

THE ANSWER

MARK THESE WORDS, THEY MAY BE THE MOST IMPORTANT YOU HAVE EVER SEEN IN PRINT.

The Menace of the Lock Pick has been ended.

Samuel Segal, a former detective of the N. Y. Police Force, 25 years ago invented the Segal Jimmy-Proof Lock and thereby created a new scientific principle now adopted by all important lock manufacturers.

Now—after many years of the most painstaking research he has perfected the only lock cylinder that is impossible to pick. It provides absolute protection because its action is based on sound and proved scientific mechanical principles.

Segal Pick-Proof Lock Cylinder will shortly be obtainable from your hardware dealer for LOCKS OF ALL MAKES. It is inexpensive, will last a lifetime and is worth to you many times its weight in gold.

TO THE INDUSTRY

The Segal Pick-Proof Cylinder is designed for use on all Types of Doors, including Homes, Garages, Lofts, Offices, Stores, Penal and other institutions.

It will be standard for Automobiles, Trucks, Trailers, Boats, and Trains. Also Slot or Vending Machines, Vaults, Trunks, Chests, Telephones, Desks and other furniture, Padlocks, in fact, wherever locks are used.

There is an American market for more than Two Billion Pick-Proof Cylinder Locks. To supply the demand, we have arranged to issue licenses to manufacturers in various trades.

Want to Know Why You're Constipated?

Would you give a million to shake off that dull, dopey, played-out feeling that often comes with common constipation? Then stop a minute and think.

What have you had to eat this week? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? Probably the reason you're constipated is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines which helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat some Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains both the intestinal tonic vitamin B$_1$, and iron.

Eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. See if you don't get off your heels and on your toes! Kellogg's All-Bran is sold by every grocer.

Flush Kidneys of Acid and Poisons

Gain in Health and Stop Getting Up Nights

When kidneys are clogged they become weak—the bladder is irritated—often passage is scanty and smarts and burns—sleep is restless and nightly visits to the bathroom are frequent.

The right, safe, harmless and inexpensive way to stop this trouble and restore healthy action to kidneys and bladder is to get from any druggist a 35-cent box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules and take as directed—you won't be disappointed.

But be sure and get GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine—right from Haarlem in Holland—a grand kidney stimulant and diuretic. Remember also that other symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble are backache, leg cramps, puffy eyes, moist palms and nervousness.

HOSTILE SENATE GROUP TAKES UP MAIMED TAX BILL

15 of 21 Want Repeal of Levy on Profits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—Already mutilated by the house of representatives, the administration's tax revision bill was taken up for consideration by an overwhelmingly hostile senate finance committee today. A survey disclosed that fifteen of the twenty-one members of that committee favor outright repeal of the widely condemned tax on undistributed corporation earnings.

The latest member of the committee to come out flatly for repeal of the undistributed profits tax was Senator Clyde L. Herring [D., Ia.]. Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the committee and one of the most influential members of the senate, announced last Saturday that he favored outright repeal.

Today's session of the finance committee was occupied by efforts of treasury experts to explain provisions of the house bill and give estimates on the revenue each item was expected to produce. The experts were not prepared to suppy a breakdown on the revenue estimates, and were told to come back tomorrow.

Committee Twits Magill.

Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, was taunted good naturedly when he urged the finance committee to reinstate the surtax on the undivided profits of family owned or closely held corporations—the so-called third basket. This provision was thrown out by the house in a revolt against administration leaders.

Magill was asked whether he made his request of the senate finance committee with his tongue in his cheek; whether he expected the senators to believe that he was such an optimist, and whether he did not want to cry on their shoulders. One senator told him that it was Herman Oliphant, general counsel of the treasury, who ought to be crying on the senatorial shoulders. Oliphant was the chief proponent of the undistributed profits tax in 1936.

New Estimates Requested.

Far from giving any consideration to the treasury proposal to reinstate the punitive surtax on family owned and closely held corporations, members of the finance committee requested estimates on various schedules for a graduated corporation income tax that would eliminate the undistributed profits levy altogether.

Magill estimated the house bill would yield $22,000,000 less revenue than the existing tax structure, which is estimated to produce $5,330,000,000 for the fiscal year 1939. Members of the finance committee want to make up this estimated deficiency without restoring the so-called third basket and without retaining even the principle of the undistributed profits tax.

They also want to modify the capital gains tax by taking capital gains out of the income category and taxing them separately at a flat rate.

Graduated Scale Provided.

The house bill provides for a graduated tax of 16 to 20 per cent on the undistributed profits of corporations having net incomes of more than $25,000. On the net incomes up to $25,000 the tax would range from 12½ to 16 per cent, depending on the amount of income. The senate committee plans to eliminate the surtax on undistributed profits and increase the flat rates to a point sufficient to yield the desired revenue.

Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.] also served notice that he would offer his plan to broaden the income tax base, and there are indications it will receive substantial support. The senate actually passed this plan last year but later reversed itself. La Follette would decrease the personal exemptions from $2,500 to $1,500 for a married man and from $1,000 to $800 for a single person.

"I am not discouraged," La Follette said, "by the fact that this is an election year."

Spurn Illinois Plea for Place on Coal Board; Hosford Quits

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—In the midst of its second attempt to fix soft coal prices there was another upheaval today in the national bituminous coal commission.

Charles F. Hosford.

Chairman Charles F. Hosford suddenly threw up his job, insisting that President Roosevelt accept the resignation he submitted last November before the commission promulgated the price structure that crashed under the impact of court attack.

Denying the truth of reports of fresh friction in the commission and of his disillusionment over the whole scheme to raise coal prices by government fiat, Hosford said he had taken the step because of the necessity of returning to his private law practice. This he said was his reason for resigning last November, when the work of fixing the new prices had been completed, but he had consented to remain a while longer at the President's request.

Illinois Out of Picture.

The renewed resignation of the chairman and its acceptance by Mr. Roosevelt served to disclose that the political cards are still stacked against Illinois with respect to representation on the coal commission, although Illinois is the third state in the Union in volume of coal production and is the only leading coal state not represented in the body.

It became known that the Hosford vacancy will be filled by appointment of a Pennsylvania man, in deference to the wishes of Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], the sponsor, and of C. I. O. Chairman John L. Lewis, the proponent of the Guffey coal control act, under which the commission is attempting to fix prices. President Roosevelt refused to name an Illinois man to the vacancy.

Senator Lewis' Plea Fails.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis [D., Ill.] said that he had urged the claims of Illinois upon both the President and John Lewis as soon as he was informed today of the retirement of Hosford. But all he had to report was failure.

"The President is of the opinion," said Senator Lewis, "that since Mr. Hosford is a Pennsylvanian and since Pennsylvania is the foremost coal producing state the vacancy should go to that state. Another consideration is geographical. The President thinks that the east should be represented in the commission, and Pennsylvania is logically entitled to that recognition.

"Inasmuch as Iowa, Kentucky, and Indiana are represented on the commission, the President thought that the appointment of an Illinois man would unbalance the geographical equation. Of course, I suspect there are certain other considerations also militating against the appointment of an Illinois man. There is, you know, a feud between the labor factions in the Illinois mine fields. There might be difficulty in picking a man acceptable to both factions."

Hints Other Resignations.

Senator Lewis said he had discussed the matter with the President by telephone and had also made an appeal to John L. Lewis, the power behind the throne in all coal matters, whom the senator encountered at lunch. John Lewis informed the senator that there is no chance for an Illinois man, that the job goes to Pennsylvania.

John Lewis, however, gave the senator a ray of hope by revealing that there are two other resignations impending in the commission and that one of these vacancies possibly, perhaps, maybe could be awarded to Illinois.

Thus it appears that Commissioners C. E. Smith of West Virginia and John C. Lewis of Iowa contemplate resigning. The West Virginia vacancy, of course, will be filled by Senator Matthew M. Neeley [D., W. Va.], but John L. Lewis thought the senator might be able to pick off the place of the Iowa member.

Previous Efforts Told.

Both Senators Lewis and William H. Dieterich [D., Ill.] have been under fire for failure to get an Illinois man on the commission when it was organized last year.

The lack of Illinois representation in the commission became an extremely serious matter in the fixing of the coal prices promulgated last December. It then transpired that prices had been fixed that favored the coal states represented on the commission at the expense of Illinois, the only leading coal state unrepresented.

Some of the prices of Illinois coal, for example, were fixed at a higher level than the prices for similar coal mined in Indiana. As a result, Illinois mines began to lose their market to Indiana operators and it wasn't long before Illinois mines were closing and throwing miners out of work.

Following the wave of protests from Illinois and elsewhere, injunctions against enforcement of the fixed prices were obtained by 209 railroads, the city of Cleveland, and others. Subsequently, on Feb. 23, the commission revoked its entire minimum price schedule.

GOLD FIRE CART RESCUES CAT IN BLAZE OF GLORY

Village in Glow at Test of $13,000 Pride.

It must have been the urge of spring yesterday that sent Walter J. Seifert's cat scampering to the top of a fifty foot tree near the Seifert home at 3600 Simpson street, Niles Center. But as with all cats, coming down was something else.

Mr. Seifert got a quart of grade A irradiated milk. He waved it coaxingly. He got a bottle of cream. He tried kippered herring. There wasn't even the twitch of a whisker in response.

His Imagination Fired.

Then Mr. Seifert thought of a $13,000 investment the village had made four months ago—a glittering gold and white fire truck. He had considerable interest in that investment, not only as a taxpayer, but also as a member of the village board of park commissioners. He remembered that the truck hadn't even been out of the fire house since its purchase except for daily scrubbings and polishings.

To think was to act, and a few moments later, with sirens shrieking and all its brass ashine, the truck slammed to a stop in front of the Seifert home.

"Where's the fire?" the crew demanded.

Just as Easy as That!

Mr. Seifert merely pointed to the cat, clinging disconsolately to a waving bough.

In a few minutes all sixty-five feet of the new truck's ladders had creaked upward into the balmy breezes, the cat was rescued, and the crowd, which always assembles magically on such occasions, cheered wildly.

NORRIS GIVES IN TO DEMAND FOR INQUIRY ON TVA

Senators King and Bridges expressed the opinion that the authority conferred by Norris' resolution would be broad enough for a satisfactory ventilation of the TVA scandals without any preamble setting forth specific charges.

One paragraph authorizes the committee "to make a full and complete investigation of all phases of the administration of the Tennessee Valley Authority act of 1933, as amended, by the Tennessee Valley Authority." Like the King-Bridges resolution, it provides for a 5 man special committee, with authority to spend up to $50,000.

Paragraph Aimed at Morgan.

Obviously aimed at Chairman Morgan is a paragraph in the Norris resolution authorizing the committee to investigate:

"Whether any member of said board is holding office in violation of subsection H, section 2, of said act, and whether any member of said board has given aid or assistance, either directly or indirectly, to private power companies in suits for injunctions instituted by said private power companies."

Subsection H of section 2 provides that "all members of the board shall be persons who profess a belief in the feasibility and wisdom of this act."

Dr. Morgan professes such a belief, despite his charges of conspiracy, mismanagement, waste, inefficiency, and a lack of honesty and decency on the part of his colleagues.

The 23 charges made by Senators King and Bridges ranged from "scandalous waste" in the expenditure of public funds to "conspiracy to defraud the government in the purchase of lands for reservoir sites and as phosphorous deposits." They called for an investigation, among other things, of contracts for the sale of power to great corporations and monopolies to the detriment of small consumers.

SENATE VOTES TO BAR ROOSEVELT ABOLITION OF BUREAU FUNCTIONS

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The senate today approved committee amendments to the government reorganization bill which would prevent the President abolishing the functions of any bureau. Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.] said the effect would be to keep the President from voiding any law that congress has enacted by wiping out the operations of any agency. However, the President could transfer the functions of one agency to another and then abolish the first.

Policeman Is Discharged Third Time in Six Years

Policeman William J. Murphy of the Morgan Park station was ordered discharged from the police force by the civil service commission yesterday for intoxication and conduct unbecoming an officer. It was his third discharge in six years. He was fired by the commission Dec. 1, 1932, but gained reinstatement July 16, 1936, through a court order. He was discharged again last year for being absent from duty without leave, but was reinstated three months later after the civil service commission granted him a rehearing.

DAWN OF A DICTATORSHIP.

The house committee on military affairs has favorably reported the war mobilization measure known as the May bill. There is a minority report which blisters it, but the majority has thrown it into the hopper for passage. A few years ago such a bill would have been regarded as the product of an extraordinary legislative aberration and the committee which voted it out would have been suspected of having been blind drunk at the time. Even now it is impossible to call the intention to pass it sober, but it is at least calculating, persistent, and actually counts votes with the hope of success.

It would be difficult to decide which is the more ominous, the content of the bill or the confidence of its supporters that congress could pass or the country accept so unbelievable a proposal for dictatorship and involuntary servitude. The framers have brought together all the theories of concentrated and autocratic authority which in one form or another have been expressed in other pieces of legislation. The bill clarifies purposes which have been more than half concealed from many people. Tendencies which have been discoverable in piecemeal lawmaking and administration are definitly focused and definitly revealed.

The bill sums up to this: In the event of war the American people would lose almost every vestige of liberty to a war dictatorship, all comprehensive. The one exception would be the person fortunate enough to be engaged in newspaper work. The bill purports to leave him to be his own man. If newspaper criticism should be unable to stop the passage of the bill the newspaper critics would retain some liberties to distinguish them from the citizens who paid no heed to warnings.

The powers granted may be revealed in one section, as follows: "Whenever congress shall declare war the President is authorized to determine and publicly proclaim it to be unlawful to buy, sell, lease, or otherwise contract for any article, service, right, or interest in property enumerated in such proclamation or proclamations at a higher rate, rent, price, commission, compensation, or reward than was in effect at a date or dates determined and set forth in such a proclamation or proclamations."

Within that outline of authority is included almost every conceivable enterprise in which a citizen might be engaged. All that would be necessary to throw this country into a complete dictatorship would be to get a war. Wars are hovering over almost every part of the world and at times it seems impossible for any people to escape them, even if that people's government is trying wholeheartedly to keep out. Any government that wants a war can run into one by simply going around the corner. The government which would ask for such a bill is just such a government as would then get itself a war. Further, it may be said that a war fought under conditions imposed by this delirious proposal would be the most wasteful and desperate this nation ever was unfortunate enough to encounter. The industrial paralysis which would be produced by an autocratic high command bossing everything in the country would make the domestic situation a greater terror than the enemy at the front.

People may rub their eyes and tell themselves such things do not happen in the United States, but before they calm their fears they should observe the various elements which support the proposal. It has adherents who think that it would make war completely hateful. Therefore there would be no wars. Such people favor it because they think it immediately would punish everybody in the country so severely that the country would in no case tolerate war of any kind. That's a foolish idea, because a government with such powers made available by the declaration of war wouldn't need to pay any attention to the sentiment of the country. The disorganized citizens couldn't protect themselves. The civilian herds could easily be driven.

There are other people who think war profiteers not only make wars but get great personal advantage out of them. People who believe this think it just that every industry should immediately be expropriated by the government, all its managers put under military control, and all wages and prices and rents fixed by the control of all services and commodities. Translate those words into terms of human beings and they spell slavery. Many people may be misguided and misled by their emotions and be used against themselves by a minority which supports the bill, not as a military measure but because the government which would be set up under it is the sort of government desired in peace times.

Unless the real conspirators could draw to their support people who have emotional reasons to delude them this conspiracy to achieve dictatorial government wouldn't dare submit such proposals. A direct attack upon the American people cannot be made successful. Most of the people in Europe who have lost their liberty did not submit to it knowing what they were doing. They were led, step by step, with suitable and plausible pretext to believe that they were advancing their own welfare by accepting changes which, when finally completed, with the real objective obtained, formed clamps which could not be broken. When it was too late the people saw where they had been led.

NATURAL HISTORY OF INDUSTRY.

The house has thrown out the proposed tax placing a special penalty on family owned businesses, but the tax on undistributed profits remains in the bill. One folly has been recognized and avoided, but a greater one has been retained to work havoc on precisely those enterprises to which the country must look for better times.

Men who understand how industries are born and raised know how destructive this levy on corporate savings must be. Industries are born as the idea of one man or a small group of men. They start with barely enough capital to rent and equip a few rooms and buy essential raw materials. The mortality rate among new enterprises is extremely high. Those that succeed do so as a result of a struggle, frequently lasting the lifetime of the founders, during which by far the greater part of the earnings is used to repay debts and extend the enterprise. Year after year the profits are reinvested in the business to obtain more efficient factories, better machinery, larger volume of production, and the larger working capital required to meet larger pay rolls.

Only when this has been done will such a business command sufficient public confidence to enable it to float securities. Indeed, under the present regulations governing the sale of securities, it is only then that securities may be sold to the public.

It is in the light of this familiar business history that the undistributed profits tax must be examined. The tax will prevent the use of earnings as they have always been used to enable new industries to grow. To be sure, the bill as it now stands offers a form of exemption to companies with earnings of $25,000 or less, but when an expanding industry has grown to the $25,000 size it is just beginning to disclose its usefulness and its capacity for growth. It must continue to reinvest its profits for many years more before it is in the clear.

The tax will thus prevent the rise of new industries. Meanwhile old industries will continue subject to the law of degeneration. Changing tastes, changing techniques, changing managements will take their accustomed toll. The old firms will disappear in time and the new will not be coming along to take their places. The downfall of our industrial civilization will result.

The undistributed profits tax was advocated by Prof. Tugwell at the height of his influence in Washington. He knew what he wanted to accomplish. The tax was planned that way.

THE NEW YORK COMMUNISTS.

Gov. Lehman of New York was assailed by the state commander of the American Legion, the president of the International Catholic Truth society, and the spokesmen for other organizations to remove Stanley M. Isaacs, borough president of Manhattan, from office. Mr. Isaacs appointed Simon W. Gerson, a communist, to his staff as an examiner. Gerson was a reporter for the Daily Worker.

The governor turned down his petitioners, holding that the appointment was legal and saying that he did not intend to be influenced by public clamor even if he thought that the appointing official had used unwise judgment. Jeremiah Cross, the Legion commander, says that the governor's refusal to act does not end the matter.

Isaacs, the borough president, says he thought there might be some trouble started by the appointment but he did not think there would be so much and yet he states the very reason why there should be. The affair is not one of persecuting a minor appointee because of his opinions. Mr. Isaacs says he gave this place to Gerson in recognition of the part taken by the communists in the popular front election of the New York City government. That is the way patronage is won.

The new tactics of the communist party have streamlined the sheep's clothing. The party leaders have won a place of distinction in New Deal activities and they are wise enough to tone all their utterances down. Take it from Mr. Browder, they are merely slightly advanced Jeffersonians. The dictatorship of the proletariat is a Pickwickian term meaning democracy under the American form of government.

By bleating instead of snarling the communists have won a revolutionary vantage ground which is being exploited to the utmost. The party remains one of destruction, believing that revolution is an art in which the vanguard of the revolutionaries is kept prepared to seize upon the moment of greatest mass unrest and opposition weakness and grasp power.

Governmental tendencies in the United States encourage the communist belief that mass unrest can be increased and the propitious moment of vacillation hurried along. There can't be any compromise between democracy and communist dictatorship. That is why people protest when there is official recognition of the natural enemy.

Editorial of the Day

AN ECONOMIC LUXURY.

[Marion (Ia.) Sentinel.]

Of course we are proud of the new postoffice. One feels like taking off his hat when he walks into the fine new lobby and looks around—everything new and spic and span.

But really, under all the circumstances, was it good sense? What would the neighbors say of a man who conducted his business so extravagantly? Here is our country running behind every year in its budget in spite of the burden of taxes. And yet it adds needlessly a considerable sum to pay not only this year but for all time to come. The interest on $60,000 at 3 per cent is alone more than the rent on the old building. It will cost more to heat and light it, to say nothing of the janitor and care service which will alone approximate $2,000 a year taxpayers here and elsewhere will have to pay. The service will be no better. There will be no more business done because of the finer equipment. The money to build it had to be borrowed. It removes certain property from the tax rolls. Without wishing to knock, one can readily see how, as an example to the people of thrift and business sense, the new building is not all one might hope for it. And here is the very worst part of it. The people of Marion knew all the time that it was a wrong and an extravagant thing for the government to build such a building here. But we asked for it because we saw that everybody else was milking the government and felt we might as well have our share. And that is what's the matter with the country. And you know, gentle reader, no matter what your politics, that this is all true.

Optimist.

An elderly gray haired woman in an elevator in the federal building peered out at the second floor and asked the operator about the line of people. He answered briefly. "O, income tax returns." The old lady looked pleased, then, according to Attorney Lena M. Bernstein, she commented, "That's fine. Are they returning any other taxes?"

CLARENCE DARROW has taken his final leave . . . "I make as many farewells as Patti," he once told us, when he had accepted a difficult case after having retired a second or third time from the practice of law. His favorite poet was Housman and there are eight lines of Housman he quoted that perhaps set forth the philosophy of a man who believed there was nothing after death:

Now hollow fires burn out to black,
And lights are guttering low:
Square your shoulders, lift your pack,
And leave your friends and go.

O never fear man, nought's to dread,
In all the endless road you tread
There's nothing but the night.

THE FIRST TIME Clarence Darrow quoted the poem to us was the morning of one of the days of final argument at the close of the Leopold and Loeb trial. We were writing for an afternoon newspaper, and wanted a feature story in advance—before court opened—that would stand through the home edition. He took time to outline for us what he was going to say that day, and quoted the Housman verse he intended to interpolate in his plea to have the defendants' punishment life sentence instead of the chair.

"You don't know Housman's 'A Shropshire Lad?'" the kindly old lawyer asked. "I'll send you a copy." We both spent the entire day in court with the exception of the noon recess, Darrow speaking all day in behalf of the defendants, and your scribe busy at a soundless typewriter with a telegraph operator behind her to wire the copy into the office. When we returned to the office late that afternoon, there was a copy of "A Shropshire Lad" on our desk, with an inscription that indicated how the defense attorney felt about the case he had undertaken. The inscription, beginning with a friendly personal comment, closed with "during three months of almost total darkness." Occupied as his mind was he had remembered his promise, and had had a clerk buy the volume during the day and bring it to him to autograph.

MR. DARROW'S MENTAL BRILLIANCE, his tolerance, his kindly rugged personality charmed those with whom he came in contact. Pretty Mrs. Darrow once said with humorous malice she was going to write a book and call it ". . . And You, Too, Mrs. Darrow." She had, during her years with her brilliant husband, grown accustomed to having people invite him to do this or that and then add politely, "And you, too, Mrs. Darrow."

WHY FRESH AIR IS ESSENTIAL.

SOME of these days I am going to make a list—which will be a long one, I am afraid—of unfortunate pronouncements relative to hygiene. Perhaps the authors of some are misunderstood and misinterpreted. A few weeks ago a valued correspondent sent me a clipping in which a physician, addressing a convention, is reported to have advised every one to close all doors and windows of the sleeping apartment upon retiring. He added, "All the air you need can enter through the keyhole."

I hope that the speaker was misquoted. If not, I would take issue with him. Why not try an experiment? Take half a dozen healthy young men and permit them to sleep—for a few weeks—under the conditions described, noting each morning their responses to effort, alertness, and nerve and muscle reactions. At the same time weight and the state of the blood and of the digestive tract may be checked. Unless all scientific data on ventilation are sadly awry there will be evidences of lowered vitality, as well as depressed muscle and nerve efficiency. In addition, there probably will be enough influence upon the excretory behavior to be measurable.

Fresh air is essential to life. Nature has provided plenty of it and it is in circulation constantly. Furthermore, it serves as a tonic not only to the skin but to all functions. With most of us it brings a sense of well being, even of exhilaration.

The real trouble with stagnant or vitiated air [the terms are not synonymous] is not that it may be made up of more carbon dioxide than normal, or even less oxygen, but that it contains a number of other waste products. Then, too—and this is probably even more important—it fails to exert a stimulating effect upon the skin because of its increased humidity. This in turn prevents the ordinary heat loss which is demanded for comfort. While body activity is lowered during slumber yet combustion goes on—at a reduced level, to be sure—but with the production of a large amount of heat which must be dissipated. In a poorly ventilated room individuals are likely to toss about and change position far more frequently in an attempt to set up artificial breezes. Furthermore, bedclothing will be thrown off as heat accumulates.

It is well known also that the breathing of vitiated air for a few hours will bring with it a feeling of oppression, marked discomfort, slowing of the heart beat, an increase in the respiratory rate, and in some nausea. While there may be occasional exceptions, with the majority of persons illy ventilated rooms induce undesirable symptoms almost immediately.

An old experiment carried out by Leonard Hill is quite to the point. He and several of his pupils shut themselves into a small chamber. In less than one hour marked drowsiness and lassitude was felt by each. This was alleviated in part only when the air therein was caused to circulate with force.

The conclusion seems inevitable that we must provide living quarters—both day and night—with moving air that is fresh and that will carry away excretions from skin and lungs. Of course, no one would be foolish enough to expose the warm body to a cool or cold draft. The bed can be so placed that currents from the outside will not strike the occupant directly, and glass window devices and cloth screens are of value.

It would be a great joke on our friends, the ventilating engineers, if pure atmospheric conditions were a delusion and a snare; if all we required could seep in through the keyhole aforesaid. But it is obvious then no more can come in than goes out. So half the keyhole space would be devoted necessarily to the incoming flow; the other half to the outgoing. If the door should happen to be fitted with a cylinder lock even a spoonful would take quite some time to find its way through the mechanism.

I am afraid that a goosequill airpipe will not be adequate for most of us.

CONDIMENTS.

E. T. O. writes: Friends of mine tell me that condiments are bad for the stomach. I contend that their use in small amounts is not harmful, but in all probability, healthful. Who is right?

REPLY.

Condiments usually are employed to give flavor to poorly cooked or tasteless food. I am against them all. Why spoil the savor of delicious meats and vegetables with such materials? I can well imagine that the amount might be small enough so that no damage would result, but a little usually means more—sometimes most. The kidneys are likely to suffer even though the digestive tract fails to rebel.

ROUND SHOULDERS.

P. E. writes: Would wearing a shoulder brace help round shoulders caused by curvature of the spine?

REPLY.

Why not attack the condition in a much more efficient manner and visit a skilled orthopedic surgeon? The chances are that he can do much to restore correct posture. Very young children may be helped by a brace.

VALIDITY OF GIFT.

Chicago, March 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How many years previous to death must a gift be made to be exempt from gift tax?

2. Are quitclaim deeds considered as gifts and are they taxable at any time?

3. Is a joint tenancy deed taxable at any time after the death of either party?

A. O. T.

1. A gift made within two years of death is presumed to be made in contemplation of death and therefore subject to the inheritance tax.

2. The question whether it is or is not a gift would be determined principally by other considerations than its being a quitclaim.

3. The one-half that passes by survivorship would be subject to inheritance tax.

A quitclaim deed conveys such title as the grantor may have. In addition, a warranty deed carries an undertaking by the grantor to remedy possible defects in the title, but it is not wise to rely on such warranties. The important question is whether the title conveyed is clear, and the grantee should employ an attorney to make sure of this.

SPEAKING OF TECHNICALITIES.

Peoria, Ill., March 11.—An examination of the opinion of the Supreme court of the United States in the Ashwander case [297 U. S. 288,329] indicates that the TVA owes its right to existence under the constitution to the concept that technically the Tennessee river is a navigable stream. The court carefully states that it is "not at liberty to conclude that the river is not susceptible of development as an important waterway" although it "is not adequately improved for navigation and trafic is small."

Comes now Secretary Ickes and chides Mr. Willkie of Commonwealth and Southern for "exhausting every legal technicality" before negotiating for the sale of utility properties to TVA. Mr. Willkie mildly points out that Mr. Ickes' statement isn't true, but fancy Mr. Ickes raising his eyebrows at legal technicalities in defending TVA! TVA'S sole basis for constitutional existence rests on a technicality more far fetched and fine spun than any utility attorney has dared raise in court.

Hysterical, unreasoning, screaming rage is always rather ridiculous whether manifest on the screen, by Donald Duck, or in the press by his cabinet prototype.

EMERSON T. ANTHONY.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—The discovery of the world's oldest war wound in the remains of a fossilized man, made at a time when archæologists believed spears had not been invented, was described by Sir Arthur Keith, lecturing at the Royal College of Surgeons in London. Complete fossil skeletons were found in a cave at Mount Carmel which contained deposits recording the history of man in Palestine for a period of at least 100,000 years.

When the hip joint of one man was cleared it was found to be "shivered," according to Sir Arthur. A hole was discovered in the middle, filled in with cave earth. The hole had the shape of a four-sided spearhead. "We did not know," said Keith, "that such weapons had been invented at so early a stage. We believed the only weapons men had were stone clubs."

It was the richest cave, from the archæologists' point of view, ever opened. The strata began while man was still in an early age of stone culture, and left off about the time of Abraham.

The fossilized remains were discovered by an expedition led by Miss Dorothy Garrod and financed by the American School of Prehistoric Research and the British School of Archæology in Jerusalem.

The cave was packed with fossiliferous earth tramped down by the feet of prehistoric man until an accumulation of over eighty feet had been formed. In the strata were stone tools, fossil bones of animals—many belonging to an extinct species—and human bones. In one small cave excavated by T. D. McCown of the American school, fossil remains of ten people were found. Four of the remains were of children. Of the adults one is estimated to have been over 50 years of age.

Mount Carmel is composed of limestone, and McCown, realizing the impossibility of removing the bones piecemeal there and then, cut out whole sections of rock with the bones still embedded. Some of the blocks weighed more than a ton.

Investigations showed that the men of Palestine in those days were tall, ranging from 5 feet 8 inches to 5 feet 11 inches, but the women measured only from 5 feet to 5 feet 4 inches. Their vertebrae still retained certain Simian details.

Nowhere in the world today, said Keith, could there be found a local group of people showing the wide range of structural variation of the fossil Palestinians. Chins were at every stage of evolution—from a chinless stage comparable to that of the chimpanzee to chins of moderate development.

The discoveries, said Keith, had thrown light on the mentality of the early stone age mankind. The tallest of the men still held the fossilized jaw of a boar.

THE ROCK ON A RAMPAGE.

Stuart, Neb., March 6.—Accounts of floods along Rock river refresh my memory of that stream's capers in 1879, early in April.

Ice in the river was more than a foot in thickness and sound. Snow was deep and there came a warm rain. In less than twenty-four hours the stream was out of its banks and cracking of the ice could be heard far away.

I stood on a high bluff and witnessed a sight that to me, just a lad, was grand and awe inspiring. There was a sharp bend just below where I stood, but that mighty array of huge ice cakes didn't detour. A leader, larger than any of the rest, so it seemed, slowly but steadily moved on to a neck of land, not even halted by large trees in its path. They trembled and swayed for a moment and then toppled over to be submerged from sight in the turbid waters.

The river course narrowed at this point and a jam began to form. People who were watching the scene upon the opposite side hastened to their lowland homes. I could see them loading household effects into wagons, hurriedly hitching up their horses and driving live stock to higher ground. Waters rose rapidly and for a time it looked as if the entire low areas would be inundated. Then came a resounding crash followed by a mighty roar. The ice jam had broken. Ice cakes that had been temporarily halted by the jam moved slowly at first and then gathered momentum until they rushed on as if making up for lost time. The real show then began. Huge cakes were tossed high and the crashing, grinding, roaring tumult was almost deafening. The picture is as fresh in my memory today as it was when darkness came that April evening.

The following morning Rock river, though bank full, was bearing only a few scattered ice cakes toward their destination, the Father of Waters.

I often wonder if there are any old timers in Whiteside county who recall that event. GURD H. NICHOLS.

JUVENILE CRIME EXPLAINED.

Chicago, March 10.—In today's TRIBUNE Judge Harrington asks why we have so many young murderers, thieves, and robbers. I have taken it upon myself to furnish the answer. I am 26 years of age and have worked until last November. While working I bought a car, which the finance company will take back next week. Up to this time I have paid in a total of $680, only to lose the car. It is things like this that make a young man turn to crime. In a majority of the cases you will see that the boys were unemployed and members of the family were also unemployed.

ANOTHER CRISIS.

Chicago, March 4.—Americans, wake up! We beat the league of nations bill, the Supreme court bill, now we must beat this dictatorship bill under the guise of the reorganization plan, if we would be free people. Spread the news to all and do it fast. They are trying to rush this bill down our throats. I SEE RED.

GOVERNMENT AS LANDLORD.

Chicago, March 10.—May I voice my opinion regarding the federal housing project, located at 2000 Diversey parkway? Your paper printed a story regarding qualifications etc. for tenants some time ago. No doubt none of your people tried to apply there.

When you apply you find you make fifty dollars too much, or find if you have an infant you can't count him as a person until he's 2 years old. It's pretty tough when intelligent people are advised no allowance is made for a child until he is 2; probably the administration expects children to be born 2 years old. So far as I can see there's nothing fair about the management, but your hands are tied nowadays, especially if you happen to be an American born and raised here.

I happen to be the head of a family of four, three adults and an infant son 1 year old. You don't have to be a man to have family obligations, but try and make them understand that. My salary qualifies for either a four or five room apartment, but according to them I'm only entitled to three rooms, at least until my son is 2 years old. The point in applying there was to better living conditions for my son and family.

Don't you think some one could straighten things out there, so one at least can get some consideration or have the satisfaction of knowing it was on the square? WINIFRED E. HORTON.

CURE FOR DISCOURTESY.

Chicago, March 11.—In one of our largest movie houses, in response to numerous appeals, a slide is run at every performance requesting the removal of hats. Having attended a number of performances, I find that many hats are still kept on.

If so many of this generation are so utterly lacking in common courtesy might it not be a good suggestion for Supt. Johnson to put in a course of consideration for others in our public schools so that the next generation might be an improvement on the present one? The Parent-Teacher organizations could also assist in this through its members and through them to our younger citizens.

MRS. CONDIT VOORHEES.

THE BICYCLE MENACE.

Chicago, March 9.—With spring coming on and with more bicycles coming out on the streets and sidewalks, I think an earnest effort should be made to require bicyclists to ride in the street. Only today I was walking down East 55th street on the right side of the sidewalk. A sidewalk bicycle rider wished to pass some people, so drove over to the left of the sidewalk, right in my right of way. Yes, he nearly ran me down, and as I side-stepped him, he turned and said, "Are you blind?"

HAPPY DAYS.

Chicago, March 2.—Here are some new words for the Democratic theme song:

Happy days are here again,
Every one's laid off this year again,
Let us sing a song of fear again,
Happy days are here again.

All together, shout it now,
Prosperity's gone, we're without it now,
Let us tell the Democrats about it now,
Happy days are here again.

EXPLORE MINDS OF MEN FOR ROOT OF BODILY ILLS

U. of C. Clinic Starts New Psychiatric Program.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

With a grant of $150,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation and the research funds available through the Otho S. A. Sprague Memorial institute, the University of Chicago has embarked upon a unique and ambitious program of bringing psychiatry, or the study of mental disorders, into the accepted field of general medical practice.

It has been found in England that 30 per cent of the physical ailments are traceable to mental or emotional conflicts, working out into specific bodily ills. A similar percentage is probably true here, according to Dr. David Slight, professor of psychiatry, who has general charge of the research and hospital clinics at the university, where the majority of the beds are for free, voluntary patients.

A Rediscovery, in a Way.

This is, in a way, a rediscovery of the body-mind relationship which has been lost sight of in increased specialization and laboratory work. The old fashioned family physician, who knew the living, breathing human person, his history and family, worked along these lines. It is now proposed to give the modern medical artist finer, more accurate tools with which to work, to take the question of the mind out of the field of mysticism, for practical purposes at least, and to start further back, if possible, in the preventive field, long before psychiatry as a study of the abnormal comes into play.

It all might be called social pathology, for it touches the fields of education, sociology, law, and divinity. It is an effort to discover where the individual mind lost its balance, what stresses and strains have been set up that work out through the emotions and the nerves into observational ills. The unrest, the pace, the lack of security, the uncertainty of modern society enters into this.

Stresses Are Hunted Down.

Dr. Slight has found that the search must be pushed further and further back into the adolescent age, into the schools and homes, where stresses are set up that may work out into violence or physical breakdown. The whole effort toward individual treatment is to get the stranded one to accept life and its compromises, make his adjustments, not to reach too far away from his animal background, not to sink into that background. The golden mean, or the middle way, is indicated.

Dr. Slight feels that psychiatrists in the past have been entirely too much occupied, in an isolated fashion, with established mental disorders of severe degree, calling for institutional care. He compares this with the physician who does not see a patient with cancer until the disease is far advanced. He would begin work at an early stage, carrying this approach into other clinics.

Dr. Slight is conducting special studies on the subjects of migraine, the relation of brain waves to tumor, the effect of various drugs on the nervous system, the relation of the endocrine glands to the nervous system, and the chemistry of the brain. Teaching, research, and the care of patients go hand in hand in the institute.

BABY SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN HE SLIPS FROM ARMS OF HIS NURSE

Richard Allen Hoyerman, three weeks old, slipped from the arms of his nurse yesterday as she was about to weigh him in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. DENIES BABY'S PATERNITY IN ALIMONY FIGHT

Summoned to court yesterday to answer the charges of his former wife that he is $593 in arrears on his alimony payments, Louis Blum, 35 years old, a tailor, sought to have the alimony order canceled on the ground that he is not the father of her son, Sanford, 2 years old. He asked that he be declared to be the parent only of a daughter, Geraldine, 4 years old, and that he be granted custody of the girl.

Attorney Coleman Lochtan, acting for Mrs. Olga Blum, 23 years old, countered with the charge that Blum had denied parentage of Geraldine in 1935 when he opposed his wife's petition for separate maintenance. Blood tests taken at that time indicated that Geraldine is his child, the attorney declared, adding that Mrs. Blum is ready to submit the son for similar tests.

Judge John J. Lupe postponed indefinitly the paternity matter, ordered Blum to pay $35 in open court, and to make a sizeable payment by March 28 or go to jail.

Relieve Their Misery This Proved Way

WHEN your child comes down with a cold, you can't afford to take needless risks. Use the treatment that has been doubly proved for you—Vicks VapoRub.

It has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

Vicks VapoRub is direct external treatment. There's no dosing—no risk of spoiling appetite, or disturbing a delicate digestion. VapoRub can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

You simply massage VapoRub on throat, chest, and back (as illustrated). Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

No Long Waiting for Relief to begin...

Almost before you finish rubbing, the youngster begins to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break up local congestion. And long after the little one relaxes into restful sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working—hour after hour. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Listen, Kids

Hollywood, Cal., March 14.—It was Spencer Tracy's "sense of discipline, his loyalty and his sense of responsibility" that drew praise from Louis B. Mayer, when he accepted the academy's greatest honor on behalf of the mighty M-G-M studios. Mayer didn't say that Tracy was glamorous, or dynamic, or a genius. He said that Tracy understood why it was important for him to obey orders from the front office, why it was urgent to obey his directors, why it was necessary at times to coöperate with the publicity department in matters that were personally inconvenient.

Spencer Tracy obeys orders.

If Tracy, the No. 1 actor of his profession, was praised first for a sense of discipline, it's not asking too much of you kids to obey your parents, your teachers, your pastors, and your employers, for they stand in the same relation to you as the directors and producers of Hollywood. Tracy wasn't born with it. In Milwaukee, he was a self-reliant little Irishman as a youngster, and the Irish resent discipline.

Without discipline, however, your efforts become a shower of scattershot. John McGraw, one afternoon at the Polo Grounds, sent a young player to bat with directions to bunt at the second ball, so that the player on first could start with the pitch and reach second base. The batter instead laced the second pitched ball and drove a home run into the right field stands. McGraw fined him $100 and benched him for two weeks. "I don't want geniuses," said McGraw, "because in a pinch, the geniuses blow a fuse. To win ball games, I need players who will obey orders."

When the "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame were at their height, Crowley, Stuhldreher, Miller, and Layden began to feel their oats as collegians will. Knute Rockne, who predicated everything on disciplined effort, noticed that the boys were getting a trifle bumptious. In their next game, Rockne pulled out the first string linesmen. The "Four Horsemen," without the protection of a great line, were smeared on every play, thrown for losses. The "Four Horsemen" learned their lesson quickly.

I thought back to Rockne, at the academy dinner, when Joseph Schildkraut and Alice Brady received their prizes for excellence in supporting rôles. The greatest stars need support, as the "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame learned to their dismay.

You kids will notice, the older you get, that all of the big events of life, the page 1 stories, are built around homely little truths that your mother taught you. You will find selfishness and jealousy, against which she warned you, animating every page 1 murder story. You will find honesty, which she extolled to you, motivating every page 1 story of success or discovery. You will find charity, which she preached, in the epitaph of every great man.

You youngsters will say, in return, that Hitler disproves all of this—that he opposes people, cancels free speech, invades countries, mocks at a free press, mocks at religion, and still is successful. Be patient, youngsters. Compared to Napoleon, Hitler is a piker, but history tells you that Napoleon was dragged down by the heels. You can build an imposing mansion, but if the foundation is rotten, the mansion eventually will crumble. Hitler is riding for a fall, for nothing that endures is built on hatred.

Jimmy Durante has a line in one of his comedy songs which always gets a quick laugh. Durante says: "All gravestones read alike." If that were so, this would be a dreadful world in which to live. The important thing to remember is that all gravestones do not read alike. The gravestone of a Hitler will not read like the gravestone of a Lincoln; the gravestone of a Napoleon, despite the tattered flags of his legions, is not so impressive as the gravestone of Louis Pasteur.

Religion, I am beginning to think, is most important because it teaches us that we are to die. If people were more conscious of death, they'd live better lives. Test it out for yourself tomorrow. Go through the whole day, acting as you'd act if you knew you only had 24 hours to live. I guarantee that your family and your friends will be amazed at how nice a person you are.

Success is not all-important. It is gratifying, but not essential. I see the great stars of Hollywood, who are earning fabulous salaries, and most of them are nervous wrecks. The nervous energy they use up in an effort to stay on top makes them old before their time.

In Switzerland, at a little mountain chalet where we had lunch of cheese and bread and milk, an old patriarch of the mountains who ran the place got into conversation with us. "Your great cities must be wonderful to see," he said, "but sometimes I think that those of us who live simply and peacefully get more from life than those of you who are forever in tumult."

Short Skirts Flatter Good Chiffon Hose

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Consternation regarding the very short skirts and the diabolical front fulness rages in every shopper's mind unless she has a willowy streamline. Don't let the first showings reduce you to gnawing your finger nails. The short skirts are easy to wear, for the shortest effects are the gay plaited and flared dresses. The slimmer things and straight line skirts are long enough to flatter any good pair of chiffon stockings.

The front fulness in most of the costumes is also something to comfort the less sylph-like creatures. Soft materials that are almost fluid have been used so that bulky bunchiness isn't a menace to the peace of the soul. Jersey, in silk and wool, and luscious crêpe silks that flow into position are the fabrics used for this purpose. The shirrings, gathers, folds, and tucks have been contrived by experts. The result are as smooth as any one could wish.

Such dresses are exquisitely feminine, all hint of masculine tailoring has vanished, much of the fulness is shirred and then held in flat smoothness with narrow cross bands and bows. Chest fulness and waist line shirrings and folds are thus made as smooth as ever before.

Dinner gowns and dance dresses with this soft feminine fulness are exceptionally good finds. Dull crêpe with bands of lighter toned chiffon gathered over the front and thin wool with chiffon are good combines. In the evening gowns chiffon and net and more chiffon are combined in successive layers and in as many as four to six graduations of tint or color.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

"Father Malachy's Miracle," which had a blithe première in the Harris theater last night, is a play which cannot be fitted into the modern categories of drama. It is unlike anything that the American stage has seen since "The Green Pastures," and it bears no close resemblance to that curious work. It is a religious comedy, or rather a comedy of religious life with the Roman Catholic church as its background; and it deals with the supernatural in a vein of contemporary fantasy. Its spirit is humorous, and its points evoke laughter without ecclesiastical reservation.

There is, however, no irreverence in the play's approach to its subject, so far as my own sensitivity on this point is concerned. The amusement that flows out of its treatment of a bizarre episode in the life of a religious community is hearty, free from satirical impertinence, and in good taste. Its mood is that of a folk play, chuckling quietly over certain incredible circumstances.

This line provides the key to the play. In the atmosphere of pragmatic Edinburgh, where the ways of life are realistic, a miracle is brought about by the power of prayer, and it is indeed "upsetting," even for the gentle old monk who performed it in order to answer an annoying skeptic of liberal clerical tendencies.

The miracle itself is unlike any other; it is the mystic transportation of a questionable dance hall away from its site next door to a church and twenty miles through air and over water to a barren island. The occupants of this resort know nothing about it until one of them walks out to call a cab and falls into the sea.

This astonishing occurrence ends the first act, and the rest of the play is devoted to the consequences of Father Malachy's demonstration. The attitude of the public is not encouraging; and the response of the church is somewhat critical. In general, it appears that Father Malachy has committed an indiscretion.

At the end he goes to the dance hall, now more copious in evidence of sin than before, with his only convert, and prays the place back to its original site. His miracle is a double one, but the return trip cancels the flight; and thus life resumes its realistic current in the city that Scottish folk fondly call "Auld Reekie."

The acting is admirable and the production treats the atmosphere of the tale with persuasive illusion. Al Shean, veteran comedian of musical shows, effectively interprets the title rôle in moods of quiet drollery and high religious faith. The large cast is rich in fine character studies.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Spring ushers in feminine fashions and a new and exciting and ultra feminine perfume, a French honeysuckle that has all the sweet, haunting quality of the bloom. A cologne in the exact scent makes a subtle daytime perfume.

Honeysuckle is a scent for some women, not all. It's sweet, it's luscious. A curious blend of come-hither and the naïve. It's a bit on the heavy side, too. But it is intensely feminine—and men are crazy about it.

There is a new honeysuckle perfume just off the boat that is going to be a 100 per cent winner with women who love lush but subtle fragrances. It's what is described in the trade as a "real French honeysuckle." The sweetness of it at first sniff shouldn't mislead you. As it dries it gets more and more interesting without losing that basic beauty that gives honeysuckle blooms their haunting, almost overpoweringly beautiful quality. It's a scent you don't forget.

And in this new perfume it's a scent you must use cleverly. Being a good perfume, one of the best quality, it has sticking power. And a drop of it suffices where several drops of a less perfect perfume wouldn't. It's a perfume to be worn with your most "interesting" clothes. It won't do with tweeds, but it's a colossal success with your softer chiffons. And it is always a success with fur. It has a misty softness and sweetness that lends itself particularly to rich furs.

Though it's a fine perfume it isn't frighteningly expensive. There is a cologne in the exact perfume that we are particularly crazy about. You can use it lavishly. The fragrance clings, but because it isn't so concentrated as the perfume there isn't anything overpowering about the results. It's cool and sweet and springlike.

Good Morning!

[PLOT: The law finally catches up with racketeers who have been intimidating and collecting money from small restaurant owners.]

The none too original story is graced by some good acting. On several occasions suspense runs high. Romance gently tinges the scheme of things, turning hard boiled Detective Bull Regan into just a softy. Of laughs, you'll find a few—same being mostly provided by this same Bull, excellently played by Dick Purcell.

Also deserving of special mention is John Litel as the up and coming crime investigator. He does this sort of thing awfully well. Such a believable chap!

Lent Day by Day

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Very Rev. Chester B. Emerson of Cleveland, preacher at noonday services this week at the Harris theater, said yesterday that the world is too talkative today; that there are more talks and talkers now than ever before. That, he said, is the main trouble with things, especially when gullible hearers can be found in front of each soap box.

"Hot gospellers," said Dean Emerson, "have their little pulpits indoors and out of doors and the panaceas they offer for the credulity of the public. We need to take to heart the admonition from the Bible, 'Be still and know that I am God.'"

Goat Path Lets Garbo Slip By Watch at Villa

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RAVELLO, Italy, March 14.—Greta Garbo and Leopold Stokowski, who are expected to marry this week, appeared together publicly today for the first time since their presence here was discovered.

They had not intended that their appearance be a public one, apparently, as Miss Garbo scrambled 800 feet down a goat track of a cliff on the seaward side of the Villa Cimbrone where she has been staying. A car was waiting at the foot of the cliff. They then motored toward Amalfi, a nearby town.

Correspondents who had waited vainly during the last fortnight for any more exciting news than that Garbo was continuing to play her favorite rôle of mystery woman, took up the pursuit. They found the famous couple finishing a picnic lunch amid the famous Greek and Roman ruins at Paestum, 59 miles from Ravello.

The great Greta was hardly a fashion plate. In her anxiety to pass unnoticed she had dressed in long blue trousers—which she has worn ever since her arrival—an ankle length dark blue coat, white jocky cap, blue moccasins and dark glasses.

It was the strange costumes she wore that first revealed her presence. Peasants talked so much about the eccentric woman at the villa that tourists went to investigate and recognized Garbo. None of the local inhabitants had ever seen her on the screen and most of them had never heard her name.

After the picnic today the pair returned at dusk by another goat track, and Garbo carried out her now familiar ducking act.

In an hour and a half interview in the villa's luxurious library, he talked freely of music and the films, but skilfully ducked every effort at personal questions.

He denied reports that his lease on the villa expires in March.

Asked if his mother was coming here he asked: "What do you think of the Chicago Symphony orchestra?"

The couple may marry between now and the 20th of the month, according to reports coming from an excellent source. Beyond that their plans are anybody's guess.

When told that the chief interest of the public at this time was his personal plans, Stokowski replied vehemently: "I never discuss private matters of my life."

The gardens of the villa afford the best view in the district of the sea and mountains, but the gardens have been closed.

A policeman with an impressive saber now guards the gate. So do four large police dogs.

The couple now take sun baths on the villa's balcony, which is screened with blankets, since peeping Toms have been discovered in the shrubbery.

Greta has also gone pastoral. She makes daily trips to a nearby barn in the early morning to see a newborn calf and its mother.

SYNOPSIS.

Karen Gilbert meets Gordon Stone returning after eight years in prison. Gordon was framed by Karen's ruthless uncle and guardian, Lyn Gilbert, owner of Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. In town Gordon has an encounter with Curt Ford and knocks him out. Then Gordon goes to join Jack Turnbull, who is in hiding after trouble with Gilbert. Karen gets her friend, Hal Ferguson, to drive her in the night to the hideout to warn Gordon. Nearing the spot they meet three riders.

INSTALMENT VIII.

FACING DANGER.

The girl asked the question casually, but the man addressed took his time to answer. He was a heavy set, squat puncher known as Cheyenne. He rode for her uncle.

"Takes to an old cow camp," he said. "One not used any more."

"I don't quite understand why you spoke of shooting holes in us," Karen said sharply. "Is that what my uncle pays you for?"

"Sho, Miss Gilbert, don't get us wrong," he said. "We don't go around harming young ladies, let alone you."

"But other innocent travelers are fair game," she suggested.

Cheyenne explained. "We're on the lookout for a pair of outlaws—killers. So we didn't want any funny business. When you spoke, of course, we knew it was all right."

"Who are these bad men?"

"One of 'em is a convict just back from the state pen. Fellow called Stone. The other shot up one of our boys."

"And the sheriff has sworn you in as deputies to arrest them?"

"Well—you might put it thataway."

"You don't think they'll murder us if we meet them?"

"Perhaps you'd ride back with us as far as the fork," Karen said. "I'd feel safer."

Hal found an open place in the brush and turned the car.

"You're not afraid of Stone and Jack Turnbull, are you?" he asked the girl.

"Of course not. I'm trying to delay these fellows. They must have heard that Jack and this man Stone are lying hidden at the cabin back of the Landers ranch. We met them as they were on their way to attack. My uncle and his foreman Ford probably arranged it tonight."

"Yes, but not down the road. They were crossing it. I should think the idea was to get at the cabin from the rear unexpectedly. We're going to wait a little, so they will have time to get out of hearing. Then we'll run down the road and get to the cabin before they do."

"No," he protested. "If there's going to be trouble I'm not going to drive you into the thick of it."

Cheyenne drew up beside the car. "All right, Miss Gilbert. Here's the fork. If I was you I'd head for home. It's late. Time you get to the Scissors everybody will be in bed."

"I expect you are correct about that," Karen said. "Thanks for seeing us this far. 'Night."

Ferguson started toward town. The car had gone about a quarter of a mile when Karen spoke.

"Here's a good place to turn, Hal."

"We're going to Barranca," he told her.

"Maybe you are. I'm not." She turned the engine switch off. The car slowed to a halt. "We started out to save those boys, didn't we, Hal?"

She rejoined him. He kept the car at low speed to make as little noise as possible. When they came to a hill he shut off the motor and coasted down.

"Suppose they are on the road," he said. "What do we do?"

"Keep going. They'll have to get off it. Knowing who I am, they won't dare shoot. It will be the same way when we get to the cabin. There won't be any war."

At the foot of the hill Hal turned on the engine switch again. He had been running without lights, but with the brush hemming in the narrow road so closely he no longer found it feasible to do this. In any case they must be beyond the horsemen by this time. He speeded up a little, taking the jolts of the chuck holes as best he could.

"Country seems filled with absentees," he said. "Lady, can you tell me where your friend the convict is holed up? Or do we just cruise around till we don't find him?"

"Haven't the least idea, but it can't be far." She stopped, her gaze caught at attention. "Isn't that a light?"

He followed her pointing finger. "Nothing else but," he agreed. "We're on our way."

The car crunched down through the gravel.

"Whoever is there can hear us for half a mile," Karen mentioned. "Too bad if they shoot first and ask questions later."

Out of the shadows Gordon Stone moved.

"What you doing here?" he demanded.

"Miss Gilbert came to warn you," Ferguson answered.

"Of what?"

"We came to let you know you are in danger," she said.

"My uncle says if you want war you can have plenty of it."

"And sent you to tell me so?"

"No. He doesn't know I'm here. When he's ready to strike he won't warn you."

"I've had that notion myself. I see you know your fine old relative. And, by the way, just why did you come, outside of wanting to let me in on this secret of old Lyn's kind intentions toward me?"

Another man stepped into the fan-shaped shaft of light made by the car. He was a young, broad shouldered man in shiny lether chaps and gray flannel shirt. His warm smile was a certificate of friendliness.

"Go easy, Gord," he suggested. "Miss Karen came outa the goodness of her heart. I'm kinda in this, since the willing lads of the Bar B B are looking for me, too. I say thanks, and plenty of 'em."

"That's fine," Stone said coolly. "Now it's understood to begin with that I'm no gentleman; I don't have to make a good impression."

"You don't even have to be decent to a girl who faced danger to try to help you," Hal said, flushing angrily.

Stone lifted his eyebrows. "Danger?" he repeated.

"That's the word I used. We were stopped coming here by three men who told us not to move unless we wanted to be shot into rag dolls."

"Where?" snapped Stone. "When?"

"What three men?" asked Turnbull.

Are you at sea when the menu refers to breast of duck cut "en aiquillettes" or uses some other foreign cookery term? To help you out of such a difficulty Mary Meade has compiled cookery and menu terms into "The Culinary Dictionary," a booklet on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Chopped or ground almonds make "yummy" cookies yummier, enhance the flavor, and add interest to the texture of many another product of the kitchen. To otherwise soft combinations of food they add a crunchiness which is sometimes surprising but always pleasing, as for instance when one comes upon them in creamed celery. When they are toasted, so much the better for flavor.

These recipes may give a suggestion of the many types of food which have an affinity for almonds.

Almond Malted Milk Bars.
[Three Dozen.]

½ cup malted milk powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons milk
½ cup chopped almonds

Sift malted milk powder, flour, baking powder, and salt together. Melt the shortening and add brown sugar and unbeaten eggs. Beat until light and well blendcd. Add vanilla, milk, and nuts. Stir in the mixture of dry ingredients and mix well. Bake in a shallow, greased pan at 350 degrees for half an hour. Mark into bars. Let cool in the pan. Remove from pan when cool and break apart.

CREAMED CELERY WITH ALMONDS.

Cut celery in small pieces and cook in boiling salted water for about seven minutes, or until tender. Drain liquid and use it in making the cream sauce. Make a medium white sauce, using two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons butter, and one-half teaspoon salt to each cup of milk or milk and liquid from celery [less salt may be needed if the liquid drained from the celery is fairly salty]. Heat celery in the sauce and serve on toast sprinkled with chopped toasted almonds.

CARROT AND ALMOND SALAD.

Put blanched almonds through the food chopper and combine with ground carrots, using about two tablespoons almonds for two carrots. Season the combination lightly with salt and moisten with mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce or other greens.

Burnt Almond Ice Cream.
[Three Pints; Freezer Method.]

1 teaspoon gelatin soaked in
1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup milk
1 cup strong coffee
¾ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon flour
1 beaten egg
1½ cups whipping cream
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped toasted almonds

Scald milk and coffee and add slowly to combination of sugar, salt, and flour, mixing well. Cook in the top of a double boiler for five minutes, stirring constantly. Stir small amount into beaten egg, return to hot mixture, and cook for two minutes longer, stirring all the time. Add soaked gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool and add cream, vanilla, and almonds. Pour into freezer and freeze in a mixture of eight parts ice to one part rock salt.

Legion's National Leader to Address Edison Post

Daniel J. Doherty, national commander of the American Legion, will address Commonwealth Edison post, No. 118, in the Hotel Sherman this evening.

The Housewife

The double waffle iron is one of the neatest gadgets we've seen. Instead of baking one waffle, it turns out two at a time. It's shaped like the usual large, round iron, but when you have finished pouring the batter upon the griddle you close it and flop the whole iron over and there is another griddle on the opposite side.

This iron is made by a famous manufacturer and is well put together. It's easy to clean and it's good looking. It saves your family a lot of impatient waiting between waffles!

Are You 40? Be Smart and Act Your Age!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Life is interesting and it is somewhat amusing and perfectly grand fun for mothers of grown daughters today, as compared with the fate that was theirs when flapperism was on the rampage. Mother, or any woman past 30 for that matter in the eyes of that rampant generation, belonged in the attic along with all other outmoded home furnishings.

But Mom, and the other women over 30, turned on the young ones with a downright beauty vengeance. Whether the usually accredited most talked about woman in the world inspired the vogue for fortyish women or not, the fact remains that Mom and her contemporaries are reëstablished in the field of attractiveness and, we may add truthfully, are giving the young ones a considerable run for their money.

It would be ridiculous and false to say that the charms of youth can be substituted, that the profile of youth ever again can be obtained by a woman of midyears or thereabouts.

But does that matter to the older woman? Not a particle. She has her own day, her own standard, and her own pursuits. We have a theory that the young ones of the flapper period turned on them because older women of that era often were ridiculous pictures in their zeal to hold to a generation they had long since left behind. They didn't dress, act or want to be their age. Before the duchess of Windsor appeared on the scene, the older woman had found herself, found that there was much to extract, pictorially, from her own generation.

Run over a list of really important women in vocational and professional pursuit, and you'll find the answer to the importance of being one's own generation.

And this, we repeat, is what women today are doing gloriously. True, the modern interpretation of 40, not the old idea of 40, is adopted.

Quickly Relieves Miseries of "Morning-After Acidity"

WHEN YOU WAKE UP IN THE morning dull, headachy or out-of-sorts with yourself and the world, don't keep on feeling miserable. Your trouble is probably due to a night-time accumulation of excess acids that cause "morning acidity" and may lead to...

Constipation	Gas
Sour Stomach	Heartburn
Acid Indigestion	Loss of Appetite
Headache	or Nausea

To relieve this condition just do this: Take a little condensed JAD Salts in a glass of warm water before breakfast and almost at once you'll start to feel better.

Relief comes so delightfully fast because this sparkling pleasant drink acts on "morning acidity" two ways at once. It counteracts acidity and cleans away the toxic waste matter. As a result, it helps to make you feel fine and look fine.

Now don't endure misery—causing "morning acidity". To feel clean, keen, gloriously alive, start the day right...with a little JADS in a glass of warm water. Get a bottle of Condensed JAD Salts from your druggist—today!

The Arts club will give a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon to open exhibitions by Dietz Edzard, George Gershwin, and John Ferren. Mr. Edzard, who will be present, is known as a contemporary portrait painter. His pictures which will be on exhibition have been loaned by Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Curtis Munson, Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Gerhard Foreman, and the Art Institute of Chicago.

The paintings by Mr. Gershwin are those done in the last part of his life. Mrs. Ferren's works, which will be shown in the sculpture gallery, are abstract paintings on plaster.

Mrs. Goodspeed and Mrs. James Ward Thorne are both back in town and will be hostesses for the tea. Among those who have been asked to pour are Mrs. Munson, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Miss Emily Larned, Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, Mrs. Edwin Eisendrath, Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy, Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Mrs. Inez Stark, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. Edmund J. Doering, Mrs. John Crerar, Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. Kenneth F. Burgess, Mrs. Stuart H. Otis, Mrs. Sidney Gorham Jr., Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, Mrs. George A. Thorne, and Mrs. George M. Silverthorne.

Friends of China to Hear Dr. Hume.

One of the most interesting meetings the American Friends of China will have this season will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Miss Frances Whedon, 3 Banks street. Dr. Edward H. Hume, adviser to the Nanking government's ministry of public health, will speak on "China After the Conflict."

Dr. Hume will dine this evening with his son and daughter-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Theodore C. Hume. The Rev. and Mrs. Hume will give a reception Thursday afternoon from 4 until 7 o'clock for Dr. Hume, who will return to New York on Friday.

A women's squash racquets tournament will start today at the Winter club in Lake Forest, to be played through Saturday. Mrs. William A. P. Watkins, Mrs. Wilson Jaicks, Mrs. L. Thomas Kelly, Miss Peggy Hixon, Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, Mrs. Conway Olmsted, Miss Lucy Harrison, Mrs. Robert J. Dunham Jr., and Mrs. John G. Curtis are some of the women who will be playing.

Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, one of the club's best players, will not be entered. She has a cast on a knee injured while skiing at Sun Valley.

Edward K. Welles and M. Scott Bromwell won the men's doubles squash racquets tournament at the club, defeating Charles S. Garland and Carroll H. Sudler Jr.

Mr. Garland has sailed to represent the United States Lawn Tennis association at a meeting in Paris next Friday. He will spend three weeks in London.

Cliff Dwellers Will Hear Orson Welles.

Orson Welles of the Mercury theater of New York, whose production of "Julius Cæsar" now is playing in Chicago, will be in Chicago just for today, and is to be a guest at luncheon of the Cliff Dwellers. Tom Powers, the Brutus in the play, also will be at the luncheon, at which young Mr. Welles will speak.

The Rogers Hills recently returned from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Welles at their country home overlooking the Hudson at Snedens Landing, N. Y. Mr. Hill is head of the Todd School for Boys at Woodstock, where Mr. Welles first became known to Chicago audiences at a theater festival held in the summer of 1934.

Mrs. Moise Dreyfus and Mrs. Walter Bracken will pour at a meeting of Le Cercle Français at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. William H. Conley will speak on "La Poesie de Victor Hugo," and Marguerite Castellanos Taggart will sing. The election of officers will be held.

The junior auxiliary of the Children's Memorial hospital will have a spring hat sale Friday at the White Elephant Rummage shop, 27 East Ohio street.

Successor to "Basic" Dress

WOMAN'S AND MISS' ACCESSORY DRESS.

This charming princess line dress, except for its magical shirring, is quite plain. It flatters any type of silhouette and takes beautifully to a wide variety of accessory touches. It's the glorified successor to the "basic" dress. The neckline may be either high or V, and the sleeves, which are puffed at the shoulders, may be either long or short. No belt need break the long line of the frock, but if you're really slim you may use a narrow tailored one around the waistline without any harm to the beauty of the frock. The graduated panel down the front lends a long and slenderizing line, besides contributing a great deal of style to an otherwise simple model.

The original is fashioned of printed crêpe with a background of navy blue. The figure is pink. If you use a print you don't need any accessories, but light plain shades are so fashionable that you really should give the idea consideration. Picture a dusty pink or aqua crêpe with clip and bracelets in navy or black!

Style 3400 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Numerous examples of this pieced pattern have been found among the heirlooms of the early colonists. Quilts of the "Square Cross" design were included among the lares and penates of the English and Dutch settlers of Pennsylvania. The square is large, measuring 15 inches, and 42 pieced blocks are required for an all-over coverlet. The border is a half inch bias binding. Either printed or plain materials may be used for this design, or a combination of the two.

Practical Boy Usually Good Marriage Bet

BY DORIS BLAKE.

In Helen's background there is that one substantial friend who can be called upon in an emergency. Helen admits he is the finest of the lot meaning, by "the lot," the rest of her admirers and escorts. He doesn't enjoy as much income as some of the other young men, but he will not go in debt for anything. He has expressed himself openly on the subject of young fellows spending more than they can afford on girls.

Helen's other boy friends laugh at the cautious admirer, call him names, accuse him of hedging when he could well afford what other fellows afford. But Helen knows differently, because the sturdy one does take her out once in a while when he feels equal to a good spree, but tells her, too, that they can't afford another such evening again for a while.

Helen, of course, wants to know what we think of the youth and whether we think he cares for her enough for her to drop the others.

We are not in a position to know the state of the young man's feelings, but we do admire the boy's grit and his honesty. And believe us, in marriage these are excellent qualities in your man. He'll get ahead and save a few dollars, whereas the youth trained by himself to gamble all on a girl isn't the stuff of which matrimonial success is made these trying financial days.

Too, we like the honesty of the young man today who tells his girl when he can afford a spree and when he can't. And it is the smart young woman, and the one most likely to get early proposals, who recognizes the bald financial truths.

Choice, Though Small Exhibits, Worth a Visit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Four exhibitions, choice though small, are scattered about the galleries. The Hoosier Art gallery, 211 West Wacker drive, is showing the work of two men during March. One of these is Prof. Paul E. Barr of the University of North Dakota and the other is Dale Bessire.

The western landscapes by Prof. Barr are very effective. He treats a country which is austere and bleak, yet these very qualities give its landscape a certain dignity and beauty. More than a little of the definite atmosphere of Nebraska as depicted by Dale Nichols is discovered in these canvases.

In contrast to the sharp, treeless hills, the red roads, the flat lands, and the sky which is as full of character and possibilities as a theatrical back-drop, are the landscapes of Brown county by Mr. Bessire.

Indiana is a familiar country, one that is wooded and warm under its veils of mist. Mr. Bessire tells again, albeit very well, a story whose every word we know.

Having mentioned Dale Nichols, it might be as well to go to the Paul Theobald gallery, 104 South Michigan avenue, next and enjoy for a few minutes the entrancing array of tempera paintings by Mr. Nichols which hang there now. Twenty-six of these were painted expressly to be used in the artist's book, "A Philosophy of Esthetics," which will be published soon. These particular paintings are exquisite.

Dale Nichols' technique, which makes a large painting by him unmistakable, when fined down to the size of these miniature pictures, is irresistible. If you see nothing else this month do not neglect this exhibit.

Brisk and vigorous in tempo are the colorful water colors by Wallace Edmund Turner which, sponsored by the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts, are on view in the south galleries, Stevens hotel. The Edinburgh group is especially intriguing, being brilliant in color and full of action.

Ethel Couch Brown is exhibiting landscapes and still life in the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, and her exhibit is most attractive.

Musical Guild Selects 2 for Debut Recital

BY CECIL SMITH.

Raymond Hansen, pianist, and Ella Steele, soprano, have been designated winners in auditions held recently by the Musical guild, and will be presented in début recital in Kimball hall this spring. Similar auditions are held each year by the guild, for the purpose of discovering promising professional talent among young musicians and enabling them to make concert appearances at no cost to themselves.

Mr. Hansen, a pupil of Walter Knupfer, is not technically a debutant, for he appeared with the Illinois Symphony orchestra in the Great Northern theater Feb. 20. Miss Steele is a pupil of Harriet Case.

Last year's winners of the Musical guild's award were Louisa Hoe, soprano, who later placed first among women contestants in the 1937 Chicagoland Music Festival sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, and Milton Treshansky, pianist.

Elizabeth Rice, diseuse, accompanied at the piano by Burton Lawrence, gave a program of poetry, satire, and drama in the Woman's club theater last night. In addition to a number of poems, Miss Rice gave a one-woman show of two scenes from the John Erskine-Louis Gruenberg opera, "Jack and the Beanstalk," playing half a dozen rôles and reciting the portions intended to be sung as well as those intended to be spoken. Mr. Lawrence played bits of the score discreetly and sotto voce.

The fate of next summer's Salzburg festival still hangs in the balance. Latest reports promise that Wilhelm Furtwängler, an eminent conductor still in the good graces of the Nazis, will take over the four operas left conductorless by Arturo Toscanini's unaltered refusal to participate in the festival.

Willem Mengelberg of Amsterdam, Holland, one time conductor of the New York Philharmonic orchestra, is also said to have accepted an invitation to appear at Salzburg. The festival committee further announces that it is negotiating with Leopold Stokowsk. Despite these last minute overtures, the assertion is made that there will not be "any major alteration in the program."

According to CULBERTSON

A HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL SHUTOUT BID.

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Yesterday I published a letter which described a very unusual type of preemptive trap. A player, with a very fine hand and with distribution the precise opposite of what it usually should be to warant a shutout bid, deliberately opened with three spades on a four card suit. His reason for doing this was that he had as an opponent a player who regarded shutout bids as a bull does a red flag. As per his usual practice, this opponent rushed into the trap with a four heart overcall, was met with a double, and was defeated to the tune of 2,000 points.

The following letter describes the result of an orthodox preëmptive bid:

"Dear Sir: You have preached so much on the desirability of making it difficult for the opponents to 'get together' in their bidding that I am sure you will be interested in the inclosed hand:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

"My partner, South, dealt and bid three spades. West passed and I raised to four. East squirmed a bit, but obviously could not bring himself to a possibly fatal plunge, and passed.

"West opened the diamond ace and, on a high card from his partner, continued with diamonds. East won with the king and returned a third round which West ruffed. The defenders then collected a heart and a club, and we were down two, but South's honors reduced our loss to the insignificant total of 100 points.

"It was what we saved that made me so very grateful to the preëmptive bid. As you will note, if East and West had been permitted to 'get together' and exchange sufficient information they probably would have reached a small slam in hearts. As a matter of fact, due to the good break in the diamond suit, thirteen tricks would have been a laydown at hearts and, although the grand slam could not have been bid, even a small slam would have been bad enough from the viewpoint of partner and self. Of course, we were lucky in finding the adverse honors so divided that neither defender could enter the auction with impunity at the four or five level. But I have noted on uncountable occasions that this sort of 'luck' is quite usual after a preemptive bid. In fact, I suppose it is definitly unlucky to find one opponent with so much strength that he can take safe action.

"The peculiar part is that if South had opened with one spade, whether or not West found the courage to overcall, I, of course, would have bid only two clubs and East, with such splendid distribution, certainly would have risked either a take-out double or a two diamond overcall. After that West never could have been frightened out of a heart bid, and it seems to me that East-West would have been virtually driven to their correct contract by the mere fact that South probably would bid very high in spades as a sacrifice. East would continue to raise hearts and, ironically enough, what East probably would intend as a sacrifice heart bid would turn out to be a perfectly makable contract. Of course, all this is pure conjecture. The point is that after South's opening bid we had matters all our own way, and got out of a dangerous situation for a measly 100 points. Sincerely,

"P. M. T., Los Angeles."

My correspondent's thorough analysis of what happened and what might have happened leaves no need for further comment. There can be no doubt but that the opening preemptive bid did yeoman service for North-South.

Keep Child's Bedtime Calm and Pleasant

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Any one who has had insomnia or even any one who has occasional bad nights knows what a delightful thing sweet, relaxed sleep can be. I mean that such a person becomes much more aware of something which the good, sound sleeper takes for granted.

But if any one of those good, sound sleepers stops a little to think about it, she realizes how pleasant and cozy it is to snuggle down in the covers on a cold night; next, to relax, and then to feel that gentle drifting off into sleep—that blessed sleep that Shakespeare wrote about more eloquently, I think, than any one else ever did.

"Sleep that knits up the ravell'd sleave of care,
The death of each day's life, sore labor's bath,
Chief nourisher in life's feast."

Most mothers of babies and young children appreciate the delights of sleep for themselves because usually they never get quite enough of it! But if they would translate their adult satisfaction downward, and realize sleep is a pleasant experience for children too, and that they should keep it a pleasant experience, it would help them to prevent these trying bedtime sessions that so often crop up. It would also help them to correct undesirable bedtime or sleeping habits that may have already gotten started.

Normally, going to bed and to sleep is an agreeable experience for a child, particularly a small child. True enough, there comes a time around the age of 10, when a boy or girl often begs to stay up because there are things going on at night that he enjoys, and exceptions can then be made. But with the younger children, bedtime like all the other routines is an enjoyable time. It helps to keep that knowledge in mind. When it becomes otherwise, there's a hitch somewhere. We'll discuss that tomorrow.

"Mealtime Habits" is a leaflet helpful to parents. It will be sent on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Conversation May Mean Nothing.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow. He says he loves me, but I see him talking to a certain girl. Does he really love me or does he only say it for a password? SALLY."

He could love you and still talk to others, don't you think?

Apology May Reinstate Him.

"Dear Miss Blake: We had an argument and since then my girl friend doesn't seem to care for me. Please advise. S. L."

Maybe if you offer an apology you can regain your former standing.

INTANGIBLES TAX APPEAL IS LOST BY STANDARD GAS

10 Million Assessment Is Upheld by Board.

The county board of tax appeals yesterday upheld a 1937 personal property assessment of $10,028,151 against the Standard Gas and Electric company, a big utility holding company incorporated in Delaware, but maintaining a Chicago office. The assessment, which will produce from $800,000 to $900,000 in taxes, is the largest of more than thirty against Delaware holding companies placed on the rolls this year for the first time.

John S. Clark.

The board, continuing its policy of upholding the right of Assessor John S. Clark to assess stocks and bonds owned by holding companies, confirmed several other levies and will continue its hearings on additional cases today. It refused to accept the contention of counsel for the Standard Gas company that it was not subject to a Cook county tax on intangibles. The board held that the company was liable to a penalty for failure to file a personalty return. The $10,029,151 assessment included a 50 per cent penalty.

Two Assessments Confirmed.

The board confirmed an assessment of $996,316 against Central and Southwest Utilities company and one of $1,623,009 against Middle West corporation. It cut the assessment of the Byllesby corporation from $98,382 to $78,512 and that of United Public Service corporation from $510,477 to $224,347. The latter change was to correct an error in calculation.

Assessor Clark said yesterday he had been advised that the board of appeals so far has slashed $120,000,000 from the 1937 personalty assessments he originally made. The 1937 personalty rolls were boosted $283,000,000 over the 1936 total.

Seeks Access to 1936 Returns.

Clark, at a conference with the state tax commission yesterday urged the commission to allow him to use 1936 federal income tax returns in making up 1938 assessments. He told the commission that the increase in 1937 assessments was made possible by examination of 1935 income tax returns which were made available to local assessors.

The commission advised Clark that it would take his request under consideration and make a report to Gov. Horner.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday fixed March 21 for hearing on objections to the 1938 city tax levy of $72,705,480.

CASHIER ENTERS NOT GUILTY PLEA TO EMBEZZLING

East St. Louis, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—George Wuller, former cashier of the closed Belleville Bank and Trust company, appeared before Federal Judge Fred L. Wham of Centralia today. He was freed under $20,000 bond after pleading not guilty to a federal indictment of ten counts charging embezzlement of $190,000. He is also free under $25,000 bond on a state charge of embezzlement.

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle of Murphysboro, State Senator Louis Menges of East St. Louis, C. T. Ireland, Federal Deposit Insurance corporation examiner, and Harold Baltz, bank attorney, conferred for two hours in Belleville yesterday with Mayor George Remnsnider.

The mayor has charged that state and federal bank examiners should have discovered Wuller's alleged defalcations in time to have prevented the failure of the institution.

Cautious Flower Lovers Will Enjoy Rare Bloom

If you have the wind at your back, or a clothespin on your nose, you'll enjoy seeing the devil's tongue which goes on display in the Lincoln park conservatory today. It is a flower 11 inches in diameter and 5½ feet tall. Botanists are very proud of it indeed, as it's a lovely shade of dark red and it has taken them five years to get it to bloom. But if you like flowers for their delicate oder, they think you'll prefer the rose.

BLAZE ROUTS 28 FAMILIES; THREE PERSONS INJURED

Two firemen and a spectator were injured and twenty-eight families were routed from their homes last night by fire which attacked two adjoining four story buildings at 1504 and 1508 East 62d street.

Fireman William Warren of ladder company 16 suffered a spine fracture when a hose line broke in his hands, and Fireman Arthur W. Foh of ladder company 34 was cut on the hand by a nail. Pushed down by crowds backing away from spray from a hose, Mrs. Florence Gaskins, 45 years old, 6100 Champlain avenue, suffered an ankle fracture. She and Warren were taken to hospitals.

The fire apparently broke out in the basement of the 1508 building, and shot up the garbage chute to the roof, where it spread to the roof of the building at 1405. The buildings have sixteen apartments each.

The two roofs blazed so spectacularly that the flames were visible for miles around, attracting more than 8,000 spectators. The fire spread rapidly, and several persons escaped by fleeing down fire escapes. Joseph Maulhard carried out his small daughter. William Conroy carried out his two small children.

Leader-Debaets.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Doug Peden, red-headed, 220 pounds and the possessor of the largest collection of athletic trophies in the dominion of Canada, strengthened his claim to the bicycle sprint championship of the world in the Stadium last night.

A mere fledgling of two years' experience, Peden repeatedly rode up behind and passed such celebrated speedsters as Tino Reboli, Jerry Rodman, Alfred Letourner, and Russell Allen in one of the wildest nights in the 25 year history of six-day bike racing in Chicago.

Pedens Drop Back.

Old-timers called his performance the greatest since the days of Oscar Egg and Frank Cramer. But despite his tremendous bursts of speed, Peden, whose marksmanship sent the Canadian basketball team to the Olympic finals in Berlin two years ago, and his more widely publicized brother, Torchy, were unable to remain in a tie for first place and wound up the evening a three way tie for third place.

Reboli, Newark Italian, and Debaets, Belgian veteran, broke a three way tie for the lead shortly before midnight by gaining a lap in a jam that was halted when Alfred Letourner, veteran French rider, fell for the second time during the evening.

Other riders immediately complained to Referee Pat Mulvey that Letourner was falling purposely to halt jams. Letourner and his Belgian partner, Omer Debruycker, were in second place, a lap behind, tied with Jerry Rodman, Jewish youngster from Chicago's west side, and Bobby Thomas of Kenosha.

Reboli was the chief reason why the Pedens were not in first place. Apparently deciding that the Canadians were ones to beat, Reboli and Debaets have been giving them their undivided attention throughout the race. Doug repeatedly opened a wide gap against Debaets in all the jams, but Reboli invariably wiped it out by riding down Torchy. The Pedens did succeed in entering a four way tie at 10 o'clock, but were forced out when the field ganged on them during subsequent sprints and the Reboli-Debaets, Rodman-Thomas and Letourner-Debruycker combinations stole a lap.

Szamota Is Disqualified.

The day's racing embraced every thrill and mishap in the cycling catalog. The team of Willie Grimm and Louis Cohen, designated as the Jewish-American combination, was ruled out at the start of the evening's session. They were nine laps behind.

Late in the evening Henry Szamota, the Polish champion, who had been preparing for the race by speaking over the radio in six languages, was declared to be a menace to the safety of the other riders and disqualified. This left George Shipman of Brooklyn, his teammate, without a partner.

Shipman had been striving heroically to keep Szamota in the race and allow him to make a favorable impression in his Chicago debut, but Szamota was so overmatched that Shipman's efforts were to no avail. It was Shipman's riding alone which enabled the team to gain two laps in five minutes early in the evening. The crowd cheered him when he left the track.

Spill Halts Race.

When Cæsar Binetti was forced to quit because of loss of blood from a severe pedal cut on the ankle after the 10 o'clock sprints, his partner, Mike De Fillipo, teamed with Shipman and resumed riding in last place, 13 laps behind. The loudest cheer of the season greeted the Brooklyn youngster and he responded by leading De Fillipo on a lap stealing exhibition.

They had just about caught the field when Debruycker and Zims spilled on the steeply banked east curve, halting the race, but the officials awarded them the lap, touching off another thunderous crowd demonstration. The Debruycker-Zims crash was the sixth of the night. Letourner took one early, at the precise moment when the Pedens were accomplishing the theft of a lap that would have placed them in a tie for the lead.

GOLDEN GLOVES INTERCITY SQUAD STARTS SPARRING

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's Golden Gloves boxers, thirty of them, went through a series of one round boxing bouts yesterday afternoon in the Illinois Athletic club in preparation for the intercity championship matches next Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

Kenny Lottman.

While these boys who fought through the Tournament of Champions and the finals are from Texas, Iowa, Ohio, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Indiana, and Illinois, they belong to Chicago for the intercity tests. All are ready. None now is barred by injury.

Overweight Boxers Refuse to Worry.

There may be a problem of weight for two of the boys, Kenny Lottman, the flyweight champion from Peoria, Ill., and Clayton Johnson, 118 pound alternate. Lottman weighed 119 pounds after road work yesterday morning. He must weigh 113 pounds or less on the day of the bouts in New York if he is to meet the New York champion, William Speary, of Philadelphia.

Johnson weighed 125½ pounds yesterday morning. He and Lottman insist, however, that they will not have any difficulty getting down to weight.

Milton Bess, a welterweight alternate from Indianapolis, will be able to make the lightweight division. Bess was slightly over the 135 pound limit at the start of the Tournament of Champions but he is naturally a lightweight. Yesterday Bess weighed 135½ pounds, and since lightweights, with one pound allowance, can weigh 136 pounds, Bess promises to make a fight for the lightweight alternate position.

Two Rounds of Sparring Today.

The one round each boy fought yesterday was three minutes. All bouts in the Tournament of Champions and in the finals last week were composed of two minute rounds. The intercity fights will consist of three rounds of three minutes each so the Chicagoans got away yesterday on that schedule.

The boys will box two rounds each this afternoon in the I. A. C., the first four weight classes reporting to Coaches John Behr, Fred Caserio, and Paddy Kane an hour before the second group appears.

Frank Kalnrath vs. Clayton Johnson.
Bud Chapman vs. John Cronin.
Eddie Dempsey vs. Jackie Simmons.
Jackie Campbell vs. Joe Dupont.
John Benna vs. Johnny Loca.
Eddie Smith vs. Verie Davis.
Jimmy O'Malley vs. Marvin Liddell.
Milton Bess vs. Liddell.
Cornelius Young vs. George Mitchell.
Joe Benna vs. Mitchell.
William Muldune vs. Orlando Trotter.
Dan Merritt vs. Lloyd Montgomery.
Francis Shoulderblade vs. Babe Ritchie.

This same schedule of opponents will be used again this afternoon in the two round bouts unless, of course, injury prevents competition. In addition the boys will have the usual amount of gymnasium drills and bag punching. And at 7 o'clock this morning the Glovers will be out for their morning jaunt.

Squad to Leave for New York Tomorrow.

After tomorrow morning's road work the entire squad will report in the I. A. C. at 10 a. m. to begin their final boxing drills in Chicago. This will be a three round test for each contestant. Following a late lunch the squad will leave the club for the La Salle street station where they will board a special train on the New York Central lines. The special leaves at 3:45 o'clock and will arrive in Grand Central station, New York, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

RADCLIFF JOINS SOX; WANTS JOB ON FIRST BASE

It All Depends on What Mr. Bonura Does.

Zeke Goes Fishing

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 14.—[Special.]—Zeke Bonura, White Sox first baseman, who thinks he should receive $15,000 for the 1938 season, has gone fishing. The club's best offer is reported to have been $12,500. Bonura has maintained condition by hunting and playing sandlot baseball.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 14.—Rip Radcliff, who has played first base in some 500 games in organized baseball, arrived in the White Sox camp today and took his first workout, the fielding phase of said workout taking place at first base.

Rip, you know, was one of three holdouts when the last deadline was reached Wednesday, March 9. But Rip signed last Friday, headed west from his Oklahoma domicile, and reached Pasadena today without even getting his feet wet in a flood.

Rip Wants Bonura's Job.

Rip hollered to one and all during today's drill that he intended to earn steady employment at first base if Zeke Bonura, habitual holdout, remains stubborn. There are those who think that Rip is rather terrible at first base, but just as many think the same of Bonura's fielding. In his four years with the Sox Radcliff has batted .314 in 442 games. In the same four years, also the term with which Bonura has been a member of the Sox, Bonura has batted .318.

These figures are not presented as a prophecy that Radcliff, currently rated the fourth outfielder, will be a candidate if Bonura shows up. But the statistics may be taken as an indication of what may transpire if Bonura decides that he has too much money to stay away from his mammy and pappy and dear old New Orleans just for the fun of playing baseball in northern cities.

Sox Acquire Him in 1931.

Radcliff first was acquired by the White Sox in 1931 as a first baseman after he had played the position three years in Muskogee, Dallas, Selma, and other southern locales. He wouldn't do and went to Shreveport, where he kept first basing, but also did some fielding. He was an outfielder exclusively in 1932 and 1933, but with Louisville in 1934 he played in the outfield and at first.

After batting .335 in 142 games with Louisville in 1934 Rip finished the season with the Sox, playing fourteen games. In 1935 Radcliff played 146 games in the outfield for the Sox and none at first base. He batted only .286. In 1936 Rip played in 138 games and during several spans in the campaign led the league only to see his teammate, Luke Appling, eventually top the circuit with .388 as compared with his own .335. Last year, however, Rip batted .325 to Appling's .317.

No Word Passed Along.

No word was received directly from Bonura today and if anything new about the big boy's status was discussed in a telephone conversation between Owner Comiskey and Vice President Grabiner the word was not passed along. Zeke still has about three weeks to equal his all-time high holdout of two years ago, when he did not report until the team was a week on the road to Chicago.

CAIN SIGNS CONTRACT.

The list of White Sox holdouts was reduced to one—First Baseman Zeke Bonura—with the announcement by Owner Lou Comiskey yesterday that Merritt [Sugar] Cain, right-hand pitcher, had agreed to terms. Cain left his home in Carrollton, Ga., last night for the Sox camp.

N. U. Football Candidates Answer First Call

Coach Lynn Waldorf (with football) demonstrates some points of the game to a group of candidates who turned out for spring football practice yesterday. A squad of 94, one of the largest in the school's history, answered the call. There is expected to be particularly keen competition for places on next fall's team.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

AUGIE GALAN, Cub outfielder, lost 30 pounds while recovering from the effects of a tonsil operation last fall, but when he reported for spring training he brought along the original 30 and an extra five pounds, which he hopes to retain. . . . In a letter to Jimmy Dykes, his old teammate, Al Simmons, now with Washington, lamented, "I expected to get a cut, but I didn't think Clark Griffith would use the cleaver." . . . Barney Ross hasn't had a contract with his managers, Sam Pian and Art Winch, since Dec. 31, 1935, when their last five year agreement expired. . . . Twenty-seven players in the National league and 21 in the American list themselves as pure Irishmen. . . . Bones Hamilton, former star half back at Stanford, is alumni secretary for his alma mater and averages a speech a day. . . . Noble Kizer will return from Tucson, Ariz., in June to resume his duties as athletic director at Purdue. . . . Johnny Kerr, former White Sox second baseman, will manage the Vancouver team in the Western International league. . . . The proper spelling of Jimmy Adamick's last name is Adamcik. . . . The letters were reversed by error during the young man's amateur boxing days and he liked the new spelling so well he adopted it.

Walter Connolly, movie actor, bet $10, $10, and $10 on Stagehand in the winter book at odds of 100 to 1. . . . The betting handle on the handicap, which amounted to $406,994, was a new record for the Santa Anita track. . . . Jimmy Phelan of the University of Washington is prominently mentioned to succeed Bill Spaulding as football coach at U. C. L. A. in 1939 when Spaulding will become athletic director. . . . Johnny Corriden, oldest son of the Cub coach, is a freshman at Indiana and hopes a year from now to earn a varsity track letter. . . . Another Corriden offspring will enroll at Purdue next fall. . . . To get into Maxie Rosenbloom's night club in the heart of Hollywood one has to arrive about sundown. . . . Even the fact that Maxie bursts into a croon on the slightest provocation fails to keep customers away. . . . Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion 30 years ago, used to borrow text books to read while bumming his way from fight to fight on freight trains.

Having Income Tax Trouble? Bet on Menow

BY FRENCH LANE.

Suckers are beginning to nibble at the carefully baited hooks of the operators of the future books on the Kentucky Derby.

One wager of $500 was handled through a Chicago commissioner yesterday. It was placed on Hal Price Headley's colt Menow at odds of 15 to 1. In Florida the other day Mr. Headley warned one and all that betting on Menow is a very risky business. Actually, he told them to keep their money in their pockets.

"Menow hasn't recovered entirely from the leg ailment he suffered late last fall after winning the Belmont Futurity," Headley said. "He's about the most uncertain betting proposition I can think of right now."

Bourbon King Has Something.

At the same time a $200 wager was made on Headley's colt Bourbon King to win the Derby. The odds in this instance were 40 to 1. There might have been an excuse for betting on Bourbon King. He ran a smashing race back of War Admiral in the Widener Challenge cup. Both Headley colts will move to Kentucky from Hialeah Park about April 1. They've been in training in Florida for more than two months.

Because both Headley colts were backed on the same day, suspicious persons were inclined to guess that somebody who knows all about the condition of Menow and Bourbon King did the speculating.

Stagehand Is at 4 to 1.

One noticeable feature of the early Derby betting is the lack of backing for Stagehand at the ridiculously short odds of 4 to 1. This doesn't mean Stagehand isn't as popular as ever. It is simply a case of the price being too short on a pay or play proposition.

Pay or play means in the vernacular of the horse players that if a horse is scratched or withdrawn from the race the bet goes anyway.

Two other Derby colts which attracted backers in the early wagering are Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Mountain Ridge and Belair stud's Fighting Fox. There was light wagering on Can't Wait and Legal Light, while many are asking for the price on Sir Raleigh.

The latter colt, royally bred, which performed with distinction in California during the winter, will endeavor to capture the New Orleans Derby to be run Sunday, March 27. Should he do this the odds of 40 to 1 in the Kentucky Derby now quoted against him no doubt immediately will be slashed to 12 or 15 to 1.

Longshot players are bewildered. They can't find a 100 to 1 or 200 to 1 shot that seems to merit a $2 flyer.

MONSWEEP WINS FEATURE.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—(AP)—The Red Cross benefited to the extent of $75,000 as 25,000 turned out today for a flood relief racing program at Santa Anita track. The regular winter season closed Saturday.

R. C. Butard's Monsweep won the one mile feature race, barely nosing out the C. S. Howard entry of Exhibit and Advocator and paying $26, $8.40, and $5.80 across the board. Exhibit paid $3 and $2.80 and Advocator $2.80. Monsweep did the mile in 1:38 over a slow track.

Members of the family said window draperies were set on fire by a short circuit in a lamp cord and that Braddock was burned in pulling them down.

ROOKIES HELD TO 3 HITS; LEE YIELDS 2 RUNS

Top of Batting Order Comes Through.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 14.—The pitching fellows among the Cubs got around to doing some serious work today and the result was a scarcity of base hits in the fourth of the camp series between the regulars and yannigans. A big portion of the limited hitting accomplished in seven innings of play was done by the regulars, hence a 2 to 0 triumph for them over the second stringers who now have been slapped down four times with one more game coming up.

Part of the grief heaped upon the yannigans can be credited to Grandpa Charley Root's maiden mound appearance of the year. The 39 year old youngster reeled off three innings in such speedy fashion that only one yannigan reached base. This honor went to Rookie Jim Asbell, who opened the second inning with a single to left. He was still on first base when the inning was concluded.

Shoun Yields Only Two Hits.

After Root had shown his opponents these fancy pitching didoes Clyde Shoun, the left hander, was elected to finish the job. The southpaw refused to give up anything more than two hits and a pass. One of the two hits was a scratch with which Freshman Tony York led off in the fourth. A double play in which Hack, Herman, and Cavarretta looked like big leaguers erased this chance. The other hit was a single by Tuck Stainback after two were gone in the fifth. Asbell drew the only pass with one out in the seventh and the infielders took care of this with a couple of scorching forceouts.

The regulars had to look at the pitching dispensed by Bill Lee and Larry French. Lee, although not exactly weak, was the victim of all the scoring. Four hits in the first two innings proved his undoing. In the third he was nicked for another hit, this one by Demaree. He escaped from a tough spot in the fourth only because of a double play started by Steve Mesner after Jurges had singled and O'Dea had walked with one out. French's three innings were marred only by a single by Galan in the fifth and a double by Jurges in the sixth.

Galan Gets a Single.

The top portion of the regular batting order functioned neatly against Lee in the first inning and a run was produced. Galan, who seems to be the favorite for left field although the battle for the position will continue indefinitly, opened with a single to center. He languished on first while Herman was flying to center, but was able to move along to second on Cavarretta's infield out. Demaree then spanked a single into center and Galan scooted across the plate. The incident closed on Marty's fly to Asbell in left.

The same neatness prevailed in the second inning when the regulars assessed Lee for the other run. Hack led off with a double to left and got over to third on Jurges' tap to York. Lee took care of O'Dea by slipping over a called third strike. Just when the scoring opportunity was expected to die without results, Root sailed a double over Asbell's head, Hack scoring. The inning ended when Garbark, the third string catcher who will spend a good part of the summer warming up pitchers, scooted back to capture a foul off Galan's bat.

Leave Island Thursday.

What remains of the annual visit to the island camp will be handled in leisurely fashion. Tomorrow the pitchers will be given schooling in the art of dashing over to cover first base. On Wednesday the final of the five game camp series will be held. On Thursday the boys will be treated to a short all-round drill after which they'll grab their satchels and climb aboard the boat for the mainland.

During the batting practice prior to today's game Curt Davis was among the pitchers who served to the hitters. The former Philly actually cut loose in surprising fashion. There was no occasion for bearing down, but Davis elected to display his wares as proof that he has no hangover of the arm trouble which kept him in the invalid class until after the first half of the 1937 race had elapsed.

94 Report at N. U.

Coach Lynn Waldorf greeted ninety-four players at the opening of spring football practice at Northwestern yesterday. It was one of the largest Northwestern football squads ever to report.

A large portion of yesterday's turnout consisted of freshmen, all but three of last year's numeral men reporting. The coaching staf will utilize the six weeks' spring drill in acquainting these newcomers with Waldorf's system of play.

Among the freshmen who will be given a trial at the position are Paul Soper of Muskegon, Mich., and Roland Ortmayer of Glendive, Mont., both of whom turned in promising performances last fall.

Jackson, Mich., bowlers continued their high shooting in the American Bowling Congress tournament in the Coliseum yesterday when Bob Glick and Ed Hardy totaled 1,218 for fourth place in the doubles.

Robert Johnson and Walter Reinhardt of St. Louis, Mo., slipped into a tie for tenth with the week-old score of John Colombo and Jules Benetti of Clinton, Ind., at 1209. Al Talerico of St. Paul, Minn., broke into the all-events honor list with 1,839 for ninth position.

Follows a Precedent.

Wallie Wellman, A. B. C. veteran from Findlay, O., climbed into a tie for fifth place in the all-events standing with 1,847. He shot 688 with the Jerry Insurance company team, slipped to 523 in the doubles, and came back in the singles with 640 on games of 225, 225, and 190.

Five Municipal court judges, Stephen Adamowski, Edward Scheffler, Joseph Hermes, Michael Kasper, and Harold O'Connell, captain of the team, rolling as the Status Quo five, totaled 2,130 on games of 690—775—665. The quintet rolled far below its expected form. Judge O'Connell drew the difficult 1-2-10 spare in the opening frame, made the shot, but stepped over the line for a foul.

He Has a Date with a Man Named Joe

Thomas Opens Workouts for Louis Battle

Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis will open training this afternoon in Trafton's gymnasium for his 15 round bout with Harry Thomas in Chicago Stadium on April 1. In case he decides to do some boxing, George Nicholson, New York sparmate, will be available.

Thomas, who arrived from his farm near Eagle Bend, Minn., yesterday, went through a light drill upon his arrival. He expects to start sparring today. He will work out at 1:30 p. m., an hour before Louis is scheduled.

Announce Price Schedule.

About the time Thomas was going through his routine yesterday a loop betting commissioner quoted the Eagle Bend slugger at 20 to 1, but a rival's quotations of 3 to 1 were taken more seriously by fans.

Stadium box office men said 20,094 tickets are available for the bout. The number of seats in each price range follow:

Five thousand five hundred and eighty-four at $10, 1,852 at $7.50, 5,962 at $6, 3,175 at $3, and 3,518 at $2.

No Schmeling Date Set.

Walter St. Denis, New York publicity associate of Promoter Jacobs, said yesterday no date or site for the Louis-Schmeling title contest has been set as yet and that reports to the contrary "are just guesses."

St. Denis added that Chicago still has the inside track. A recent report from Detroit stated it would be held in that city.

St. Denis denied a rumor that Louis will retire after his match with Schmeling.

Who Knows?

You passed me by one day nor deigned to look,
So busy with your many friends you were;
But I inscribed you in my heart's poor book
And said each night for you a fervent prayer.

So many girls have played to you each day
To hold your fancy for a passing hour,
No wonder that your eyes were turned away
From me, the crippled one, the broken flower.

Yet at the last when those may prove untrue
For that they fed the pride which was your sin,
Who knows but that the prayers I said for you
May swing the Great White Gates to let you in. —T. E. B.

Umpire Kolls Misses One and It Breaks His Nose

Lakeland, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—The Detroit Tiger camp reported its first casualty of the spring training season today—Umpire Lou Kolls. Kolls, training with the Tigers for his job of calling them in the American league, romped around unofficially at shortstop and met a mild disaster. A bad hop on a drive by Ray Hayworth broke Kolls' nose.

Hawks Battle Americans in Bid for Playoff

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—Of the three battles in the National Hocky league tomorrow night two are certain to be hard fought affairs since the Detroit Red Wings and the Chicago Blackhawks, two of the teams involved, still are in a last week battle for a playoff chance.

On previous performances the Americans are pronounced favorites to win from the Blackhawks who have not been able to take a game from Red Dutton's players. They shut out the Hawks in the first three games and held them to a tie the last two.

Red Wings Are Favorites.

Despite the fact that they are playing on the Canadiens' ice in Montreal tomorrow night, the champion Red Wings, who have not played like champions at all this season, are nevertheless the favorites. They have beaten the Canadiens two straight in Montreal.

Although the Red Wings won over the Hawks in Detroit yesterday, they still must win their remaining three bookings or win two and tie one to qualify should the Hawks lose their last two games. The Hawks can make sure of a playoff berth by winning from either the Americans or the Boston Bruins, their last two 1937-'38 opponents.

Maroons Meet Boston.

A third contest in Boston involves the Montreal Maroons, who have been eliminated from cup competition, and the Bruins, who cannot be dislodged from their position at the top of the American section and the league as well.

Games Tonight

Montreal Maroons at Boston.
Detroit at Montreal Canadiens.
Chicago at New York Americans.

DRILLON WIDENS MARGIN

MONTREAL, March 14.—[Special.]—Gordon Drillon of the Toronto Maple Leafs has widened his scoring margin over his rivals by adding two points to his last week's total, according to statistics issued from league headquarters today. Drillon leads all point makers as well as actual scorers with 24 goals and as many assists for forty-eight points. Second is Drillon's teammate, Syl Apps, with 20 goals and 25 assists for 45 points.

CANADIAN PACIFIC ROAD'S EARNINGS HIGHER FOR 1937

Several Lines Report Loss for January.

The Canadian Pacific railway's annual report for 1937, issued yesterday, showed an increase in earnings over 1936. Net losses for January were reported by a number of other roads.

Net income of Canadian Pacific last year was $9,462,284, an increase of $3,433,100 over the 1936 net of $6,029,184. Gross revenues for the year were $145,085,558, against $138,562,763 in the preceding year. The road's earnings in 1937 exceeded corresponding 1936 results through July, but fell below 1936 figures from August through December.

The Chicago and North Western railway reported a net loss for January of $2,056,416, compared with a loss of $1,627,728 in January, 1936.

Santa Fe Reports Loss.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway reported net loss of $1,778,124 in January. This compared with a net income of $293,136 in the corresponding 1936 month.

Gross revenues of the Southern Railway system in the first week of March amounted to $2,129,665, compared with $2,774,394 in the corresponding 1937 period. From Jan. 1 to March 7 gross was $20,017,371, against $24,793,996 last year.

Freight revenues of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad in February was about 25 per cent less than a year ago, and total operating revenues were down 15 per cent.

Predicts $1,000,000 Deficit.

Palmer said the road's net loss for February would be more than $1,000,000. January net loss was $1,173,409. Palmer predicted March freight revenues would be about the same percentage lower than 1937 results as February.

Union Pacific.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate your including Union Pacific in your railroad reports.—R. V.

Answer: Extending westward from Omaha and Kansas City, the Union Pacific railroad is a 9,900 mile railroad system with track in the states of Nebraska, Missouri, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Montana, Nevada, California, Oregon, Washington, and Idaho. In addition to Kansas City and Omaha, important cities served include Denver, Salt Lake, Los Angeles, Butte, Spokane, Seattle, and Portland.

The Union Pacific Railroad company also has large investments in oil, real estate, and other transportation agencies which provide important sources of revenue.

In line with a progressive policy, the management of Union Pacific railroad has speeded up freight service and modernized passenger equipment. Streamlined passenger trains now operate on principal main lines of the system. Freight trafic is exceptionally well diversified and the system as a whole has the highest trafic density of all the major railroads operating in the west as well as the longest average haul of any road in the United States. The Union Pacific Railroad company owns a half interest in the Pacific Fruit Express company.

Along with those of other carriers, revenues of the Union Pacific railroad turned downward in October and for January had fallen to $10,580,823 from $12,501,622 in January, 1937. For all of 1937 the system had gross revenues of $162,064,311 and net income of $17,655,516, equal to $6.15 a common share, compared with 1936 gross revenues of $155,213,583 and net income of $22,208,535, or $8.20 a common share. Fixed charges were 2.24 times covered in 1937, against 2.51 times in 1936.

Net income was smaller in 1937 than in any depression year, the smallest previous net income in the last decade being the $18,535,529, or $6.55 a common share, earned in 1935. Factors contributing to the lower 1937 earnings included higher costs of materials and supplies, higher wages, and large outlays for modernization of equipment. The road also made important purchases of new equipment or constructed it in the road's own shops.

Total funded debt of the system is a little under $350,000,000. The road also has 995,431 shares of $100 par, noncumulative preferred stock, and 2,220,910 shares of $100 par common stock outstanding. The common is paying dividends at the rate of $6 a year.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

CAPITAL FLEES EUROPE; SEEKS SAFETY IN U. S.

American Stocks, Dollars Bought.

Most of the financial markets of the world reacted sharply yesterday to Germany's annexation of Austria and the unsettled French political situation. The chief reaction was a renewed flight of European capital into American currency and securities as continental investors stampeded to transfer their funds.

In the New York market Austrian bonds plunged to half their former market value as the result of the absorption of that country by Nazi Germany. Dealings in Austrian currency were suspended because dealers had no idea what it might be worth in the future. On the other hand, bonds of Czechoslovakia closed higher after early weakness. Other foreign currencies, including the British pound sterling, were lower.

Buy American Securities.

European investors' fears of war also were apparent in the buying of American securities in the London and Paris stock markets. In both markets American issues moved upward strongly, whereas domestic stocks and bonds were depressed under heavy selling.

In the New York foreign exchange market the value of the French franc fell yesterday to the lowest level since Oct. 28, 1926, in terms of the present devalued dollar. British and Dutch funds also tumbled to new lows for the year or longer. Final quotations for almost all European currencies except the Swiss franc were around lowest levels of the day in New York.

The French franc finished at 3.04 cents, off 0.16 of a cent from Saturday. This price was equivalent to 1.79 cents in terms of the pre-devaluation dollar, a low record.

Value of Franc Compared.

Before stabilization of the French currency in 1926, the franc touched 1.95 cents, a quotation which was not repeated until the Camille Chautemps government resigned last Thursday after parliament refused it extraordinary power to deal with the latest French financial crisis.

The alarm in France centered around the formation of a new leftist government by Leon Blum, who had encountered financial troubles last fall as head of a Popular Front ministry. It was reported that Premier Blum contemplates revalorization of the Bank of France's gold reserves.

The British pound broke to $4.48⅝, off 1 cent, and the Dutch guilder sank 0.11 cent to 55.59 cents, both at new 1938 lows. The Swiss franc finished 0.04 cent lower at 23.03 cents, after being down as much as 0.07 cent, and the Belgium belga sagged 0.02 cent to 16.83½ cents. The German mark, under rigid control of German exchange authorities, again was weak, falling 0.05 cent to 40.22 cents.

Heavy Trading in London.

Although some of the refugee foreign funds sought a haven in British currency, by far the largest movement from continental Europe was toward the United States. Trading was heavy, particularly in the important London foreign exchange market, and only the support of the various official stabilization funds prevented the currencies from plunging further.

The French franc continued to be offered heavily even after the close of official trading in London, Paris, and Amsterdam. Recovery of the Swiss franc in New York followed improvement in European markets.

Austrian Bonds Plunge.

In the New York bond market Austrian 7s of 1957 closed at 36½, off 37½ points. Sellers wandered about a long time before buyers at any price appeared. Then $17,000, face value of the 7s, were sold at figures that never veered more than ⅛ from the 36½ level.

Strength in the Czech liens followed indication by Britain's Prime Minister Chamberlain that the United Kingdom would match gun for gun and plane for plane with expanding pan-Germanic armaments, and his statement Britain "must always be interested in developments in central Europe." Czech 8s of '52 ended at 93½, up 1½.

The bonds of Poland withered in a minor sinking spell. Polish 7s closed at 73, off 5⅛, and the 6s at 55, off 5. German 5½s held steady at 26, but the 7s dropped 2⅛ at 31¾. Belgian 6s dipped 1½ at 104. French 7½s, stamped, at 108½ were off ⅛.

MORGENTHAU'S COMMENT.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau asserted today that the American dollar, withstanding the shocks of Europe's troubled affairs, "is still the strongest currency in the world."

"It is quite remarkable," the treasury head said at a press conference, "that in the last few days the business of America has not been affected by what was going on in Europe, thanks to the tripartite agreement, the stabilization fund, and the sterilization fund."

The secretary said the tripartite agreement, under which the United States, England, France, Belgium, Holland, and Switzerland are pledged to stabilize international exchange, is still functioning well, despite the critical condition of the French franc.

World Silver Production Shows January Decline

New York, March 14.—(AP)—World production of silver, excluding Mexico, totaled 14,959,000 fine ounces in January, compared with 15,570,000 in December and 16,655,000 in November, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reported today.

Versatile Rail-Road Locomotive

This locomotive, on exhibit here, runs on rails or highways. It is said to be extremely useful for switching operations. After completing a switching job on one spur, it can cut across country to work on another track.

Road or Rails, It's All Same to New Engine

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

A railroad freight locomotive that travels over tracks or roads with equal facility is one of the features of the exhibition of the National Railway Appliance association, which opened yesterday at the International amphitheater. This locomotive in appearance resembles a miniature electric or Diesel-electric switch locomotive with the cab placed in the center.

E. S. Evans, president of the Evans Products company, the builder, said locomotives of this type provide one way to operating economies which should permit the railroads to meet on a more satisfactory basis the competitors that use the public highways.

Operating Cost Low.

"This particular type of locomotive," he said, "is especially fitted for branch line operations where the trafic is light. It can take care of such business to advantage because of its low operating costs."

"As an example, this locomotive can do a switching job on one spur and then cut across country over a highway to do a job on another spur, saving time and expense in making circuitous runs from one spur to another.

"Another possibility offered by this locomotive is in the less than carload freight business which the truck lines have taken from the railroads. A locomotive of this type can run over the streets of a city, pick up semi-trailers—also equipped to travel over road or rail—haul them to the railroad where they could be assembled into trains."

Uses Rubber Tired Wheels.

The locomotive gets its tractive effort from rubber tired wheels. Flanged steel wheels, which are held to the track under pressure, are used merely to keep the locomotive on the tracks. Evans said that the rubber tires give four to six times the adhesion that steel against steel gives.

He said a 125 horse power locomotive is capable of hauling 16 semi-trailers at a high rate of speed. In switching service it can move 17 standard loaded freight cars at 3 miles an hour or two loaded freight cars at 30 miles an hour. A 200 horse power locomotive that is now being built can move 22 loaded freight cars at 4 miles an hour, 4 cars at 20 miles an hour, and 2 cars at 42 miles an hour.

BUILDING LAST MONTH IS 37% BELOW YEAR AGO

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Building and engineering contracts awarded in February in the 37 states east of the rockies amounted to $119,038,000, a decline of 37 per cent from February, 1937, the F. W. Dodge corporation reported today.

The decline which began in the later months of 1937 continued from January into February, which, the corporation pointed out, "is the customary course of a recession like the present one."

Residential building, however, made the first break in the series of monthly declines in this classification which began last June. In February, residential construction undertaken in the 37 states was 10 per cent ahead of January, amounting to $40,023,000 against $36,207,000.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES; ESTIMATE IS HIGHEST SINCE WEEK OF JAN. 17

Operations in the steel industry are scheduled at 32.1 per cent of capacity this week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. This is a gain of 2.2 points, or 7.4 per cent, from last week's figure of 29.9 per cent.

With the exception of the week of Jan. 17, this week's production rate is the highest reached by the steel industry since the week of last Nov. 16.

This week's gain reflects a moderate improvement in demand which is seasonal with the approach of spring, the institute said. It added that buying by miscellaneous users of a large variety of steel products is better now than it has been in nearly four months.

Large inquiries for structural steel already out or expected to come into the hands of the steel companies within a short time are of prime interest, Dow-Jones & Co. reported.

INVENTORY RISE TO 21 BILLION IN 1937 IS REPORTED

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Inventories in manufacturing, wholesale and retail channels totaled about $21,700,000,000 at the end of 1937, it was estimated by Dun's Review today in a survey of business trends covering the last three years.

This compared with $18,839,000,000 at the end of 1936 and $16,600,000,000 at the end of 1935. The review said the manufacturing industries, which account for about 60 per cent of the total, not only recorded the largest dollar increases but the greatest per cent increases of inventory in each year.

Based on records covering more than 10 per cent of the dollar volume of American business, the survey indicated the country's manufacturing sales of $45,800,000,000 in 1935 increased 20 per cent to $55,100,000,000 in 1936 and 13 per cent to $62,400,000,000 in 1937.

Total retail volume was placed at $41,400,000,000 for 1937 against $38,300,000,000 in 1936 and $33,200,000,000 in 1935.

BUYING OF EGGS BY GOVERNMENT BOOSTS PRICES

Egg futures prices moved slightly higher yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange on news from New York that the government had begun its egg buying program announced two weeks ago. Agents of the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation in New York purchased 4,590 dozen "firsts" at 17¾ cents a dozen and 4,500 dozen firsts at 18 cents. No purchases were made in the Chicago market. Last year the government bought more than 6,800,000 dozens of eggs in order to stabilize prices.

March storage packed firsts advanced ⅛ cent a dozen to close at 19¼ cents on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Aprils also were up ⅛ cent to clase at 19½.

Butter futures were unchanged to ⅛ cent higher in dull trading. In New York, the government bought 23,000 pounds of butter, but no purchases were made in Chicago.

Consolidated Edison Pact with Union Is Invalidated

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld an order of the National Labor Relations board invalidating the agreement between the Consolidated Edison company and its affiliates and the International Brotherhood Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The court also ordered the enforcement of the board's recent decision requiring the company to reinstate six discharged employés who were members of a C. I. O. affiliate.

GRAINS SLUMP AS FEAR OF WAR IN EUROPE FADES

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .85¾	$ .88⅝	$1.36½
Corn	.57⅞	.59½	1.09¾
Oats	.29⅝	.30½	.47⅝
Rye	.66¼	.69⅝	1.06¾
Soy beans	.97¼	.98½	1.55

General liquidation by holders of grain futures developed yesterday in North American markets as the result of less warlike news from Europe, sunsettled foreign exchange, and improvement in the character of the reports regarding the outlook for the winter wheat crop in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Wheat prices declined 1⅞ to 3⅝ cents a bushel in leading markets. The September future sold at a new low for the season and the May delivery on the Chicago Board of Trade came within ⅝ cent of the low point of last November. Corn, which has been showing stubborn resistance to the decline in wheat recently, broke 1 to 1⅜ cents a bushel to the lowest level for that grain since early last December.

Chicago Trades at Bottom.

At no time yesterday did Chicago markets show a tendency to rally and closing trades were at the low point. In Liverpool wheat futures declined 3½ to 3¾ cents a bushel, with all deliveries at new lows for the season.

Because of wide fluctuations in foreign exchange rates importing countries withdrew from the market as buyers of grain, and no sales of consequence were reported. There was some apprehension on the part of brokers that the decline in the French franc might weaken the British pound sterling and result in the United States losing what little grain business it has been able to obtain recently. This was said to be especially true in regard to corn.

Stop Loss Orders Uncovered.

Numerous stop loss orders were uncovered in all grains yesterday, as practically all holdings of wheat futures showed a loss. The best support on the way down came from shorts who had sold at higher prices.

Eastern Kansas and parts of Nebraska received a fair amount of moisture over the week-end, and the forecast indicated additional precipitation. The trade paid little attention to reports of dust storms in parts of Oklahoma, the Texas panhandle and western Kansas.

Lard futures closed 10 to 15 cents per 100 pounds lower, with declines in the price of hogs and grains more than offsetting strength in cottonseed oil.

WITNESSES FIGHT CUT IN TARIFS AT TREATY HEARING

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—Administration tarif experts, beginning hearings today on a proposed reciprocal trade agreement with Great Britain, heard legislators from western wool growing states and eastern industrial areas oppose tarif reductions.

"We of the west unite with the woolen manufacturers in asking for a continuance of the trade barriers behind which our industry has grown," declared Representative Pierce [D., Ore.].

Other congressional witnesses, with a few exceptions, criticized the treaty program. Meanwhile Secretary of State Hull defended his trade agreements in a letter to fifteen Republican congressmen from New England turning down their suggestion for a delay in the trade program.

Lockout and Strike Close 2 New Jersey Steel Plants

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—A lockout and a strike today closed the two New Jersey plants of the Crucible Steel Company of America. The lockout occurred in Jersey City, where 500 men were laid off following failure of the company and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, steel and tin workers [C. I. O.] to agree on a contract. The strike, in Harrison, was a sitdown which lasted several hours. Some seventy-five employés sat down shortly after noon and 750 went home.

EVERYDAY ECONOMICS AND TRIBUNE CHARTS OFFERED IN BOOKLETS

In response to numerous requests from readers THE TRIBUNE today presents two booklets intended as guides to a fuller understanding of the background of business and financial news. Both are being placed on sale today at the Chicago Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street.

"Everyday Economics," an 82 page volume containing simple explanations of many of the technicalities that enter into news of business and economic developments, is the outgrowth of the daily feature of the same name which has appeared in the financial section of THE TRIBUNE since early last year. Prepared by Howard Wood, financial editor of THE TRIBUNE, the booklet contains chapters on the securities markets, types of securities, corporation finance, the commodity markets, money, inflation, gold, the federal reserve system, and the functions of trust companies.

"The 1938 Chart Book," a 128 page book, contains reprints of selected charts prepared under the direction of R. D. Cahn, which appeared in the financial section of THE TRIBUNE between March 1, 1937, and Feb. 15, 1938. It includes material on a wide variety of subjects and is completely indexed.

The "Chart Book" sells for 40 cents per copy, or 50 cents by postpaid mail; "Everyday Economics" for 25 cents, or 30 cents by mail.

BUY 5 MILLION POUNDS OF SKIM MILK FOR RELIEF

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation announced today the award of two contracts for the purchase of 5,000,000 pounds of surplus dry skim milk for relief distribution.

The successful bidders were the Dry Milk Committee corporation, Chicago, for 4,820,000 pounds and the Challenge Cream and Butter association, Los Angeles, 180,000 pounds. Prevailing market prices will be paid.

The FSCC said about 55,000,000 pounds of fluid skim milk produced in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Idaho, California, Washington, Oregon, and Pennsylvania would be required to fill the order.

MEXICO ORDERS OIL WAGE BOOST ENFORCED TODAY

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, March 14.—(AP)—The Mexican labor department today notified foreign oil companies it would enforce tomorrow an arbitral award raising wages and giving other benefits to 18,000 workers.

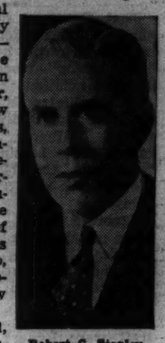
Although the companies lost an appeal to the Supreme court two weeks ago, they have refused to comply with the award, which they estimate would increase expenses $12,000,000 a year.

"It's a finish fight and we are not going to yield a step," one high official of the $400,000,000 industry said tonight.

INT. NICKEL SETS NEW RECORD IN 1937 EARNINGS

Use of Metal Shows Sharp Increase.

The company which produces 85 per cent of the world's nickel output—International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd.—earned more than 50 million dollars last year, setting a new peak for profits, Robert C. Stanley, president, reported yesterday. The executive offices of the company, most of whose properties are in Ontario, Canada, are located in New York City.



Robert C. Stanley.

Sales of nickel, the report discloses, increased 23 per cent over 1936 to a new high, reflecting growing use of nickel and its alloys.

Earns $3.31 Per Common Share.

The 1937 net profit amounted to $50,229,624, equal after preferred dividend requirements, to $3.31 a common share, an increase of 36 per cent over 1936 net of $36,865,526, or $2.40 a share. Total sales of nickel reached 207,700,943 pounds last year, against 168,927,980 pounds in the preceding year. The price of nickel remained unchanged except for a downward adjustment in the sterling price at the beginning of the year, the report said.

"The increase in world nickel consumption in 1937 over that for 1936," Stanley told stockholders, "was shared by all of the different industrial fields into which nickel enters." Stanley attributed the greater use of nickel to growing production of stainless steel and alloy cast steel, and to the "general growth of the use of nickel steel and alloy steels in all industries."

Auto Industry Uses Most.

He pointed out that the automobile industry, which now takes 28 per cent of the country's nickel output, continues to be the largest group consumer of nickel alloy steels.

Stainless steel, which contains nickel, showed an estimated increase in output of 50 per cent in the United States during 1937, Stanley reported. He said the combination of high

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 14.—With the Austrian drama losing some of its freshness and a number of domestic trade and business developments tracing a slightly upward line on index charts, the stock market continued higher today, led by "armament" shares. Gains reached 1 and 2 points.

Volume of sales, however, again was limited, the total for the day reaching only 427,950 shares, compared with 769,950 last Friday.

Although an increase in foreign buying of American shares was held partly responsible in some quarters for better inquiry, the fact that steel production showed more life than recently and the more optimistic reports from the motor car industry, were seized upon by traders as a basis for commitments.

In this connection, it was said that sentiment in Wall street is veering slightly toward the "bull side," presumably on the supposition that business is so bad it could scarcely grow worse.

That European developments emphasized rearmament was reflected in trading by the better demand for "war babies"—steels, metals, chemical and aviation shares.

United States Steel common was the leader in its division, adding 1½ points. Other "regular" steels gained up to 1 point, and in the independents Crucible and National spurted 1¼ and 2½ points respectively.

Ignoring a cut in the price of brass, metal shares scored good gains. American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Anaconda, International Nickel, and Kennecott worked 1 to 1½ points higher.

Douglas, Boeing, and United Aircraft were leaders in the aviation group, rising 1 to 1⅝. Others moved fractionally.

Except for Allied Chemical, which closed unchanged, chemicals worked a point or so higher.

Railroad shares were slightly higher in reduced activity. Small fractional advances prevailed in the power and light shares. In the communications issues American Telephone added 1⅜ points.

Chrysler and General Motors were leaders in the automobile section. Chrysler, up two points at one time, closed 1¼ points higher. General Motors improved fractionally.

Farm equipment and mail order shares were higher, with Allis Chalmers, Deere, International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, and Montgomery Ward adding substantial fractions.

Fractional changes ruled in the oils and rubbers. United States Rubber gained 1⅛ points.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks were irregular yesterday on the Chicago exchange, with a turnover of only 14,000 shares, against 20,000 on Friday.

Lively interest, however, centered on Bergholf Brewing company common, which climbed 1⅞ points to close at 8 on trading of 1,650 shares. The demand for the stock resulted from announcement yesterday in Detroit that the Michigan liquor commission had agreed not to effect a proposed embargo on Indiana beer which was scheduled to go into force yesterday. The Bergholf brewery is in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Of the 64 issues traded yesterday, 15 advanced, 19 declined, and 30 were unchanged. The Tribune average of 20 stocks closed at 9.24, up 0.16 for the day.

DU PONT OUTLAY ON PLANTS IN '38 TO BE 33 MILLION

Repairs to Boost Total to $35,000,000.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—Plans for expenditure of about $35,000,000 by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., in 1938, of which $33,200,000 will be for additions to present plants or for new units and $1,800,000 will be for maintenance and repairs, were announced by Lammot du Pont, president, at the annual meeting of stockholders held in Wilmington, Del., today. This compares with similar expenditures of $50,000,000 in 1937.

Du Pont said the volume of sales in January and February ran "about the same," and showed slight improvement over December. He would not estimate whether first quarter operations would show a profit. He said the March business is looking up, but qualified this by saying March activity normally runs about 8 per cent ahead of January and February.

Expect Drop in Sales.

A question as to the probable amount of six months' sales was referred by du Pont to Vice President A. B. Echols, who estimated they would be 25 per cent less than for the same 1937 period.

With reference to inventories, du Pont said, the management was watching this problem all the time and, that while inventories at present were large, this was due to declining business volume.

There are about 50,000 employés at this time, against 52,000 at the year end, and 57,000 a year ago, he said.

Ammonia Division Gaining.

Asked what caused improvement in the rating of the ammonia department as shown in annual report, du Pont replied that it was due primarily to the fact it was a new department, not more than ten or twelve years old, and that the departments it passed were old industries. He said the volume of business in the newer divisions of the company held up better generally in the current recession than business of the older divisions.

He said the pigments, rayon, cellophane, and textile divisions are going ahead.

A stockholder referred to the recently issued 6 per cent preferred stock, urged its retirement, and asked whether the management was considering such a move. He was told the directors decided not to retire it. However, du Pont cautioned this was not a commitment for the future.

Chicago Curb Writes "Close"

The last mark on the blackboard of the Chicago Curb exchange was made yesterday at 2 p. m., when the exchange's ten year existence came to an end. Dissolution was voted by its members last month, because of declining membership and trading volume, and losses on operations.

CLOSING GONG IS KNELL OF CHICAGO CURB

Will Dissolve Due to Continued Loss.

The seven floor traders on the Chicago Curb exchange closed their curb books with finality yesterday at 2 p. m. as the closing gong rang for the last time. The exchange's 77 members decided by vote last month to dissolve their market because of the substantial operating losses it has incurred in the last four years as a result of declining membership and trading volume.

Yesterday's volume totaled only 2,570 shares, as traders practically marked time waiting for the end. Trading for the last week has been on a cash basis. The inactivity yesterday was far removed from the peak day of trading on Sept. 23, 1929, when traders were almost swamped with transactions of 175,800 shares.

Market Started in July, 1928.

The curb exchange, incorporated in 1927, began business in July, 1928. In 1929, its peak year, members traded 6,645,635 shares of stock. Last year the volume was 560,584 shares. The price of a membership, which went as high as $19,500 when the exchange was riding the crest, declined to $350 for the last reported sale.

During the last four years the exchange, reflecting the drop in trading volume, has piled up operating losses totaling about $50,000. Rather than face further losses, members on Feb. 3 voted to apply to the Securities and Exchange commission for cancelation of their license as a national security exchange.

SEC Authorizes Dissolution.

The SEC granted the application to dissolve, and dissolution will begin immediately under the administration of Gilbert M. Clayton, secretary. It is understood that eventually members are expected to realize between $700 and $800 from their memberships when liquidation is completed.

Thomas E. Murchison, who has served four terms as president of the curb, is a partner of Paul H. Davis & Co.

STREAMLINED STEAM TRAIN PUT IN SERVICE

Having passed its preliminary tests with a perfect record, the Chicago and North Western railway's new giant streamlined steam locomotive—the 4001—went into regular service yesterday on the Forty-Niner, streamlined San Francisco train. Fred W. Sargent, president of the road, was present at 9:30 a. m. when the new locomotive pulled out of the North Western station bound for a 487 mile run to Omaha. From Council Bluffs Ia., the Forty-Niner travels over the Union Pacific tracks.

The locomotive—first of nine of the same type—is capable of 120 miles an hour, but on the run to Omaha was not to exceed the maximum of 73 miles an hour permitted by the train control.

$14,000,000 Loan from RFC Sought by Southern Pacific

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—The Southern Pacific railroad asked the interstate commerce commission today to approve a $14,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. It said $5,000,000 of the total would be used to repair damage caused by the California flood and that the remaining $9,000,000 was needed for cash requirements to Aug. 1, 1939.

Chemistry and the Automobile.

Persons familiar with the automobile industry agree that the chemist has made possible production of better automobiles at cheaper prices. His work also has reduced the cost of operating automobiles and has made motoring safer.

The chemist's work is seen in paints and lackers on automobiles. Quick drying paints and lackers, the result of chemical research, have made possible mass production of automobiles by cutting the time required for finishing a car from weeks to hours. Coated fabrics, used as a substitute for lether in upholstery, were developed by the chemist.

Every veteran motorist knows how much longer tires last now than they did 20 years ago. The improvement has resulted from research by the chemist. Development of the "cracking" process has about doubled the amount of gasoline that can be obtained from a given amount of crude oil.

Safety of motoring has been increased by placing safety glass in windows and windshields of automobiles. The chemist developed safety glass, made by putting a sheet of transparent cellulose plastic between two pieces of plate glass.

NAT. TEA TO FILL CHIEF OFFICES FROM OWN STAF

Important positions in the National Tea company organization in the future will be filled almost entirely from the company's own personnel, John McKinlay, new chairman of the board and former president of Marshall Feld & Co., announced yesterday in a personal letter to each employé.

"I have not been able so far to meet very many of you—which I greatly regret," McKinlay said. "But there is something I wish to say to each one of you, and that is:

"My ambition is that every important position in the National Tea company shall be filled from the ranks and that we will not go outside the company for the purpose of filling important positions. It is possible that there may have to be exceptions made, but they will be very few and will have to be personally approved by me."

American Car and Foundry Plant, Union Reach Pact

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 14.—(AP)—The steel workers organizing committee [C. I. O.] announced today it reached an agreement on collective bargaining with the American Car and Foundry company for the plant at Berwick, Pa. A 3 cents an hour increase for all employés was granted, the announcement said, with the union recognized as sole bargaining agent. The union said negotiations for contracts at the company's Huntington, W. Va., and St. Louis plants had been delayed pending action at Berwick.

Calvert Distillers Pushes Fight Against Price Cutting

The Calvert Distillers corporation disclosed yesterday that it is pressing a fight against price cutting following court action in which the company won an injunction against the Harper Liquor Supply company, 1466 East 55th street. Federal Judge John P. Barnes, in a preliminary injunction granted March 10, restrained the Harper firm from selling or advertising Calvert's products at less than prices stipulated by Calvert in accordance with the Illinois fair trade practice act.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Buyers made some progress in the markets for hogs and lambs yesterday in their attempt to bring about a better balance between the live costs of animals and the meat prices in wholesale channels. The spread for several days has been so narrow that packers' losses on freshly slaughtered stock have been running the heaviest of the year.

Hogs declined 10 to 25 cents per 100 pounds. Most lambs sold off 15 to 25 cents in an extremely draggy session. Cattle receipts at 14,000 were largest in two weeks, but demand was fairly brisk and prices maintained a fully steady to strong basis.

strength and corrosion resistance found in stainless steels had brought them an expanding application in the strictly engineering industries, particularly the chemical field.

Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, maker of heavy industrial machinery and farm equipment, yesterday reported that its 1937 net profit set an all time high of $7,841,167. The annual statement issued by Otto H. Falk, chairman, and Max W. Babb, president, said the profit was equal to $4.42 a common share, compared with 1936 net of $4,014,112, or $2.27 a share.

"Although orders booked in 1937 amounted to $94,778,846," the report said, "there was a marked decline in volume in the latter portion of the year, compared with the preceding months. Orders booked in the last quarter were $15,769,510, as against $17,148,179 a year earlier."

Phillips Petroleum Earns More.

Net profit of the Phillips Petroleum company and subsidiaries for 1937 was $24,113,874, or $5.42 a common share. This compared with 1936 net profit of $17,875,489, or $4.22 a share.

The annual report of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company showed that orders received in 1937 totaled $229,540,061, an increase of 25 per cent over 1936 and second only to the record of $240,220,550 in 1929. Unfilled orders at the end of the year amounted to $60,298,087, compared with $48,490,919 Dec. 31, 1936.

Net income of Westinghouse, as previously reported, was $20,126,408, compared with $15,099,291 in 1936, an increase of 33 per cent. The tax bill last year was $5.26 per share of capital stock against $3.35 in 1936 and $1.85 in 1935.

General American Transportation corporation, world's largest builder of railway freight cars, reported net income for 1937 of $4,542,655 or $4.44 a share of capital stock, compared with net of $2,966,415 or $2.91 a share in 1936.

Predicts Lighter Year.

"While it is too early in the year to make any sound predictions as to 1938," Lester N. Selig, president, told stockholders, "present conditions are such that a lighter year for the building of freight cars is in prospect. It can be said, however, that the company will operate on a satisfactory profit basis during the first quarter of 1938, and the board believes the corporation will continue to operate on a profit basis throughout the year."

January net losses were shown by both the Western Union Telegraph company and Postal Telegraph Land Lines system. Western Union had a net loss for the month of $709,666 against net income in January, 1937, of $338,371. Net loss of Postal Telegraph in January amounted to $410,181, compared with $230,348 in the like 1937 month.

ROOSEVELT GETS BILL ON CONTROL OF ADVERTISING

Senate Votes Broad Federal Powers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 14—Legislative action on a bill giving the federal trade commission broad powers over the advertising of foods, drugs, cosmetics and therapeutic devices was completed today when the senate approved a conference agreement on the measure and sent it to the White House.

Passage of the bill, which was sponsored by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], apparently sounded the death knell of the Copeland-Tugwell food and drug bill, which passed the senate in a drastically modified form in both the 74th and 75th congresses but was shelved in the house. The Copeland-Tugwell bill would have given the food and drug administration, in the department of agriculture, control over both the advertising and the labeling of foods, drugs, cosmetics and therapeutic devices.

Relates to False Advertising.

The Wheeler bill relates only to so-called false advertising, which is defined as "advertising, other than labeling, which is misleading in a material respect." The federal trade commission is empowered under existing law to prevent "unfair methods of competition" and "unfair trade practices." This power is extended to embrace "unfair or deceptive acts or practices in commerce."

The bill empowers the trade commission to hold hearings, upon complaint, and issue "cease and desist" orders when it finds that any person, corporation or partnership is engaging in unfair or deceptive trade practices. After such orders become final, either by judicial approval or failure to appeal to the courts, a civil penalty of $5,000 is imposed for each violation. Procedure by injunction also is provided.

Fine and Sentence Provided.

One provision of the bill makes it unlawful to disseminate or cause to be disseminated any false advertisement, and if the violation is committed with intent to defraud, or the commodity advertised is injurious to health, the offender is subject to a fine of not more than $5,000 and a prison sentence of not more than a year.

No publisher, radio broadcaster or advertising agency may be held liable under the latter section unless he refuses on request of the commission to furnish the name and address of the advertiser.

Senator Royal S. Copeland [D., N. Y.], sponsor of the ill-fated food and drug bill, was the only senator who objected to the Wheeler measure. Copeland charged the new bill provides no protection for consumers.

"New Business" for Banks

COMMERCIAL BANKS whose services are especially adapted to the everyday requirements of merchants and manufacturers will find that The New York Times advertising columns can render valuable assistance in developing "new business."

The Times reaches a larger number of the key men in business and industry than any other newspaper. These men read The Times regularly for its news of business, finance and government. They have confidence in The Times and depend upon it.

Because of this, banks advertise in The Times more than in any other newspaper to build good-will and better business.

WORLD IS FEELING U. S. RECESSION, AYRES DECLARES

Expects Drop to Affect International Politics.

America's business decline appears to have caused a downturn of industry and trade in the rest of the world, Col. Leonard P. Ayres economist for the Cleveland Trust company, Cleveland, O., said yesterday in his monthly analysis of business conditions. This decline, he said, has not yet developed into depression proportions abroad.

Leonard P. Ayres.

Col. Ayres cited the movement of ocean freight rates, industrial production, stocks of goods, and volume of imports and exports in measuring the world business activity. He said that ocean freight rates fluctuated with a narrow range until the middle of 1936, then nearly doubled by last autumn and are now falling with extreme rapidity.

"Real Downturn" Abroad.

"The volume of industrial production in the rest of the world increased almost steadily until last November," he reported. "The decrease in December was sufficiently definite to make it appear to be a real downturn rather than a minor fluctuation."

Discussing the movement of world stocks of goods that are important in international trade—including coffee, cotton, rubber, silk, sugar, tea, tin, and wheat, Col. Ayres said these stocks were 50 per cent larger in 1932 than they had been just before the depression in 1929. They decreased to the middle of last year, he said, but since then have been rapidly increasing. The volume of world international trade declined to 1934, and then increased gradually almost to the end of 1936, he said.

"Then an exceptionally rapid increase began," Ayres said, "which was accompanied by the sharp advance in ocean freight rates. Since the summer of last year international trade has been declining. The movement of these indexes in 1938 will have large importance in world economy, and probably also in world politics."

Notes "Financial Anemia."

Commenting on the American situation, Col. Ayres said that this country now is suffering from financial anemia which he described as a deficiency in the flow of new capital.

"The capitalistic system requires a continuous flow of new capital," he said. "One consists of the internal savings of business. These are funds companies earn and plow back into their own operations in the form of replacements, additions, and betterments. A second source is new capital raised by the sale of securities. This capital comes from the external savings of others."

"The capital flow into industry in the first instance is blocked by heavy federal taxes on undistributed earnings, and in the second by rigorous new restrictions on the sale of new securities."

Predicts Rate War if Long Haul Clause Is Repealed

Washington, D. C., March 14.—(AP)—A senate sub-committee heard C. E. Childe of Omaha, Neb., declare today that the proposed repeal of the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act would mean "disastrous freight rate wars." The clause forbids a railroad to charge a lower rate for a long haul than for a short haul over the same route in the same direction.

PEANUT FUTURES TRADING TO BEGIN TODAY IN N. Y.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—The inauguration tomorrow of a futures market in shelled peanuts on the New York Produce exchange calls attention to the growing importance of this southern farm crop, which is worth an estimated $50,000,000 a year. The new trading will allow the processing trade a hedging market.

The peanut futures market will be confined to domestic peanuts. The contract is 30,000 pounds unshelled, or one carload. The base grade is United States standard No. 1 shelled white Spanish peanuts, the small round bean to familiar in the penny slot machine. Other grades are tenderable at price differentials. One is the United States extra large Virginia nut, which is the prime variety for salting.
